GEORGE GODDARD,

GENERAL COMMISSION MERCHANT
 Next door to Mr. Cogswell's, Council House Street, returns thanks for the liberal patronage he has received since the opening of his new store, and begs to state that in addition to his useful assortment of articles now on hand for sale, he is appointed Agent for the sale of Wm. Foster's Wove Socks, Stockings, Undershirts, Overshirts, Drawers, Comforts, &c.
 This important branch of Home Manufacture deserves the special encouragement of every well-wisher of this community, and as the quality is much superior to those brought from the States, and the prices so moderate, that every person will find it advantageous, on the score of economy, to wear Foster's home-made clothing, and if every adult throughout the whole Territory of Utah would resolve on wearing at least one of the above garments, it would give such an impetus to our home trade as would astonish the most sanguine in our midst.—We have often heard that many may help one, when one can't help himself; and if this simple principle was put into practice by this people towards every laudable enterprise of home industry, the result would be not only astonishing, but highly beneficial to the whole community.

To afford every facility for the sale of the above, G. G. will take Wool or Yarn in exchange, and also for Boots, Shoes, Bonnets, Caps, or any other goods in his store, he will take Wheat, Flour, Butter, Eggs, &c., in payment.
