

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

THE foundation of the present volume was laid by the late Theophilus R. Marvin, in a little book of 56 pages, entitled "Genealogical Sketch of the Descendants of Reinold and Matthew Marvin," printed in 1845 and 1848. Genealogical research had then attracted but few students, and his work was undertaken solely "with the hope of tracing the direct line of his ancestry to the first emigrant to this country," in which he was successful. To this he added particulars of a few collateral lines, which he had obtained in his search. He printed a more systematic arrangement of the material gathered concerning the earlier generations in the New England Genealogical and Historical Register, Volume XVI, pp. 235 et seq. In 1889 his son, Wm. T. R. Marvin, one of the compilers of the present volume, was asked by Prof. and Mrs. Edward E. Salisbury, of New Haven — the latter a descendant of Reinold — to prepare a Monograph of the family history from the papers and correspondence left by his father. This they privately printed in 1892, in the third volume of "Family Histories and Genealogies," with four Pedigree Charts which, with those of other families, trace the ancestral lines of Mrs. Salisbury. In that, however, the Matthew line was only incidentally mentioned, though given more fully in the Pedigrees.

Many years previous to the appearance of those sumptuous volumes Mr. George F. Marvin, associate compiler of the present work, had become interested in the genealogy of the family, through a study of the "Sketch" mentioned above, a copy of which had been presented to him by the late Hon. James M. Marvin, of Saratoga, N. Y., and thus for several years, the compilers, each without the knowledge of the other, were working on similar lines, until a few years ago a letter of inquiry from one of these to the other disclosed the fact.

The happy discovery by the late Mr. William S. Appleton, well known as an ardent genealogist, of a reference to "Reinold Marvin" in a will preserved in Somerset House, London, led to the publication, in 1900, of "The English Ancestry of Reinold and Matthew Marvin," and the time seemed to have come for printing what we had found concerning their descendants. The results of our joint labors are here assembled.

It is but justice to his associate for the writer to say that Mr. George F. Marvin has not only supplied necessary funds, but has been indefatigable in his efforts to give a completeness to the book which it would not otherwise have possessed, and in conducting the larger part of the correspondence — especially in his own direct line, that of Matthew. Failure to obtain desired information in one direction seems to have inspired him with a more determined purpose to secure it from some other source, and generally with success. Without his aid this volume could not have been printed.

We gratefully acknowledge the cordial assistance of the late Judge Richard P. Marvin, of Jamestown, N. Y., and of his son, Mr. Richard P. Marvin, of Akron, Ohio; of Messrs. William H. Marvin, of Westport, Homer Rockwell, of Norwalk, and Hon. Edwin E. Marvin, of Hartford, Ct.; the late Gen. Selden E. Marvin, of Albany, Miss Mary Aletta Marvin, of Walton, Mrs. Mary A. Hubbard, of Chittenango, Mrs. Harriet Pinckney Huse, of "The Rocks," Highland Falls, and Dr. David M. Marvin, of New York city, N. Y.; Mr. Sylvester S. Marvin, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Thomas Dickson, of Scranton, Pa.; the late Mrs. Julia C. Smalley, of Swanton, and Miss Vienna Jane Marvin, of East Berkshire, Vt.; Dr. John J. Marvin, of Pleasant Ridge, and Mr. William Marvin, of Findlay, Ohio; Mr. Albert E. Beckwith, of Elkhorn, and Mrs. Rosa B. Marvin, of Oregon, Wis. Our indebtedness to many others is frequently shown in the following pages. We desire also to mention our high appreciation of the aid rendered by Mr. James S. Rogers, of Boston, and Hon. Nathaniel W. Howell, of Washingtonville, N. Y., who though not sharing our blood have given invaluable help. There are no more pleasant memories associated with our work than those of the autumn days of 1903, when the writer visited with them the homes and burial-places of many of our kindred in the eastern counties of New York, and studied their records. Only two instances of a refusal to furnish desired information are recalled.

In addition to numberless letters of inquiry and a careful search of original authorities by experienced assistants, many personal visits have been made to various towns in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York; and thanks are due for courtesies received. In Lyme, Hon. William Marvin, Judge of Probate, rendered sympathetic aid; in Norwalk, where the ancient records, long neglected, have been beautifully copied and finely indexed, we were given every facility; in Fairfield we were shown the original wills of Matthew and his widow, Alice Bouton Marvin, that of her son John Bouton, and the inventories of their estates; in Hartford, Mr. C. W. Manwaring showed us the original will of Reinold, long supposed to be lost, and his inventory; Mr. Frank Farnsworth Starr, of Middletown, Ct., was of great service in settling the puzzling question as to the name of the husband of Reinold's daughter Mary, which has long baffled genealogists. In spite of all our efforts, there remain a number of lines which we have found it impossible to trace. We have sometimes been obliged to decide which of two or more conflicting statements concerning members of the same family should be accepted, and in a very few cases to offer conjectural dates, which have been noted, we think, in every instance.

No doubt errors will be found, which have escaped us, but, unless otherwise stated, our data are based on family or official records which are given as furnished us, even to the various modes of spelling; wills and inventories have been literally copied, and for the earlier records of military service we have usually cited our authority. Some additional data, received too late for insertion in proper order, will be found on the pages immediately preceding the Index.

It was found impossible without greatly enlarging the book to carry down the lines of descent from daughters beyond the second or third generation, and this has prevented any reference to many distinguished names. In an address at the Norwich (Ct.) Jubilee (printed on page 198 et seq. of the volume giving an account of that celebration), the late Chancellor Reuben H. Walworth, of New York, himself of the Matthew line, has a long catalogue of the prominent men descended from the daughters of Matthew Marvin. One of the Pedigree Charts alluded to above contains some of these, and it will not be out of place to mention here that from Mary<sup>a</sup> Marvin came Samuel<sup>b</sup> Huntington, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, Governor and Chief Justice of Connecticut; his nephew Samuel<sup>c</sup> Huntington, Governor and Chief Justice of Ohio; Enoch H. Rosekrans, of the Supreme Court of New York; Samuel Lee Selden,

Judge of the Court of Appeals of New York; Hon. Lyman Trumbull, U. S. Senator from Illinois; Rt. Rev. Thos. F. Vail, Bishop of Kansas; Rev. Eleazar Wheelock, and his son, Col. John Wheelock, Presidents of Dartmouth College, and Rev. John T. Kirkland, President of Harvard. From Sarah, another daughter of Matthew, came Hon. Chauncy<sup>6</sup> Goodrich, Chief Justice of Minnesota under its Territorial organization, Prof. Chauncey A. Goodrich, of Yale, and Samuel G.<sup>7</sup> Goodrich ("Peter Parley"). Rev. James<sup>4</sup> Lockwood, a grandson of Rachel,<sup>2</sup> refused an election to the presidency of Yale and of Princeton; from Rachel was also descended the distinguished jurist Chancellor James Kent.

Equally conspicuous names are also found in the female lines from Reinold. Morrison M. Waite, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was from his grand-daughter Mary<sup>3</sup>; Stephen and Homer E. Royce, both Chief Justices, and the first a Governor of Vermont; Capt. Charles E.<sup>9</sup> Clark, commander of the Oregon on her famous voyage, and others, are mentioned on subsequent pages. The list might be greatly extended, but we must refer the reader to the works cited above. Others less conspicuous before the public, but perhaps not less useful in their lives, — clergymen, and teachers, soldiers and citizens, have done faithful service in upbuilding the nation and discharging their duties "in the various stations to which it pleased God to call them." Surely then, the children of Reinold and Matthew Marvin, as they read the record, may cherish the memory of their fathers.

W. T. R. MARVIN.

DESCENDANTS OF REINOLD AND MATTHEW MARVIN

ENGLISH ANCESTRY

THE name Marvin is found in several counties of England as early as the beginning of the fifteenth century. Of various families bearing this name who are mentioned in the Visitations of Wilts, Somerset, Hampshire, and others, perhaps the most prominent in the fifteenth century was that of Sir John Marvin, of Fonthill Abbey, Wiltshire, who was the grandson of a Richard Marvyn, who died in the seventeenth year of Henry VI. This family had branches in the neighboring southern counties, notably at Pertwood, not far from the Dorset boundary; in Wormister, Somerset, and in other parishes in that vicinity. The fine estate of Fonthill Abbey, in the parish of Hindon, held by Marvins for more than two centuries, long since passed out of the name; the Pertwood branch is believed to be extinct in the male line of descent; Sir Henry Marvyn Vavasour, Baronet, of Spaldington, was its representative in 1868. No connection between the Marvins of Wiltshire and those of Essex, where our ancestors were living two centuries before the emigration to New England, has been found.

Some notes on the Wiltshire Marvins and their armorial bearings, are given in the Marvin Monograph, in "Family Histories and Genealogies ; " * but to these arms the descendants of Reinold and Mathew have no claim. Our ancestors were "yeomen," all in our direct and collateral lines so far as we have traced them, owning the lands they occupied or inherited ; many derived income from the tenants who held under them, as will be seen later ; but none of them appear to have used any armorial device, that we have been able to discover, although several intermarried with "armorial families."†

In the Visitations of Essex‡ there is a single allusion to the name, where Lancelot Marvin is mentioned as having married Elizabeth Vavasor ; she had a brother who lived at Waltham Abbey, Essex ; her father was of "Akaster, Yorkshire." We have not attempted to trace this Lancelot, but there were other Marvin families in Essex,—one branch residing at Lexden, about twenty miles west of Ramsey, contemporaneously with our own ancestral line,—to which we have found references, though whether related to them or not, we do not know.

The first of the name who came with the intention of making his home in New England was Matthew, who arrived in 1635, probably landing at Boston in June of that year. There had been at least one Marvin in America before him, for a "Master Maruyn" was one of Sir Walter Raleigh's colony in 1585, and remained "one whole yeere in Virginia, vnder the Government of Master Ralph Lane."* From what part of England he came has not been learned, but he certainly was not of our direct ancestral line, and his party seems to have returned to England 18 June, 1586.

Briefly they are, on a black shield three lions one above another, each half silver and half gold ; crest, a squirrel cracking a nut. A blazon in heraldic terms is needless, and because of a prevailing misapprehension that "arms belong to a name," it should be stated emphatically that the assumption or use of these, by American Marvins, would imply a claim which has no foundation whatever.

† For an explanation of the meaning of "yeoman" at the period under notice, see an admirable article in "The Ancestor," for April, 1902, pp. 58 et seq., and especially the note on p. 63 ; for the armorial privileges of yeomen of landed estates, see pp. 82 et seq., of the same article. Sir George R. Sitwell, Bart., the author, married a daughter of the Earl of Londesborough, and his own arms are certified by Fox Davies, in his "Armorial Families," a well known authority ; it is evident therefore that in assuming his position, which is quite different from that generally held in England, he has no personal cause to plead.

In the printed Records of Massachusetts (II: 215) we find that a Thomas "Marvill" was brought before the General Court 11 Nov., 1647. The entry is as follows:—

Thomas Marvill his case consid<sup>r</sup>ed about seling a gunn ignorantly to y<sup>e</sup> Indians: & being credibly informed y<sup>t</sup> himselfe discove<sup>r</sup>ed his offence to a ma<sup>strate</sup>, & bought anoth<sup>r</sup> peece from y<sup>e</sup> same Indians, &c., his fine is remitted.

This was probably the Thomas Marvin named in the records of the town of Newbury, Mass., under date of 27 April, 1648, as a similar confusion in the spelling of the family name is not uncommon on the old records and tombstones. Apparently he had no children. He died in Newbury, 28 Nov., 1651. He may have been the elder brother Thomas of Reinold and Matthew, but of this we have found no evidence.

In 1649 there was a Robert Marvin in Southampton, Long Island: Reinold the emigrant had a brother Robert, and also a nephew of the same name, as will appear below; it is possible that the Long Island Robert was his nephew, but this has not been established, and no effort has been made to trace his descendants in the present volume.†

Matthew Marvin was followed to New England about two years later by his elder brother Reinold, or Reginold, as his name is often given on the early records. The precise time of his arrival, and the name of the vessel in which he came, have not been ascertained: his estate was charged with the "Ship Money Tax" in Essex, in 1637, in which year he was living in Great Bentley, but he was a resident of Hartford, Ct., in 1638, whither Matthew had preceded him, the latter being "one of the twelve very earliest emigrants" whose names are known, and one of those who "formed the company thereafter known as 'Adventurers,' to whom belonged the section of about thirty-five acres known as 'Venturers' Field,' on the Hartford records." Matthew therefore was in Hartford as early as November, 1635.

† For all that is known concerning Thomas of Newbury, see Coffin's "History of Newbury," p. 49, and "The English Ancestry of Reinold and Matthew Marvin," p. 146: for notes on the descendants of Robert, see Appendix to the latter volume, p. 168, and works there cited. There are Marvins in Portsmouth, N. H., and in Boston and Cambridge, Mass., who have no connection with the brothers who settled at Hartford, Ct. In the latter part of the last century a family of our name from the south of England settled in one of the Western States. Within a few years a Russian family, "Marvinsky," who settled in New Jersey, have dropped the last syllable, thus taking our name. With these exceptions, the American Marvins, so far as known, are believed to be descendants of Reinold, Matthew, or Robert.

A volume entitled "The English Ancestry of Reinold and Matthew Marvin, their Homes and Parish Churches,"* gives a very full account of the family in the mother country, with numerous wills, etc. (to some of which we shall refer); it contains the results of a careful search made among the records at Somerset House, London, and those at Ipswich, Suffolk, and an examination of Registers of various parishes in that vicinity, of sufficient antiquity to promise any light on the subject. It would be inexpedient to reprint these documents at length in the present volume, but we are permitted to use what is needed to show the direct line of descent of the New England emigrants, which is established beyond question by those researches: to these will be added some further facts, and in particular one or two corrections in the family record of Edward Marvin, the father of Reinold and Matthew, obtained since that volume appeared.

The English home of our ancestors, for more than a century and a half before the emigration, was in the north-easterly part of the county of Essex. A hundred years before that, or early in the fifteenth century, we find several Marvin families living in and near Ipswich, Suffolk (only about ten miles north of the home of the grandfather of Reinold the emigrant and his brothers), and in some of the parishes between that ancient town and the Essex border. We have the will of Roger Marvyn, of Ipswich, who must have been born as early as 1435; of a Robert, also of Ipswich, born in 1432 or earlier, and of several of their descendants who resided nearer the Essex line—in the parishes of Washbrook, Chattisham, Hintlesham (where there is still standing a Marvin gravestone of very ancient date), Belstead, and Copdocke, all in Suffolk, and but a few miles from Ramsey, Essex, which borders on the river Stour, which separates the two counties; in Copdocke one William Marven was Church-warden of St. Peter's, in November, 1547, and families bearing our name are living there at the present time. The connection between the Suffolk families and those of Essex, although they were near neighbors, has not been clearly established, and while there are reasons for supposing they were more or less closely related, the history of the family to be given in this work may well begin at a point where there is no uncertainty.

Leaving Harwich, a port on the North Sea at the mouth of the Stour, in the north-easterly corner of Essex,—where we find a Thomas Marvin with his family living contemporaneously with the grandfather of Reinold and Matthew, but of whom we know only what may be learned from his will and that of his widow,—and travelling westward, one passes to the north of the older parish of Dovercourt, with its venerable and interesting church, dedicated to All Saints (near which some of the Marvins owned property), and arrives at Ramsey. This is a village in Tendring Hundred, sixty-eight miles north of London, and three miles west of Harwich. It borders on the Stour, which at its junction with the Orwell makes the harbor of Harwich.

The eastern part of Ramsey was anciently known as Michaelstowe: here stands the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, built in the days of the Normans, probably about 1100, with its massive square tower of "Purbeck stone," the lower portion overgrown with ivy, and the whole building venerable with years. The chancel is long, and the chancel windows are of unusual form, with square headings. In this Church "Rynalde Marvyn," the grandfather of the emigrants, in his will made 22

Dec., 1554, of which the date of probate has not been found, after bequeathing his "Soule to Almyghte God my maker," directed his body "to be buried," but the stone which marked his grave is no longer to be seen. His original will, on parchment, from which his signature (Per me Rynald Mervyn) is here reproduced, is preserved in Somerset House, London, and is printed in full in "English Ancestry."

It will interest some of our readers to know that in the summer of 1902, Mr. John R. Marvin (son of one of the compilers), a descendant of "Rynalde" in the tenth generation, visited this Church, and by the kind invitation of its Vicar, the Rev. W. Hurst, vested, read the Lessons in the Evening Service, and presented the Offertory at the altar where his ancestors had worshiped more than three and a half centuries ago.

Among the estates mentioned by Rynalde in his will was one in the northern part of Ramsey, called "The Ray,"—a peninsula formed by a small stream flowing north-easterly into the Stour, and crossed, not far south of its junction with that river, by "Ramsey Bridge," once a long structure of timber, now replaced by one of stone with a single arch, "in the great road from Harwich, and kept up at the charge of the county." We find several legacies in Marvin wills of the sixteenth century, for its repair.

After crossing Ramsey Bridge, near which several families of Marvins owned estates from 1540 onward, and probably long before that date, and proceeding a few rods northward, we come to a road which turns off to the westward, passing Ramsey Hall on the left, held at the time we are considering or a little later, by John Herde. One branch of this continues south-westerly through parts of Wix and Great Oakley, to the south; the other branch turns directly north for a short distance, crossing the main road and continuing to Wrabness station. Not far away is Roydon Hall, once the home of the Lucases, a family which interests us from the fact that the acknowledgment of

THE ENGLISH HOMES.

The heavy line from Herwick ends at the southwest "corner" which was the house of Edward Marston. "Spittle" adjoined it on the west; and the Kenney and Great Beately, in particular "Sturwood" and "Low Mall" are near Herwick: these, in a way, are the head lands of the Tower.

John Lucas, made in his will in 1599, that he owed "To Reynold Marvine of Ramsey in the Countie of Essex, yoman, Tenne poundes," supplied the long-sought clue to the English home.*

The main road, after crossing Ramsey Bridge, is called "Ramsey Street"; it runs north-westerly and then west, passing through Wrabness near the northern boundary of Wix, which adjoins Wrabness on the south and south-west. At the corner made by the road to Wrabness station already mentioned, on the left, and a little more than two miles from Ramsey bridge, stood the house of the father of Reinold and Matthew, Edward Marvin, who had inherited it from his father Rynalde (or Reinold), the first of that name known to us. "Sturwood," mentioned in several wills as Marvin property, is on the north-east corner, and the estate of Rynalde was diagonally opposite, on the south-west. "Spinel's," mentioned in Edward's will, is the next estate west. For four generations certainly, this corner was held by direct descent in the Marvin family; Rynalde<sup>1</sup> left it to his son Edward,<sup>2</sup> who bequeathed it to Edward,<sup>3</sup> Jr., who in his will, made 1 March, 1622-3, gave it to his children. We are able to identify it with absolute certainty by the will last mentioned, which describes its boundaries; † it is a little over five miles east of Manningtree Junction, and six and a half miles west of Harwich.

Rynalde owned other estates in this vicinity, and we know from the wills that about 1540, and earlier, several families, — three brothers, Rynalde, just mentioned, John and Thomas, and their sister, Christian, with their children — were living there. The relationship of these is shown by the wills of Rynalde and Thomas. The name of their father, who must have been born about 1480 or earlier, we have been unable to discover. There was a John of suitable age, a descendant of the Ipswich families named above, of whom some particulars are given in "English Ancestry," but "Reinold" occurs so frequently in various connected families at that period, and has been so constantly a family name until the present day, that some may prefer to believe it was that of the father of our earliest known ancestor. As to this we know nothing more.

* This Reynold was not our ancestor, though it would seem a near relative of the family.

† Printed at length in "English Ancestry," pp. 141-5. The parish boundaries of Ramsey, Wrabness and Wix, come together near this corner, which is shown on the English Ordnance maps, and on Gall & Inglis's "Half-inch Maps for Cyclists," No. 28. The Bridgefoot Farm, once owned by a John Marvin, is also shown on the Ordnance Map, near St. Michael's, east of Ramsey Bridge, and like "Spinel's" and "Sturwood," still retains its name.

A "Robert Marven of Ramsey," whose wife was "Isbell —," in his will, dated 10 Dec., 1556, which was witnessed by "thomas Herde," the husband of Christian Marvin, and proved .19 January following, mentions a sister Ann, who married Robert Borfiete. He leaves legacies to several grandchildren, and bequeathes xxs. each to his two "godsons," Reinold and John Marvin.* He also makes bequests to individuals named by Rynalde, in his will, but neither Robert nor Isbell name any sons. His widow died between 2 Jan., 1560, the date of her will, and 6 June following, when it was probated; this last will supplies the name of one of Robert's daughters, "Sissely" (Cicely), who married John Blossse or Blois,† — a name often found in Ipswich, Suffolk, and its vicinity, at that period.

It is evident from these two wills that Robert had other daughters beside Sissely, and there were certainly five, and possibly nine grandchildren living in 1556,‡ of whom one at least, was of age. Clearly therefore he must have been born as early as 1490, and probably earlier. Whether Wrabness or Ramsey was his native parish can not now be ascertained; the Parish Registers of the latter, previous to 1645, are lost, and those of Wrabness are later; he was taxed ten shillings on his "movables" in Ramsey, in 1540, and owned "howses and landes" there, both free and copyhold, and an estate of farm lands in "Much Oakley," called "Puttytes," when he died. He styles himself "of Ramsey" in his will, bequeathes his "Soule to almightie God and to the Celestiall company of yeven," and directs his "bodye to be beriede in the church of Ramsey."

* As suggested in "English Ancestry," these may have been two of the brothers named above, or they may have been the sons of John, the brother of Rynalde.

† The arms of the Suffolk Bloises are given in the Visitations of that county.

‡ See "English Ancestry," pp. 43 et seq., for further particulars.

This, as we have seen, was St. Michael's, a favorite saint in the Middle Ages, from the fact that William the Conqueror reached England on the "eve of St. Michael's Mass."*

Nothing has been found of this Robert, save what may be learned from his will; the names of his godsons, and the legacies already mentioned, seem to indicate a close relationship with Rynalde, but we are unable to define it. We note however that Robert's will was made two years later than Rynalde's; it makes no allusion to Thomas or Christian; neither does Rynalde or Thomas mention Robert or Ann. Yet as Robert left a number of grandchildren, while of Rynalde's six children none of his sons were of age in 1554, we judge that the latter was considerably the younger. It is possible that Robert was a younger brother of Rynalde's father.

The relative ages of the three brothers named above, and of their sister, can only be inferred from their wills.† From these we judge that Thomas' was the youngest; of the other two, John' certainly survived Rynalde,' and was living in 1561, when Thomas made his will, which mentions "Raynold Marveyne lat of Ramsey deceased." Thomas' left but one child, while John,' who seems to have survived him, had four or more, and Rynalde who died before him, had six.

John' Marvin was, with little doubt, the "John of Ramsey," taxed there in 1540, on "his movables, 12s: 6d." That he married and had issue is also evident from the wills of his brothers, but these do not give their names. His own will has not been found, but a comparison of those which we have, enables us to assign to John,' with strong probability, the following children:

- i. Elizabeth,<sup>a</sup> b. about 1532; living in 1571; m. John Hayle of Ramsey, and had issue.
- ii. John, b. about 1534?, or earlier; d. early in 1571 (will dated "xxx<sup>d</sup> January . . . 1570"), leaving issue.

* That is, 28 September; see "Anglo-Saxon Chronicle," cited in the "Calendar of the Prayer Book," Oxford and London, 1866.

† The wills (printed verbatim), from which these deductions are drawn, as to the children and the years of birth, are given in "English Ancestry." This applies to all the English families.

- iii. Roger, b. about 1537 ?; d. —, leaving issue, John,<sup>3</sup> Margaret, and possibly a Reynold.
- iv. Margaret, b. —; living in 1571; m. — “Clercke, of Holbrecke,” Suffolk, and had a son John.<sup>3</sup>
- v. Reynold ?, b. —; perhaps the “godson” of Robert, and possibly the Reynold mentioned by Lucas.

Thomas<sup>1</sup> was born perhaps about 1519 or later, as his name is not found among those taxed in Ramsey in 1540. He married Mrs. Barbara Brett, who had three children by a previous husband; they are named by Thomas in his will, dated 14 Oct., 1561, in which he calls himself of Ramsey; he mentions lands, both free and copyhold, in that parish; estates in Little Oakley called “Brandons” and “Claypittes,” and property in Suffolk county, not named. This, with various Suffolk marriages of Essex Marvins, suggests a connection between the Suffolk and Essex branches.* He had but one son, evidently very young when his father died, as the will provided that he should be sent to “scoole and learnynge by all the space of x yeaes.” In case of the death of this child the lands and houses were to be sold, and the proceeds equally divided among “the Chyldren as well of my brother John Merven, and of Raynold Merveyn lat of Ramsey deceased, and also Amonge the Chyldren of thomas Herde my brother . . . by Christian Marven.”

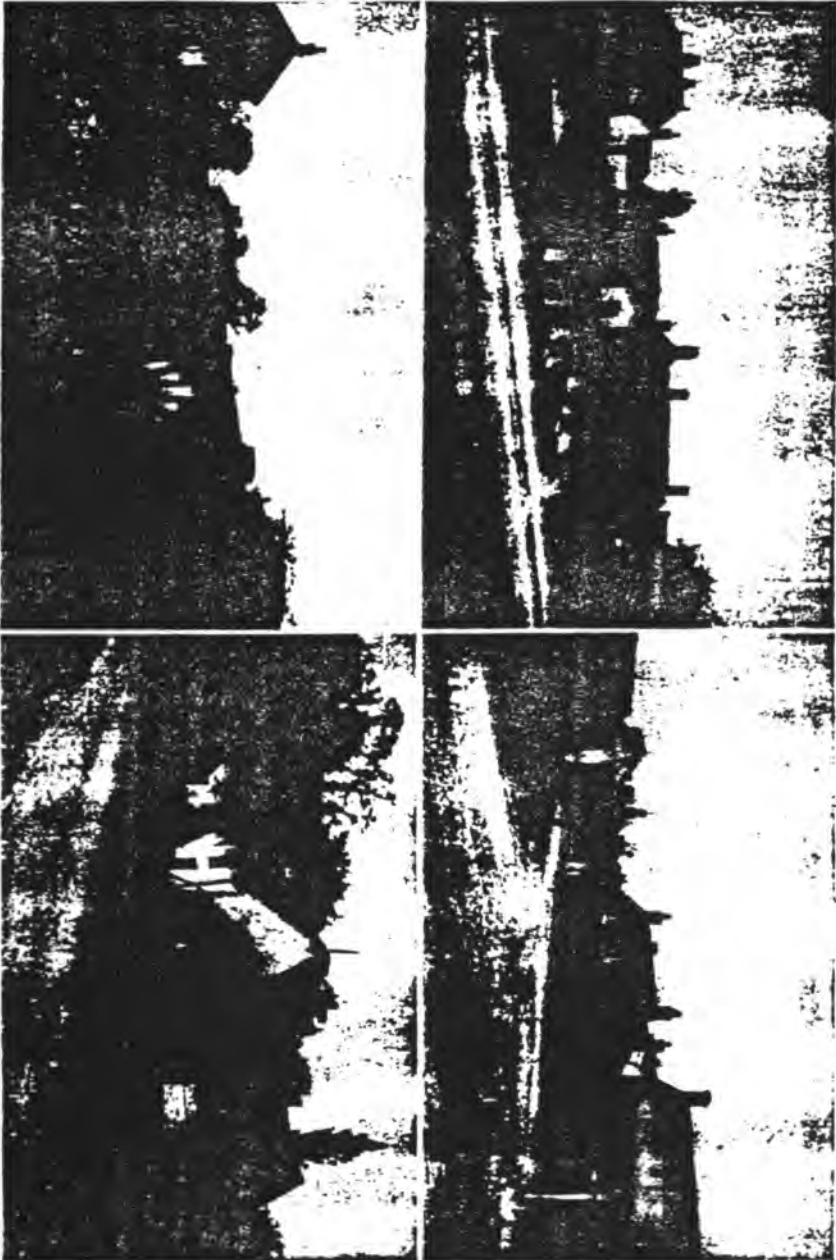

Child:

- i. Matthew,<sup>2</sup> b. about 1555 ?.

Christian,<sup>1</sup> sister of the preceding, was born about 1521. The will of her brother Thomas,<sup>1</sup> made in 1561, shows that she had recently died, as it refers to the “chyldren y<sup>e</sup> which” her husband “latly had by his lat wyf Christian Marven,” but of these the will gives nothing more. She married Thomas Herde, who seems to have belonged to a family of some prominence,— Ramsey Hall (about a mile west from Ramsey Bridge), was owned by one John Herde in 1599. Thomas Herde was the executor of the will of Thomas<sup>1</sup> Marvin, and was living in 1571. He also witnessed that of Robert Marvin of Ramsey, and is ver-

 The Corners are just west of Ramsey Bridge, which is seen from the south-west; the stream it arches runs north-west through the Pridgeton farm. haps the "ffreynd Thomas Hurre" made "supervysor" by Robert.*

The other, and we judge the eldest brother, was "Raynold Marven of Ramsey" as he is called by the writer of his will, or "Rynalde Mervyn" as he signed it. From him we trace our lineage. He must have been born about 1514, or earlier, for he had six children living 22 Dec., 1554, the date of his will.† The date of his death does not appear, but it was before 14 Oct., 1561. He married Johan —, who survived him, and whom he appointed executrix. He left "xxvjs: viij*d*." for Ramsey Bridge "to be payd when y' y<sup>s</sup> a making or a mending," and gave direction that he should be interred in St. Michael's.

Rynalde<sup>1</sup> owned various estates in Ramsey, which he named in dividing them among his children. One of these, with its tenement and lands, was "Benettes:" another was "Genettes," which, with its lands, he had bought of John Dave. On "the Ray" he had lands which he styles "my ferme of East Haull [shown on the maps cited above], and the Ray, and Barwycke," where he pastured sheep, for he gave the "yewes" there to his widow. In Wrabness he owned a "tenement with landes thereto be longyng, both free and copye," no doubt the corner property already located. These estates he left to his widow "for term of her lyfe," after which they were to be divided among his three sons. The Wrabness property went to Edward,<sup>2</sup> who left it to his son Edward,<sup>3</sup> and he to his children, as stated.‡

Rynalde calls himself a "yeoman," and with the rentals from his tenants, and the products of his various farms, was evidently in very comfortable circumstances. In the "Exchequer Lay Subsidy" of 1540, he was taxed "xx shillings."

Children:

- i. Richard,<sup>4</sup> b. —; he inherited "Benettes," but we know nothing further.

* These facts, with his bequests (p. 16 supra), seem to corroborate the theory that Robert was a relative of Rynalde, Christian and their brothers.

† This "Raynold" cannot have been the one named by Lucas, whose will was made forty years later (1599), nor can the latter be our New England ancestor, who was then a child of five years of age. As stated above, Reynold the creditor, was very likely a son of Rynalde's brother John.

‡ For further particulars, see "English Ancestry," pp. 142, 143.

- ii. Edward, b. about 1552, or earlier. He was the father of the emigrants, and took the Wrabness property.
- iii. John, b. —; supposed to be the John who m. (1), Ann —, who d. in Little Oakley, and was buried there 11 Sept., 1584, by whom he had a dau., Ann; m. (2), Margaret (? Gyllyat), who survived him. He owned several estates in and about Little Oakley, where he d. in March, 1584/5; his will is dated 5 March, and his burial recorded on the Register of St. Mary's, in that parish, three days later. He appoints John Wade executor, and makes him guardian of his daughter. Evidently he is not the John Marvin who married Margaret Swallow, to be mentioned below (p. 21). His father left him Genettes, in Ramsey.
- iv. Audre,* b. —; she is given £10 by her father; the same amount was bequeathed to her two sisters, to be paid when they were twenty years old.
- v. Margere, b. —.
- vi. Barbara, b. —; m. John Wade of Ramsey and Little Oakley, by whom she had issue. As a John Wade was the executor of John Marvin, in 1585, and guardian of his daughter, there can be little doubt he was his brother-in-law. Barbara and her brother John<sup>2</sup> (iii) appear to have lived in Little Oakley, perhaps on lands which John<sup>1</sup> Marvin bequeathed to Rynalde's children, in case of the death of Matthew<sup>2</sup> without heirs.

The children are arranged in the order in which they are named in their father's will; the dates of birth are unknown.

The Register of St. Mary's, Great Bentley, has the baptism, 13 Feb., 1605/6, of "Edward Marvin, son of William Marvin and Margaret his wife." This William was certainly not the son of Rynalde<sup>1</sup> or Thomas<sup>1</sup>; he may have been a son of John<sup>1</sup> above, or more probably of one of Rynalde's sons, but we are unable to place him.

* This name is the East Anglian corruption of Etheldreda, a celebrated Saint in that part of England, whose feast-day was 17 October. See "Calendar of the Prayer Book," as cited, pp. 114, 115. Whether the custom of naming children for the Saints on whose feasts their birth-days occurred was followed in her case or her sisters', we cannot tell. The names of the sons were evidently "family names."

As a full account of other Marvin families in Ramsey has been printed in "English Ancestry," it seems needless to give particulars of them here; we shall mention only one:—

John<sup>2</sup> Marvin of Ramsey, was probably a nephew of Rynalde' (the son of his brother John<sup>1</sup>), and born about ? 1534; he died in 1571; in his will he calls himself a cousin of "Barbara," whom we take to be the daughter of Rynalde.* He lived in comfortable style near the "Bridge-foot," in a house† of which a glimpse of the rooms and furniture is given in his will. He had two sons, John<sup>3</sup> and Robert, and owned lands in Ramsey and Great Oakley.

One of these sons, John<sup>3</sup>, married (1) a daughter of Hierom Gilbert, or Guilberd, a brother of the famous William Gilbert, "the Newton of his time," who was a "docter of physick and phissition to Queen Elizabeth and James I." The Gilberts were a prominent and wealthy family of Colchester, Essex, where William was buried in Trinity Church; the tomb bears the Gilbert arms. This marriage of John Marvin interests us chiefly as showing something of his social standing, for his wife's descent from the Wingfields, Talmaches, and Lady Anne Montague, daughter of the Earl of Salisbury, can be readily traced in the Suffolk Visitations. He is believed to be the John Marvin whose marriage, 30 Aug., 1585, to Margaret Swallow, is recorded at St. Mary's, Great Bentley; if so, she was his second wife; the date of her burial is given on St. Mary's Register as 1 Dec., 1600; if our assignment is correct, she probably survived her husband, whose will, made when he was "sicke in bodye" was dated 12 July, 1594.‡

* "Cousin," as used in this will, probably had the present meaning; the reasons for this conclusion are given at length in "English Ancestry," pp. 91-2.

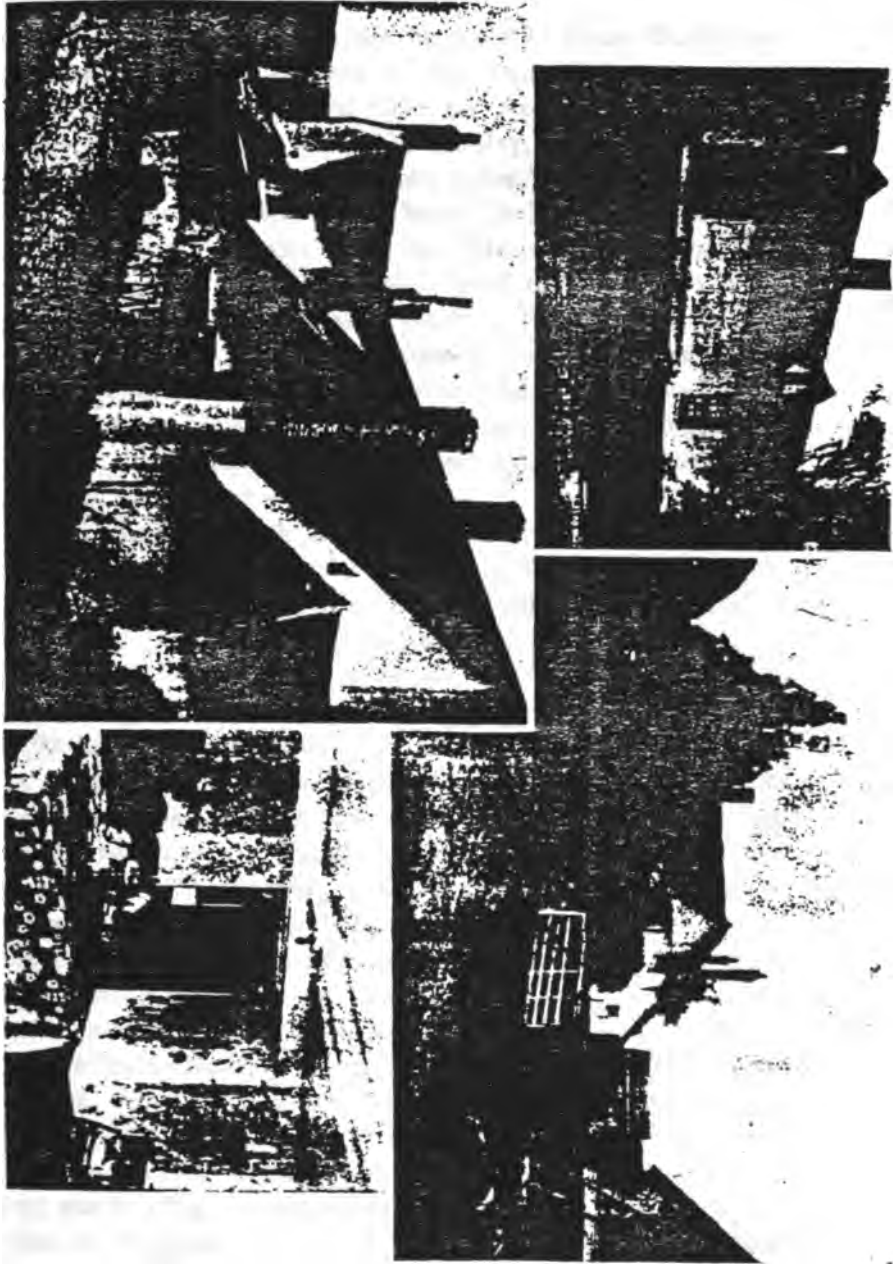

† The "Bridge-foot Farm" was just east of Ramsey Bridge; a house still standing a short distance north of the bridge, on Ramsey Street, of great age, was perhaps his residence, as it is still called "The Bridge-foot Farm;" the cut is from a photograph taken by Mr. John Reginold Marvin, of Brookline.

‡ We are greatly indebted to the Rev. Frank Willcox, Vicar of St. Mary's in 1902, for valuable extracts from his Parish Register, and information concerning families there. He very kindly showed the ancient Church in which he ministers, and its Registers from which he has since furnished us copies, to Mr. John R. Marvin, in the summer of 1902. For notes on the Gilberts see "English Ancestry," pp. 129 et seq.

Edward,<sup>2</sup> son of Rynalde<sup>1</sup> and Johan Marvin, was born in Ramsey or Wrabness, and from a comparison of dates, about 1550, or a little earlier. As has been shown above, his father had six children living in 1554, of whose relative ages we know nothing. His birth-place is thought to have been the corner estate, which by his father's will he was to inherit on his mother's death, and which he bequeathed to his son Edward.<sup>3</sup> He also owned several farms in Ramsey and its vicinity, some of which he disposed of to his sons before his death, confirming the arrangement in his will. "Moye House and land of Moys," which can be located on the maps cited, near the boundary of Ramsey and Great Oakley, and not far from the marshy shore line of Tendring Hundred, he gave to his son Richard. Other "landes, medowes, woodes and pasters" in the same neighborhood, he gave to Reinold. Another son, Robert, took his lands in Frating, a parish west of the Bentleys; to Matthew, the youngest son, was bequeathed "the mentchon howse called Edons, alles [alias] Dreybrocks . . . that I now dwelle in."

This mansion is in Great Bentley, still standing in good repair and bearing its ancient name, though showing evidence of various changes inside and out, since Edward died. The large room on the main floor, with its carved beams in the ceiling, and the stair-case to the chambers above, are thought to date from the period when Edward lived there; by the kindness of the present occupants we are able to give views of the building in its present condition. With this property Matthew further received "ij Croftes of land called Hartles and Brocken Heddes," for which he was to pay to his mother every year during her life, on the Feast of the Annunciation, and on St. Michael's Day (25 March and 29 September), at the mansion, "the full sume of Sexe Powndes of good and Lawfull money of England."

Edward<sup>2</sup> died 13 or 14 Nov., 1615; his will is dated on the 13th, and the Register has this entry two days later: "Edward Meruin was buried the xvth November." The will was proved 17 January following. He married Margaret —, who survived him. St. Mary's Register, under date of 28 May, 1633, has: "Margaret Meruin widow of Edward Meruin dec<sup>d</sup> buried."

.. EDONS, ALIAS DREYBROCKS.. GREAT BENTLEY.

He was probably married before he went to Great Bentley, as the births of his elder children are not recorded there.

Whether Edward removed from his previous home because of the troubles in St. Michael's, Ramsey, whose Vicar, John White, according to a Presbyterian writer,* was "a scandalous liver," and not long before had been "indicted for a common barrater," we cannot tell; if all the charges made against him were true, there would have been good reason for a change, but no doubt allowance must be made for the troublous state of affairs and the ecclesiastical contests at that time. White died shortly before October, 1592; the following June two of Edward's children were christened at Great Bentley. These are the first of the name recorded there; the Register begins in 1558, but some years are missing.

Great Bentley parish is in Tendring Hundred, Essex, ten miles south-west of Ramsey. In early times it was largely owned by the De Veres, and Great Bentley Green, a park or common of forty-two acres, was once attached to the manor of that family. Near this Green stands the Church of St. Mary, in which the New England emigrants were christened. The parish has an uneven surface, diversified with hill and dale, and the village is pleasantly situated around the Green, which from early times was a favorite place for "Fairs,"—a prominent feature in the traditional customs of so many of the rural towns of England. Sheep-raising was one of the chief occupations of the people of this part of the county, and there was an annual sheep-fair in Great Bentley on the last Friday in September, and another for cattle on St. Swithun's Day (15 July); the latter continued to be held as late as 1855, and possibly later.

St. Mary's Church is a venerable structure dating from the days of the early Norman kings; its architecture, originally Norman, has been modified by repairs and restorations, so that it is now partly of the decorated gothic style. The last restoration was in 1874, and extensive repairs were made in 1902; but relics of the period when its services were conducted by clergy of the Roman Church, may still be seen. It is built of a rough stone of dark brown color, with a square tower fifty-five or sixty feet in height, of the same material mingled with flints; the top is embattled, and it contains a peal of five bells. The chancel is deep, and in general style the building is much like St. Michael's in Ramsey; the chancel arch is built of Roman bricks, of great age.* The quaint carvings of the doors and windows have been deemed worthy of careful description and detailed drawings, which may be found in Hadfield's "Churches of Essex."

St. Mary's was the scene of many religious troubles in the days of the Tudors. One of the priests who officiated there was the notorious Thomas Tye, during whose incumbency and with whose approval occurred the martyrdom of several members of the parish, described at length in "Fox's Martyrology." Robert Dernel was parish priest when Reinold and Matthew were baptized, and William Simpson must have been the clergyman who, in 1635, testified that Matthew was "conformable," when he was about to sail for New England.

The chief estates, which for centuries had belonged to the De Veres, had then passed to the Townshends, whose manor-house or "Hall" was still a splendid and stately seat. This was north of the Church, and not far away was the residence of the Clares. Within a recent period the Rev. William A. Francis was "Lord of the Manor." The Rev. Frank Willcox is (1902) the present vicar.

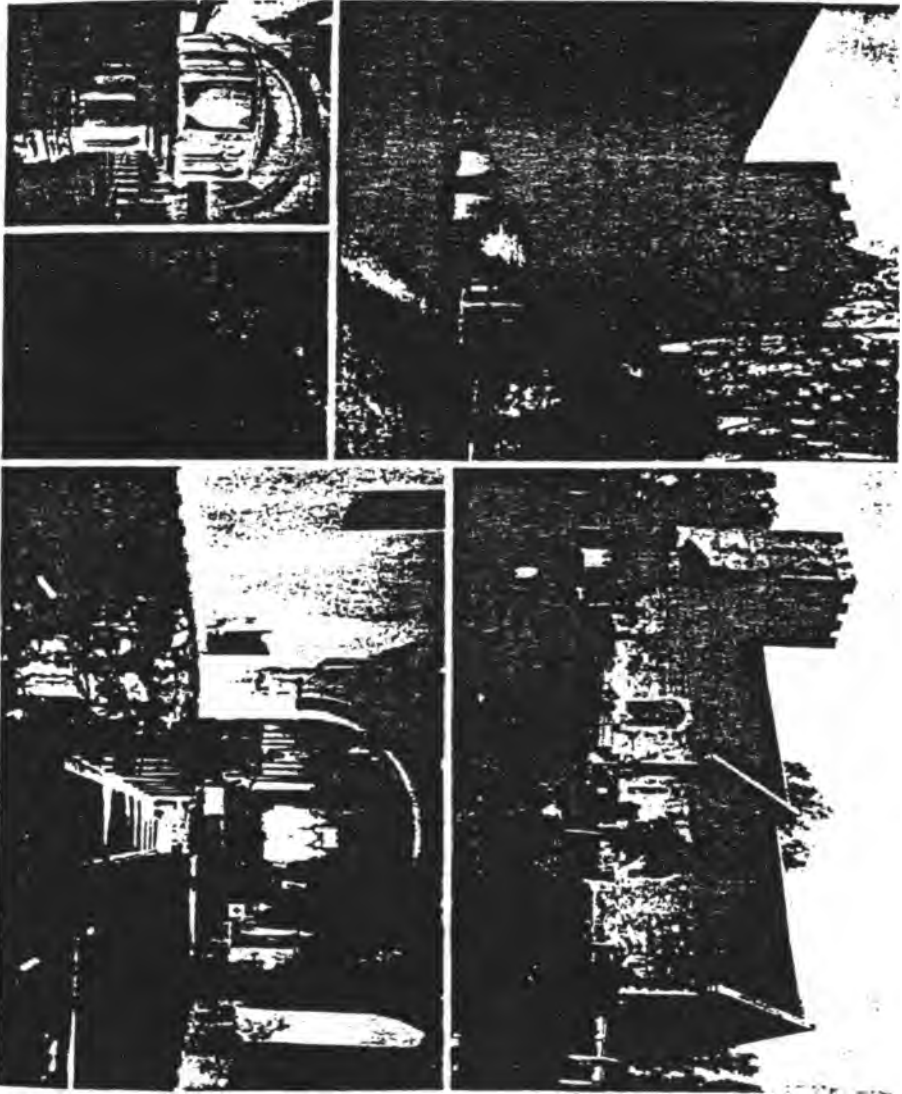

As a result of a further search of the Parish Register some entries have been found, which were overlooked by our agent in his first examination of these records; by these we are now enabled to give a more complete account of Edward's children, and of the marriage of his daughters, especially of Elizabeth, and to correct an error as to her brother Reinold's birth. The first son of that name, with his twin brother, died the day after their baptism, and a second Reinold,† born the following year, proves to be the one from whom the American descendants of that branch are derived.

ST MARY'S GREAT BENTLEY

Edward<sup>2</sup> and Margaret Marvin had eleven children; births of only four are recorded at Great Bentley; of the others the dates are conjectural, but inferred from what is known to us.

Children; those surviving at the death of their father are arranged as given in his will:

- i. Edward,<sup>3</sup> b. about 1581?; presumed from his name, and as having been first mentioned, to be the eldest son.
- ii. Thomas, b. about 1583?. By his father's will he was appointed "Superovicer;" was given a "tenement and certain Landes" in Ramsey, where he was living in 1622, when his brother Edward died, who also made him supervisor. Unless he be the Thomas of Newbury, Mass., already mentioned, who d. 28 Nov., 1651, we know no more of him.
- iii. Richard, b. about 1585?.
- iv. Robert, b. about 1587?.
- v. Margaret, b. about 1589?; as she bore her mother's name she was perhaps the eldest daughter; d. at Great Bentley, where her burial is recorded "1595/6, Jan'y 3<sup>o</sup> 28th day."
- vi. Marie, b. about 1591?. The Register of St. Mary's has the following entries, believed to refer to this daughter: "1610. John Hays and Marie Marvine were married the xixth of Aprill." "Marie Hayse, the daughter of John Hayse, was baptised the 22th of March, 1610/11." "John Hayse, a married man, was buried the fite daye of Octob: 1616." "Richard Wood and Mary Hayes, widdow, married y<sup>e</sup> 8 of Decemb: 1618." He was executor of his wife's father's will, and the record shows that in 1616, "John Baker and John Hays, ex<sup>o</sup>r of Will of Edward Marvin, the same E. M. being overseer wth John Baker, give an account," etc.* A few months before his death Hays was chosen an "overseer" of the parish with his brother-in-law, Richard Marvin.
- vii. John, and viii. Reinold, "the sons of Edw. Marvin, were bapt. the 7th day" of June, 1593, at St. Mary's; the record shows that both were buried the following day. From these entries we infer that they were twins.

* These entries show that the assignment of this marriage to Elizabeth, the sister of Marie, in "English Ancestry," was an error. The record of Marie's birth has not been found; Edward calls Hayse his "sonne-in-Lawe," in his will, showing that "Marie Marvine," the wife of "Hayse," was Edward's daughter.

- ix. Renold (as spelled on the Register), "1594. Oct. bapt. y<sup>e</sup> 25th day." The ancestor of the Reinold line in America.
- x. Elizabeth, b. about 1597? She is not recorded at St. Mary's and may have been older; we place her here only because of the long interval between the two younger sons. The Register has: "Robert Edwardes singleman was marryed to Elizabeth Maruin, singlewomā, the xxij day of May, 1618." As this date is subsequent to her father's death, who calls her Elizabeth, but names no husband, the entry is believed to refer to this daughter.
- xi. Matthew, "bapt. the 26th day" of March, 1600, in St. Mary's. He was the ancestor of the Matthew line.*

Edward,<sup>3</sup> son of Edward<sup>2</sup> and Margaret Marvin, born, we judge, about 1581, and in Ramsey, as his father had inherited the "corner" property in that parish; died probably in January or February, 1622/3; his will (from the original of which, preserved in Somerset House, we give his  signature), is dated

30 December (no year is given), and was proved at Colchester, Essex, 1 March, 1622/3. He doubtless accompanied his father to Great Bentley about 1593, and married there. The entry on St. Mary's Register reads, under "August, 1604," "Edward Marvin and Bettris Sadler married the 12th day." The Sadlers were an armorial family; their arms are given in the Essex Visitations as "Azure, a lion rampant argent; over all a saltire gules." †

Edward<sup>3</sup> soon removed to Thorington—a parish adjoining Great Bentley on the south-west—where he died, and was buried in the church-yard of St. Mary Magdalene; in his will he call himself "of Thorington." His widow was made sole executrix, and his brother Thomas supervisor. He owned "free lands" and houses in Wrabness, Wix, Great Bentley and Thor-

Children :

- i. Susan,<sup>4</sup> "baptized the xiiijtene [14] daye of July, A<sup>o</sup> pdco,"*
i. e. by the context (Great Bentley Register), 1605. From the date there can be little doubt that this is the Susan mentioned in her father's will, though her parents are not named on the record. Her father gave her the lands near Wrabness and Wix — a part of the "corner."
- ii. Edward, b. about 1607?, probably at Thorington, as he is not recorded at Great Bentley. He inherited all his father's lands and houses except the portion given to his sister.

Richard,<sup>3</sup> son of Edward<sup>2</sup> and Margaret Marvin, born about 1585, was living when his brother Edward<sup>3</sup> died, in 1622/3; the date of his death has not been found. He received a legacy in money of £5 from his father, lands in Great Bentley, some of which he sold to his brother Edward,<sup>3</sup> and a tenement with lands called "Moye House." He married, in St. Mary's, Great Bentley, "the first daie of November An<sup>o</sup>. dni 1610, Suzin Louck."† He was an "overseer" of St. Mary's with John Hayse in 1616, and with John Turner in 1624. Richard and Suzin [Susan] had four children, as appears from the will of his brother Edward, made in 1623, which does not mention their names, but says: "thos thre Cheldren which my brother Rech-erd hauef now leveng" etc.: one child had died in 1618, or before the date of Edward's will. The births of two and the death of one are given on St. Mary's Register. Possibly there were others born after he sold his lands in Great Bentley, for no further reference to him appears there; he may have removed to his lands at Moye House, Great Oakley.

Children :

- i. Richard,<sup>4</sup> "the sonne of Richard bapt. 1 day Nov., 1613."

* A contraction for praedicto, or "aforesaid."

† The Rev. Mr. Willcox informs us that the name Louck, sometimes spelled Luck, is common on the Register; it is not very distinct in the marriage entry. (See "English Ancestry," p. 147.)

- ii. John, "the sune of Richard Maruen and Susan his wiffe was baptized the xxijth of Aug. 1616." "John Maruin son to Richard and Susann his wife dyed the 27th of October 1618."
- iii. —; name and birthplace unknown; living in 1623.
- iv. —; name unknown; living in 1623.

Robert,<sup>3</sup> son of Edward<sup>2</sup> and Margaret Marvin, the fourth son named in his father's will, was born before the family went to Great Bentley — perhaps about 1587, but no record has been found. He inherited an estate in Frating, the parish adjoining the Bentleys on the north-west, which was under lease to one Richard Barnes when his father died; he may have moved there soon after his marriage and the birth of the only child recorded at St. Mary's, of which we have the following entries: "Robert Maruen and Seusan Gore singell folke ware maried the vijth of November 1616."

Child:

- i. Robert,<sup>4</sup> "Maruin sonn to Robert and Susann Maruin baptised the 14th of January" 1618/19 (the year shown by the context).

This Robert<sup>4</sup> was of suitable age to be the Robert Marvin who was at Southampton, Long Island, in May, 1649 (the settlers of which were largely from Connecticut), and who married there before 1652, Mary, daughter of William Browne of that place, and may be the same; this we have not attempted to establish.

THE REINOLD MARVIN LINE

FIRST GENERATION

ALTHOUGH Matthew Marvin had been settled in Hartford, Ct., for a year or more before his brother Reinold* left the ancestral home for the new world, we shall first trace the children of the latter, — the elder line — in the following pages. In giving the descendants of these two brothers, the generations are numbered from the emigrants and not from their earlier ancestors in England.

REINOLD,<sup>1</sup> son of Edward and Margaret Marvin, was baptized 25 Oct., 1594, in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, Essex, England. He died in Lyme, Ct., in the summer of 1662; his will is dated 23 May; the Inventory was presented 28 October of that year. He married Marie — (judging from the date of baptism of her eldest child) in 1617 or 1618, but no record has been found. St. Mary's Register is not complete. She died in Lyme, probably in the summer of 1662, not long before her husband, as is evident from his will.

Her death was attributed to "witchcraft." At a Quarter Court held at Hartford, 5 Sept., 1661, Nicholas Jennings and his wife Margaret, of Saybrook, were indicted for "having entertained familiarity with Sathan . . . and by his help done works aboute y<sup>e</sup> course of nature, to y<sup>e</sup> loss of y<sup>e</sup> liues of seuerall psons, and in p<sup>t</sup>iculer y<sup>e</sup> wife of Reynold Marvin . . . with other sorceries." The jury did not agree; a "majority found them guilty, and the rest found strong ground for suspicion."* About 1657 there had been "Susptions about Witchery" in Saybrook, and the General Court sent Mr. Samuel Wyllys thither to investigate matters.† In March, 1662/3, after Jennings' trial, the Court disallowed the account of the "Sea Brook Constables" for witnesses, and refused to "pay for their time and travaile, nor to any other upon such accounts for y<sup>e</sup> future."‡

* We shall use this spelling; Connecticut rec. have Reginold, Reignold, Reynold, Reinold, Renald, etc.

Reinold inherited from his father the "Lands, medowes, woodes and pasters, called "Moysses," near "Mose" or "Moyses" Hall,"§ but his home was in Great Bentley. The Register of St. Mary's shows that in 1625 "John Turner and Reynald Marvyn" were "Overseers." In 1627 the Church-wardens were "Renould Marvine and Fras. Willson; Mat: Marvine and Geo. Noble, Overseers." In 1633 and 1634 "Reynold Mervin and John Gore" were "Churchwardens." In 1637 "Reynold Mervin and George Serls" were "Overseers." This is the last entry of his name found on the Parish books. They also record the burial of "Margaret Moxe, seruant to Renold Mauuin (sic), maid, . . . the xiiijth day of August, 1618;" and of "William Cooke, seruant to Renold Maruin, buried" 14 March, 1624.

In a document in the Public Record Office, London,|| under "Tendringe Hundred, Bentley Magna," it appears that "Reynold Maruen" of that parish, was taxed in 1636 two shillings and sixpence as his share of the "Essex Ship Money," for fitting out a ship of 800 tons, appointed by his Majesty to be ready at Portsmouth, 1 March, 1636/7. It can hardly be doubted that this tax, which was generally resented throughout England, led him to follow his younger brother across the ocean.

The record of his departure, and the name of the ship in which he sailed, have not been found; many emigrants from northern Essex took shipping for New England from Ipswich* at this period, as it was a nearer port than London, and very likely Reinold was among them. The last mention of his name in Great Bentley was in 1637; he appears in Hartford, Ct., in 1638, where Matthew already had a home; thus we know within a few months the date of his arrival. Doubtless his wife and surviving children came with him; at least three had died in England, and only Reinold<sup>2</sup> and Mary are named in his will.

|| A manuscript volume (CCCLVIII) of 164 pages, see Calendar of State Papers, Domestic, Charles I, 1637, 177-8, containing the name of every inhabitant in every parish in Essex, who was assessed as residing there at that time. The imposition of this Ship Money tax gave a fresh impetus to the New England emigration, which, says Green in his History of the English People (III: 180), "was, as a result of this tyrannous act, largely composed of the more prosperous class, men of blood and fortune."

His home-lot in Hartford was at the north end of the "West Field," near those of Thomas Upson and Thomas Barnes. An entry in the early Hartford records shows that at a town-meeting held 28 Oct., 1640, a vote was passed by which it was Ordered y<sup>t</sup> Renall maruen hath liberty to by Thomas Vpfonse lot, & to Pofses it vpon the termes y<sup>t</sup> other men doe y<sup>t</sup> is when he sells it, he is to doe according to y<sup>e</sup> order provided in that behalfe.†

His name does not appear in a list of the landholders in Hartford, dated February, 1639/40. About this time he removed to Farmington, of which he was one of the earliest proprietors. The exact date cannot be given, for the Farmington records begin with 1646.

Pres. Porter's sketch of Farmington, in the "Memorial History of Hartford County," does not mention him as an original settler, but records him as an owner. Both the brothers owned lands there, and Reinold had "a prominent home-lot of five acres on the west side of the Main street, having that of Mr. Wyllys of Hartford on one side, and Mr. Hopkins on the other." The first settlers came there about 1639-40, and as no later reference to his name appears at Hartford, Reinold was probably among them; he certainly built a house there, and this, described as "new," with his home-lot and other lands, he sold to John Warner, who went thither from Hartford, and who had been a fellow passenger with Matthew on the "Increase." This transfer is recorded at Farmington.

Reinold next removed to Saybrook, at the mouth of the Connecticut river; this town was settled about 1640, and called the "town-side," while Lyme, on the eastern side, then had but few if any inhabitants. The Saybrook records before 1660 are missing, and there are no Church records extant of the pastorate of Mr. Fitch, the first minister; but we find that "Randall" Marvin, William Waller, and Thomas Adgate (who married Matthew' Marvin's daughter Mary) were present* at a town-meeting held 7 Jan'y, 1655/6.

He was made a freeman of Saybrook 20 May, 1658, "at a Gen<sup>l</sup> Court of Election." He was then in his 64th year. A paper dated 12 Dec., 1659, and signed by "Renald Maruen," William Waller, Francis Bushnell, Renald maruen and others, was sent to the Governor and magistrates by the signers, saying that the greater part of the Saybrook Church, with some of the town and the minister, were removing, but they intended to stay.

He is frequently named in Colonial Records of Connecticut, Vol. I, but it is often difficult to decide whether father or son is intended. Once or twice he is termed "goodman," which, says Drake, was at that time applied to the same persons who are elsewhere on the same records called "Mr."—the title of respect given to clergymen, "Assistants," and others of high position. The elder Reinold held no public office, so far as we know, but is called "Mr. Reynold Marvin."†

Lyme was made a distinct town in May, 1667; it had then but about thirty families. Its meadows and cornfields had been cultivated by armed men from Saybrook,‡ among whom no doubt were Reinold and his son, and Waller, his son-in-law. Here Reinold built a house, retaining his home-lot and considerable land at Saybrook. At his death his largest holdings were in Lyme, very considerable portions of which remain in the possession of his descendants,—of the name or the blood,—at the present time.

It is not known where Reinold and his wife were buried; perhaps the old burying-ground on the hill where the first meeting-house stood, was their resting-place; but there are two stones, now without legible inscription if they ever bore any, and evidently of great age, still standing in the Duck River burying-ground, in Lyme, near and on the east of the grave of Lieut. Reinold Marvin, which may mark the place of their interment. His will was exhibited in Court, 9 July, 1663, and ordered to be recorded, and his son "Renold Marvin was admitted to administer upon his estate."

A small supplementary Inventory was filed later. James Cornish who signed the Inventory, and witnessed the will of Matthew,<sup>1</sup> was at one time a school-master in Norwalk. "The value of Reinold's estate" says Rev. Sylvester Judd, "£820, was a large sum for that period of Colonial history." His holdings in Lyme were exceeded by only one or two, if indeed by more than one of his townsmen. "Four oxen" was then an unusual number to be owned by one person: a single ox is mentioned in some of the Rate Lists of the time. By his father's bequest and his own estates, Lieut. Reinold<sup>2</sup> became one of the most prosperous men of Lyme.

SECOND GENERATION

2 ELIZABETH,<sup>2</sup> daughter of Reinold<sup>1</sup> and Marie Marvin, baptized 29 April, 1627, in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, England; died before Jan'y, 1682/3, in Lyme, Ct.; married, probably about 1648, in Saybrook, Ct., William Waller, born in England; died in Lyme before August, 1674.* He was in Salem, Mass., in 1637, and next appears in Saybrook, where he was living in 1649 or earlier.

He is frequently mentioned on the Colonial records. He was appointed ensign of the "Seabrook Train-band" 3 Oct., 1661, and confirmed by the General Court as lieutenant, 12 Oct., 1671. In October, 1663, he was one of the commissioners to state the west bounds of New London, and to settle with the Mohegan chief, Uncas, for any of his lands taken; he was a representative in 1665, in the first Court after the union with New Haven, and afterwards; 11 Oct., 1666, he was appointed by the Court† one of the "Committee for enterteineing and approveing such as are received inhabitants on ye East side ye River at Sea-Brook." 7 March, 1671/2, the town of Lyme made an agreement, in which William Waller and Reinold Marvin "For their part Doth by these presents Ingadge and agree to and with said Town to sufficiently make and buyld a myll which shall be sufficient to Grinde the townes Corne before the last day of May wh' shall be in the yeare of Our Lord 1672 and to maintaine the said Myll in Continuall repaire for the townes use and to provide and keep an able Myller, etc."‡

Children (Waller), born in Saybrook or Lyme: §

- i. William,<sup>3</sup> b. abt. 1650; m. Mary, dau. of John and Alice (Smith) Tinker, b. 2 July, 1653, in Boston, Mass., but then of Lyme. He was propounded for a freeman May,

* The English home of the family has not been found to our knowledge, but the name appears on Ipswich, Suffolk, rec. in the sixteenth century, which town was not far from the English home of the Marvins.

‡ Lyme rec., Land Grants I: 6.

§ The order is that in Gregory Wolterton's will of 6 Aug., 1674, which names the four as "sons of William Waller decd at Lyme." Manwaring in Hartford Wills, I: 260, has:—"Mr. Samuel Collins, in behalfe of the Widow Waller, pretending to make claym to the Estate of Gregory Winterton," etc. This, with the legacies, seems to imply some relationship, but what, if any, has not been discovered.

1676; d. abt. 1681. Children: Elizabeth†; Mary:
Alice.

On petition of his widow, Oct., 1684, she was allowed to sell land of the estate, "she to take advice of Mr. Matthew Griswold and James Peck." The daus. are named in a deed of trust given by Mary, 8 Dec., 1685.

ii. John, b. abt. 1652; living 8 Dec., 1685, when "widow Mary" made him a trustee, but d. soon after, as the inventory of his estate is dated 28 Feb., 1685/6; m. 28 Dec., 1678, Mary, dau. of George and Mary Durine [Durant], of Lyme, b. 1653, and had issue. He was chosen fence-viewer of Lyme, 24 Dec., 1680. In a deed recorded 13 Jan'y, 1682/3, he calls himself "admr. of estate of my father, William Waller, and my mother Elizabeth Waller, dec'd."

iii. Samuel, b. abt. 1654; d. 9 Feb., 1741/2, in New London, Ct.; m. Mrs. Hannah Moore, dau. of Robert and Joanna (Willie) Hempstead, b. 11 April, 1652; d. 26 April, 1729; m. (pub.) 23 Sept., 1733, then "aged about 78, Widow Abigail Shipman," d. 6 Feb., 1738/9. Children (Waller)*:

1. Samuel,<sup>4</sup> b. —. 12 Nov., 1711, "Samuel Waller, Jr.'s wife died suddenly . . . well in  $\frac{1}{2}$  an hour before or less. Buried, 13 Nov., about Sunset."

2. Elizabeth, b. —; m. 1712, Jonathan Beckwith.

3. Hannah, b. —; m. 1717/18, John Keeny.

iv. Matthew, b. —; he sold land 29 March, 1703, to "Reinold Marvin." (Lyme rec.)

3 LIEUT. REINOLD,<sup>2</sup> son of Reinold<sup>1</sup> and Marie Marvin, was christened in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, England, 20 Dec., 1631; died in Lyme, Ct., 4 Aug., 1676; married about 1662, Sarah, third daughter of George, Jr.,† and Sarah (—)

* There may have been other chil.; the daus. named were by Hannah, who was the third wife (particulars of the first two not obtained), and Hempstead's Diary, from which our data are taken, says she was older than Samuel.

† There were two George Clarks in Milford, who were contemporaries; the father of Sarah Marvin was known as George Clark, "Jr." He was in Milford in 1639, having come from Much Mundon, in Hertfordshire, Eng. He died in Aug., 1690; his will, printed in full in Family Histories and Genealogies, III: 218 et seq., recorded at Hartford, mentions his Marvin grandchildren. Hannah Clark, a sister of Sarah, m. John Platt, of Norwalk, whose dau. Hannah m. Lieut. Sam'l Marvin, of the Matthew line. See Fam. Hist. etc., as cited, and N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., Oct., 1900. With the conclusions of the latter we do not agree, where they differ from Fam. Hist. etc.

Clark, baptized 18 Feb., 1643/4, in Milford, Ct.; by her age as given on her gravestone, she was born about 1642; she married (2), 12 Feb., 1677/8, Capt. Joseph Sill, the famous Indian fighter, by whom she had issue. She died in Lyme, 1 Feb., 1715/16, and her grave in the Duck River burying-ground is at the left of those of her two husbands. Its stone has the following inscription:—

Here lyeth | the body of MRS | SARAH SILL | who died Feby y<sup>e</sup> 1 | in the year of our | Lord 1715 | aged 74 years.

Next on the right is that of

CAPT | JOSEPH SILL | died August | 6, aged 60 | 1696

And still further to the right (or east) is that of her first husband, inscribed

1676 | LEVET | RENOLD | MARVIN | Aged 42

[He was really in his 45th year.] At right angles with the last are the two other graves, marked with low stones, which it has been suggested may be those of the first Reinold and his wife.

Lieut. Reinold became a freeman of Saybrook 20 May, 1658, the same day with his father. He owned much land in Lyme, beside his inheritance there, and in Saybrook. In 1687 his estate in the latter place was "Twenty acres of upland and fourteen acres of meadow," valued at £80; he also owned two "hundred-pound rights" in the "Cow Common of Say Brook," one-half of which was conveyed by his three sons, 27 May, 1700, to John Whittlesey, Jr., of Saybrook. Savage says, on what authority we do not know, that he was a deacon; his son Reinold held that office, but we doubt if the father did, for the Lyme Church was not regularly formed until 1693, although the Rev. Moses Noyes was preaching there in 1666, ten years before Lieut. Reinold died.

He represented Lyme in the General Court in the October session in 1670, and from 1672 to his death. He was on the committee appointed in 1666 to divide the town of Saybrook: the two divisions made a "loving parting," 13 February, 1666/7, and the names of Reinold Marvin and William Waller were two of the six signed to the "parting covenant" for Lyme. The first land records after the separation are attested by Matthew Griswold and Reinold Marvin, "Town Surveyors;" in 1674 they were directed "to give notes with their names to them, for the records of all lands belonging unto this town, which shall be the Recorders security."

Reinold was elected townsman February, 1672/3, and again in February, 1674/5; he was chosen, 9 Feb., 1673/4, "to review the town's accounts." 17 Dec., 1674, he was chosen "constable for y<sup>e</sup> ensuing year." (Lyme Town Meeting Book, I: 22, 28.)

2 April, 1674. "Renald Marvin's ear Marke ffor all sorts of Creatures ondy horses excepted; which is a Crope and a slite in the Crope one both ears. His Ear Mark for horses is a slite, upon the top off the near ear." (Lyme rec.)

He was appointed "Sergeant to y<sup>e</sup> Band at Sea Brook," by the General Court at Hartford, 3 Oct., 1661, when Waller was made ensign,* and succeeded him as lieutenant, which post he filled until his death. 10 May, 1677, the company being unable to agree on his successor, Matthew Griswold was appointed "to supply y<sup>e</sup> place of a Leivtenant till such choyse and approbation be made thereof by the Court." In 1678, the trouble continuing, "In order that the election of a lieutenant and ensign to be approved by the General Court . . . might be carried on in a solemn way . . . Mr. Noyes [Minister at Lyme] was desired to a sermon at the time,† which he was pleased accordingly to attend." Reinold<sup>2</sup> is usually referred to on the later records as "Lieutenant," which distinguishes him from his father, who had no military title, and from his son, known as "Lyme's Captain."‡

The Lyme and Saybrook train-bands had some exciting experiences in the years just before Lieut. Reinold died. War had been declared against the Dutch in November, 1672, and a special assembly, convened at Hartford in August, 1673, ordered that all train-bands "should be complete in their arms."§ In July, 1676, Andros attempted to seize the fort at Saybrook, erected at the mouth of the river by Capt. Lyon Gardiner in 1635; on his approach it was hurriedly manned by the train-bands of the town, under command of Capt. Bull: on the morning of 12 July, Major Andros requested an interview, on the shore, with the minister and principal officers of Saybrook. On landing, he was met by Capt. Bull and the officers of the fort, but was not permitted to read his commission.|| No doubt the train-band of Lyme, under Lieut. Marvin, was present at that critical moment, which was only three weeks before his death.

Lieut. Reinold is often mentioned in the Connecticut Colonial records.¶ In October, 1660, Reinold and Waller had a difficulty with one William ‡ Though ranking as a lieutenant, it is evident that he was the commanding officer of the "train-band" of the "East side;" for a full company, with a captain, required sixty-four soldiers: while Lyme in 1667 had, as has been stated above, only about thirty families, and a lieutenant is the highest officer we find there until much later.

§ An interesting account of the drill, armor, etc., of the train-bands will be found in "Hartford in the Olden Time."

Parker, about certain "jades" [horses] which were claimed by "the country," and Matthew Griswold was concerned in it, adversely to Reinold. The latter was ordered to surrender them, but refused to obey, considering the demand unlawful; and in 1662/3, the "Marshall was ordered to distrein the sum of £50 of his estate for neglecting the order." The Colonial claim was later proved to be unjust,* for Waller, as Reinold's agent, was "allowed one-quarter part of this £50, for his part of the horses, and Matthew Griswold was ordered not to trouble Reinold Marvin or William Waller for any part of the horses for which the bill is made." The elder Reinold was then dead.

Lieut. Reinold and his brother-in-law were among the champions of Lyme in the famous contests with New London, concerning the boundary line between the two towns.† At the County Court in Hartford, 12 March, 1671, John Prentice complained of "Reynald Marvin and others, for riotous practices and assaults on New London people." The Lyme men indicted their adversaries in similar terms, "for violence to drive them off their lands." The disputed territory, a strip about two miles wide between Bride Brook and Niantic River, contained about twenty-five acres of the "ministry farm;" it was finally included in the township of Lyme. Miss Caulkins‡ has an amusing account of the conflict, which was "more comic than fearful or sublime. The encounter terminated without any serious injury on either side; the leaders drank a draft of seeming friendship together, and all retired quietly from the field."

THIRD GENERATION

4 JOHN,<sup>3</sup> son of Lieut. Reinold<sup>2</sup> and Sarah (Clark) Marvin, born in 1664 or 1665, in Lyme, Ct.; died there 11 Dec., 1711, "aet. 47;" married 7 May, 1691, Sarah, daughter of Henry and Mary Graham (or Grihme, sometimes spelled Grihmes) of Hartford, Ct., born about 1670, as she was called 13 when her father died in 1684; she died 14 Dec., 1760, "aet. 91." His widow married (2), before 1721-2, "Mr. Richard Sears," of Lyme, probably from Hingham, Mass., whom she survived. She was interred in the Duck River burying-ground, near her first husband.

John resided in Lyme, where his estate, in the list of those taxed under Andros,* shows that as a young man he was in prosperous circumstances, being then in the upper half of the tax-payers. Much of his property was in land at "Grassy Hill," a considerable portion of which still remains in the family. The inventory mentions "parsels of land at Milford;" these very possibly came to him from his mother's estate. The expression in connection with this property "the walke their of" [in modern spelling, "the walk there, off the North road"] may mean a right of way to the land. His estate was appraised at £691: 8s: 6d. In 1693 he was chosen constable, and in 1700 and 1703, fence-viewer.

December, 1656), baptized there 19 June, 1657. His father was a merchant in Boston, after coming to New England, but removed to Saybrook, Ct., about 1664. Richard, Jr., died about 1698, and his widow married (2), 6 June, 1699, Daniel (?) Sterling. By some he is said to have survived her, and married as his second wife, 16 May, 1745, Mrs. Mary, widow of Capt. Joseph Beckwith, and daughter of Lieut. * She was a sister of the wife of Capt. Reinold<sup>2</sup> Marvin and of Mary, who m. Capt. Joseph Beckwith (see 5). Her mother was a dau. of Balthazar De Wolf, one of whose children was "bewitched to death," as was charged, by the sorceries of Nicholas Jennings and his wife, about the time of the death of the wife of the first Reinold.

† The date of Richard's baptism was furnished the compiler of "Ely Ancestry" by the late Col. Chester. The order and dates of his children are also from that volume. The Sterling dates for the children follow Lyme records, as given by Chapman in the N. E. Hist. Gen. Register. The "Ely Ancestry" does not give the second m. of Richard's widow. By his probable age we do not think it possible that the Capt. Daniel Sterling who m. Mary Beckwith, was identical with the Sterling who m. Mary Ely. "Fam. Hist. and Gen." does not give the Christian name of the Sterling who m. Mary Lee, who had eleven children by her Beckwith husband (see Beckwith Notes), one of whom, Mary, m. Capt. Matthew, son of Dea. Samuel (7) Marvin.

- ii. Mary, b. 29 Nov., 1689; m. Moses, son of Rev. Moses and Ruth (Picket) Noyes,* b. 2 Aug., 1678, in Lyme, and had issue.

6 CAPT. REINOLD,<sup>3</sup> son of Lieut. Reinold<sup>2</sup> and Sarah (Clark) Marvin, born in 1669, in Lyme, Ct.; died there 18 Oct., 1737; married (1), about 1696, Phebe, daughter of Lieut. Thomas and Mary (DeWolf) Lee, born 14 Aug., 1677,* in Lyme; died there 27 Oct., 1707; married (2), 30 June, 1709, Martha, daughter of Sergt. Thomas and Miriam (Tracy) Waterman, born 6 Dec., 1680, in Norwich, Ct.; died 18 Nov., 1753, in Lyme. Reinold was chosen one of the first two deacons in the First Congregational Church, Lyme, when it was formed, 27 March, 1693, but he is more frequently referred to, on the later town records; by his military title. He was "Sargent" of the Lyme train-band as early as 1702, and probably held that position until 1712, when he was appointed ensign; 8 May, 1718, the Legislature "established and confirmed Mr. Reinold Marvin to be Captain of the First Train-band or Company" in Lyme.† He was chosen townsman in 1697, 1702, '03, '05, '06; first townsman in 1707, '22-25, '28, '31 and '32. Hempstead, in his Diary (p. 196), mentions meeting him with the other selectmen of Lyme, 25 April, 1728, to "Renew the Town Bounds" between Lyme and New London. He was constable, 1694; collector of rates, 1713, '14; grand juryman, 1714 and 1735; sealer of weights and measures, 1715; lister, 1729; moderator, 1721, '23 and '24, and was on numerous important committees. Feb. 4, 1717/8, he was on a committee

"Renold and Sam<sup>l</sup> Marvin on Committee to agree with Sam<sup>l</sup> Russell to settle in this town in the work of the ministry."

He represented Lyme in the General Court most of the time from 1711 to 1728 inclusive, a period of continued service that shows the estimation in which he was held by his townsmen. In the Colonial Records of the State, from 1706 onward, there are frequent references to this Reinold Marvin.

There are many amusing traditions of the quaint sayings and doings of "Reynald Marvin," and an old Note-book in the possession of a descendant, still preserved, says he was "remarkable for his excentricities, yet esteemed as a very useful and godly man." As accounts of these have been printed elsewhere, and most of them probably belong to his son Deacon Reinold, we mention the only one that by family tradition relates to the Captain. When he "published" his Intention of Marriage, he wrote it in rhyme, and nailed it to the meeting-house door; there are different versions, but the one which was given us by the late Judge McCurdy, of Lyme, runs thus:—

Reinold Marvin and Phebe Lee
Do intend to marry:
And though her dad opposed be,
We can no longer tarry.

Perhaps it was the Captain's "excentricity" which induced him, eleven years after the death of his wife Phebe, whose children were still living, to make over to her brothers William and Stephen Lee, his right of inheritance in her father's real estate, which was very large; his own property was ample, and the act was generous; of its justice to her children we cannot judge; but it confirms the tradition that it was the remarkable beauty of the maiden, and not her father's wealth, which attracted him.*

The tomb-stones of Capt. Reinold and his two wives are still standing in excellent preservation in the Duck River burying ground. Their rude lettering is still legible, though showing the effects of age and nearly two centuries of New England winters. [See engraving.] His foot-stone has R. M. | Oct. 18. 1737. The grave is noticeable for its length, which may show that the old warrior had the tall stature characteristic of the family. He rests between his two wives, and the stone of Martha, on the right, is much the better executed. It reads:—

Samuel was elected townsman of Lyme in 1699, 1708-12, and 1718-20 inclusive; 21 Dec., 1725, he was chosen town clerk, and "Capt. Marvin and Capt. He held the office for many years; he was town treasurer most of the time from 1725 to 1738; constable, 1695 and 1718; surveyor, 1701; lister, 1706 and 1715; tything-man, 1723; in 1700 he was on a committee to "proportion the inhabitants in four parts, and appoint where schools shall be kept and who to go to them;" and in 1707, to "order schools to be estab-

* We take the names and dates of Sarah's children from the Lay Pedigree, in Fam. Hist. and Gen., which places Elizabeth second, and adds conjecturally (see I: p. 334) another child, 'Robert Lay, of Westbrook, Ct., who m. Mary Grinnel, of Westbrook,' called (ibid., p. 337) 'a grand-dau. of Miss Peabody, the first child b. at Plymouth after the landing of the pilgrims from the Mayflower;' it further states on the authority of the late Prof. James Murdock, of Andover (ibid., p. 336) that Robert had a son Jonathan, b. 1721. It is clear that this Robert cannot have been a child of Sarah Marvin, for she was b. in 1694. The frequent appearance of the name "John Lay" on the Lyme records, and the fact that the first John had two sons named John, who lived to manhood, make it impossible, with our present knowledge, to distinguish them. As Sarah's husband was twice her age at her marriage, the assignment in the Pedigree may be questioned.

10 JOHN,<sup>4</sup> son of John<sup>3</sup> and Sarah (Graham) Marvin, born 9 Aug., 1698, in Lyme, Ct.; died there before April, 1741, when "Widow Mehitable Marvin" joined the church; his will, dated 15 Aug., 1740, was proved 6 Nov., 1741; married 24 Feb., 1725/6, Mehitable, daughter of Capt. Henry and Sarah (Peterson) Champion, born 4 Sept., 1709, in Lyme. She was a grand-daughter of Henry and Sarah (DeWolf) Champion. At the town meeting in Lyme, 18 Dec., 1746, it was voted "to give the Widow Mehitable Marvin one pound, five shillings, old tenour, for the use of her house to hold town-meeting." John was chosen fence viewer in 1718, '25, '37-39; grand-juryman, 1730; highway surveyor, 1736; and tything-man, 1737. His will names wife Mehitable, sons John and Adonijah, and daughter Mehitable: executors, his widow and Henry Champion. Inventory made 9 Nov., 1741.*

* New London Prob. rec.. D: 594. The History of Torrington erroneously says that this John m. Mrs. Sarah (G.) Brooker, and went to Guilford [error for Gilsum], N. H., confusing him with his son of the same name; the New London record shows that John<sup>4</sup> d. long before Gilsum was settled.

The Lyme Church record has her baptism 4 July, and that of her infant daughter 11 July, 1731. Joseph and his wife are interred in the cemetery on Meeting-house hill. * The name of Dr. Samuel Mather's wife is given on the Lyme records as Deborah Champion; it appears to be more probable, from a deed on Middletown, Ct. Land records, of 19 April, 1723, cited in a note in Champion Gen., p. 32, that she was Deborah Wade (not Champion). A family record has for the date of Benjamin's death, that assigned above to Deborah, from the latest Mather Gen.; we are uncertain which is correct. It is supposed there were other children, but no record of such is to be found in Lyme.

having been admitted a member in June, 1731. Like his father, a deacon of the same church, he held military as well as ecclesiastical office, having been confirmed as a lieutenant of the "south company or train-band" of Lyme, in October, 1730,* and Hempstead (Diary, p. 347), calls him by that title in 1739; 6 July, 1758 (p. 705), he speaks of him as "Capt. Marvin." He was admitted freeman 14 Sept., 1731; was chosen sealer of weights and measures in 1729; town treasurer, December, 1734, and "to have £20 for making the town and country rate;" grand-juryman, 1736; surveyor of highways, 1738; lister, 1739, in which year the town granted him liberty to build a wharf on the east side of "Lieutenant's River;" in 1750 he had "liberty to build a pound on his land adjoining the highway," and was appointed keeper. The records of the Town Council of West-erly, R. I., have the following:—

Voted that Renold Marvin have an order to y<sup>e</sup> Town Treafury for fifteen Shillings for a Book (viz. Masons History of y<sup>e</sup> pequit war) Which was Borrowed of sd Marvin & put into y<sup>e</sup> case of Stanton vs. Thompson for y<sup>e</sup> Town Where it was Jmproved as Evidence in y<sup>e</sup> Cafe and is yet there.

To this Dea. Reinold belong most of the quaint sayings and stories preserved in family traditions, so far as they ever had any existence. He inherited his father's "excentricity," but it became a more prominent trait in his character. He was noted for his "revelations," many of which concealed acts of benevolence which might otherwise have been refused by the recipients of his kindness; an instance of this is given in the "Family Histories and Genealogies," in his shrewd discomfiture of one who sought the gift of a cow, when the Deacon was bestowing some of his cattle on a few of his needy neighbors.

The late Judge McCurdy related the following incident:—

That he had decided views, and adhered to his convictions, is shown by the story of his famous sheepskin saddle, which figures in several traditions. The ministerial rate in those days was provided by a tax laid on all the inhabitants of the town, collected in the same manner as other rates. The Deacon objected to the claim made upon him, and his riding saddle was seized and sold to pay his tax. He deemed this a grievous wrong, and styled those who had sequestered it "Sabeans," after the robbers of "righteous Job." That part of Lyme where they lived was thenceforth called "Sabtown," a name it still retains. He bought no more saddles, but ever after used a sheepskin, riding on it one day beside the clergyman who had been benefited by the seizure, to a church council to which the Deacon had been chosen a "messenger,"—to his great mortification.

The Church records show that he sometimes laid himself open to the strict discipline of the time, but he held his office "in good and regular standing" to the close of his life. With all his oddities, which, the Noyes Note-book tells us, "greatly injured the savor of his good name," he is said, by the same authority, to have been "a sensible, honest and benevolent man."

15 DANIEL,<sup>4</sup> son of Capt. Reinold<sup>3</sup> and Phebe (Lee) Marvin, born 24 Jan'y, 1701/2, in Lyme, Ct.; died (?) about 1770. The Temple Genealogy (p. 171) in a note on the family of John Welch, of Norwich, Ct., says that he had a daughter (name not given, but from another source we are informed it was Phebe, born about 1703), who married — Marvin, and lived in Lyme. If this statement is correct, we are unable to place such a marriage unless we assign it to this Daniel, the name of whose wife is otherwise unknown to us; if they were married in Norwich, there would be no record in Lyme, the books of which give only his birth. Daniel is supposed to have settled soon after his marriage in Colchester, Ct. (then adjoining Lyme), where his father and brother Reinold owned considerable land.‡ He may have

* Our dates of Lydia's chil. are from Saybrook rec.; see also N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., XIV: 241 et seq., and Descendants of William Pratt, which gives her grandchildren, but on p. 262 confuses Elizabeth and Sarah Kirtland, and on pp. 336-7 says Mercy Pratt, wife of Abner (ix), was a dau. of Daniel and Deborah, and sister of the Daniel who m. The information we have is somewhat conflicting, and it has been difficult to confirm or disprove the statements in the text, as to the parents in the Pratt families with which the Kirtlands intermarried, because of the remarkable similarity of names.

<sup>8</sup> Some of the dates furnished us for the foregoing record are conflicting; most of ours follow Chapman, who refers to the Lyme Records; the name and date of the 2d wife of John Coult (Mary, ii) is from Hinman; the record of Abner (iii), is from Hyde; the date of birth of Matthew (iv), was by one account, 28 Jan'y, 1735; the Lord Pedigree has date of death of Thomas (v), as 1785; evident typographic errors in Chapman we have corrected from other sources; vii: should probably be 1744, as the double date of a year ceased on the 24th of March.

She joined the Lyme church in August, 1733, and he in October, 1741. They settled in Lyme, where he practiced law, and for more than twenty years before the Revolution was King's Attorney for that district; while arguing a case in court he became paralyzed, but lived about twenty years afterwards, an invalid. His father was known as "Sarvant Dorr," from a satirical remark applied to him during the heat of the religious controversy which followed the "Great Revival" of 1740,* and ended in the resignation of the Lyme minister. The incident is still a local tradition, but as a similar story is found in other places, it is very likely a myth. George was a nephew of Gov. Griswold, and his sister was the mother of Pres. Griffin of Williams, whose wife was a descendant of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin.

who married Hester (17) Marvin], born 1708. He was admitted a freeman 14 Sept., 1731; elected lister in 1729, and again 27 June, 1743; grand-juryman, 24 Dec., 1733, 10 Dec., 1739, 30 Dec., 1748; fence-viewer, 29 Dec., 1736, 18 Dec., 1746; treasurer, Dec., 1742, and annually for many years after, with hardly an exception; his last election was 11 Dec., 1777; the following year John Lay, 2d, was "appointed" to that position. Zechariah and his wife united with the Lyme church in August, 1731; he was chosen deacon in January, 1741, at the same time with his cousin, Dea. Reinold. In October, 1772, he presented a petition to the Legislature, claiming "that for twenty years he had had a fishery in a brook leading to Black Hall Pond," but his rights had been obstructed by weirs, etc., and asking for redress. In response, the Legislature passed a law by which he was allowed to fish "in said brook on his own land (!) from Monday morning until sun-rising on Friday, every week." Matthew Marvin might fish on his own land from Thursday morning until sun-rising Friday, every week; one other person was given a similar privilege from Wednesday morning to Thursday morning, and all others forbidden to fish there.*

25 THOMAS,<sup>4</sup> son of Dea. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Susannah (Graham) Marvin, born 4 March, 1703/4, in Lyme, Ct.; died about 1763; married about 1733, Mehitable, daughter of Lieut. Joseph and Mehitable (Goodwin) Goodrich, of Wethersfield, Ct., and a descendant of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin, born 6 March, 1716; died about 1775, in Wethersfield. How long Thomas remained in Lyme is uncertain; he witnessed a deed there 5 Oct., 1724; he joined with his brother Samuel in a conveyance to Edmund Dorr, in 1727 (Lyme rec., IV: 153, 281), and was admitted a freeman 24 April, 1733, and then disappears from Lyme; a Thomas Marvin is found on the records of Goshen, Ct., 27 Dec., 1738, as one of the original proprietors, but has not been identified as this son of Samuel; when the town lands there were divided, he drew lot 50, and was appointed town collector at a meeting held in Litchfield. He was also on several other committees when the town of Goshen was organized.† When his father's will was * Ct. in the Rev., 16, 72.

† The Rev. Grant Powers, in his Centennial Sermon, 28 Sept., 1838, gives the location of his house in Goshen; and says further that he came there from Litchfield, but did not long remain. He adds that many of the Goshen settlers removed from that town in 1740 and a little later. If this Thomas was the son of Dea. Samuel, he may have been among those who moved away about that time, and have gone to Simsbury, for we find no further reference to him in Goshen, nor in Litchfield. (See Goshen Proprietors' recs., I: pp. 325-331; the last date he is named there is 4 Dec., 1739.)

made, 19 Aug., 1741, Thomas had "already received his portion." We judge that he moved away from Lyme about the time of his marriage.

In 1756, and probably earlier, he was living in Simsbury, Ct.; in May of that year the Legislature gave him "liberty for a ferry" over the Farmington river, for ten years, after the bridge there had been destroyed; this bridge, which had been built about 1750, crossed the river from that part of Simsbury known as "Hopmeadow," the business centre. When this ferry was established he was authorized to charge "for man, horse, and load, one penny: single man or single horse, one half-penny: sheep and swine per head, one farthing." Two years later he concluded that a ferry across the Connecticut river, where he could get better prices, was more desirable, and in October, 1758, he carried on that business between Suffield and Enfield, on the route known for more than half a century as "Gillis's ferry."* He found the boat and wharf there in bad condition, and in a memorial to the Legislature agreed to repair them at his own expense, if he could have a monopoly of all ferry privileges north of what was known as "the falls." In May, 1759, he was permitted to raise the fares.†

5. April, 1758, Joseph Trumble, of Suffield, sold to Thomas Marvin, of Simsbury, a tract of land in Simsbury, "nigh the Great River, and bounded East by the highway that runs along the Great River. South by land that John Penguilly Jr., formerly of Suffield deces<sup>d</sup> bought of Jacob Adams of Suffield deces<sup>d</sup>. West by land of Abraham Burbank. North on John Leavitt; together with the buildings etc., containing about fifty acres." Consideration £380. (Suffield Land recs., I: 357.) 14 Feb., 1760, then of Suffield, Thomas sold the above tract, "bounded east by the highway that runs northerly by the Great River by Trumble's Ferry so-called," to William Mather of Suffield, for the same price he had paid for it. (Ibid., I: 456.)

This is the last reference to him discovered on the Suffield records; he may have returned to Simsbury (where some of his children lived), and died there, but no record of his death, which was probably soon after, has been found.

* The ferry was established in 1691; it was owned by Trumble and Penguilly before and after 1749 (Suffield recs.), of one of whom Thomas seems to have bought it.

Children,* order uncertain :

- i. Samuel,<sup>5</sup> b. abt. 1733? He is said to have been lost at sea, with his vessel and crew, not long before the Revolution, having been a master mariner in the West India trade. (Talcott.) This may find some confirmation in the fact that several kinsmen of his mother, who were residents of Wethersfield, were masters of vessels in that trade, about that time.

- iii. Susannah, b. abt. 1736? (See note.)

* Because of conflicting accounts of the children of Thomas, we give the reasons for the assignments (partly conjectural) in the text. It seems reasonably certain that most of these children must have been born before Thomas appears at Simsbury, for the birth of none of them is to be found on the record of that town. We have a family record of the birth of two — Mehitable and Matthew, — and only the latter is said to have been b. in Simsbury. In his printed account of this family, Col. Thomas,<sup>6</sup> a son of Matthew<sup>3</sup> (with which Talcott, in his "Gen. Notes," pp. 595-6, agrees), has confused, as we believe, sisters of his father with a sister (Elizabeth) and niece (Susannah) of Mehitable's husband, who was Benjamin Marvin. The account given by Col. Thomas was followed in "Fam. Hist. and Gen.," but extensive correspondence since that was printed has yielded nothing to corroborate his statements. Barlow, Fam. Gen., p. 226, says there were four sons and four daus., but does not name them; Col. Thomas and Talcott name eight. We differ in the following points: — Joseph,<sup>7</sup> their second (whom we place as the seventh) and "Ozias," their sixth child (whom we omit), are said, in their account, to have been soldiers in the French war (in which Mehitable's husband was engaged), and to have died in the service. The first of these statements may possibly be true, but we follow another account, and we have found no other mention of Ozias, who (if the sixth child, as they make him), would have been a boy of twelve when that war began. They give an Elizabeth, who "m. William Roberts, of Sharon, 15 Dec., 1777, and had two chil." We think she was the dau. of John and Elizabeth (Dunham) Marvin, of the Matthew line, and so assign her; they say that Susannah m. Capt. Hezekiah Frisbie, etc., but we believe that Susannah was a grand-dau. of Lieut. John, of the Matthew line.

Again, as the Simsbury records contain certain Marvin marriages, which are evidently of those too old to have been the children of John, son of Lieut. John Marvin (who went to Simsbury some years after Thomas), and as we have been unable to find any other of the name residing there to whom to assign them, we have given Daniel as the second, and Rachel as the sixth child, both of whom are known to have lived and m. in Simsbury, as most in accordance with the facts thus far discovered. The accounts of Mehitable and Matthew are well established; the descendants of the other children we are unable to trace beyond what is given above. With this explanation we leave our conclusions to be corrected, if wrong, by future investigators.

of Sharon; he was of the Matthew line, where her chil. are given.

- v. Lois, b. abt. 1740 (?).
  - vi. Rachel, b. abt. 1744 (?); m. in Simsbury, Azariah, son of Daniel and Elizabeth (Phelps) Hoskins, of Hartford and Simsbury, b. 29 Aug., 1739, in Simsbury.
  - vii. Joseph, b. abt. 1747 (?). He may be the Joseph of Wethersfield, Ct.; who m. there 28 Jan'y, 1768, — (wife's name illegible on the records; see Ct. Marriages, Book 3, p. 13), and had two chil. whose names we have not learned; he was living there in May, 1772 (see Col. Rec. Ct., XIII: 607), when he had a "dwelling-house in the first District." A "widow Marvin" is given on the Wethersfield Church rec. as a member there in 1774, but whether Joseph's widow, or his mother, we have no information.
51. viii. Matthew, b. 7 June, 1754, in Simsbury (Fam. rec.); it is said that because of the death of his father he went, abt. 1763, when nine years old, to live in Sharon, with his sister Mehitable. (See Barlow, p. 226.)

26 CAPT. MATTHEW,<sup>4</sup> son of Dea. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Susannah (Graham) Marvin, born 7 Nov., 1706, in Lyme, Ct.; died there 25 Dec., 1760; married 20 April, 1732, in Lyme, Mary, daughter of Capt. Joseph and Mary (Lee) Beckwith, born 3 April, 1710, in Lyme; died there 25 Dec., 1760. Capt. Matthew was an inn-holder, as well as a farmer, and he and his wife died on the same day, of small-pox, taken, as a contemporary wrote, "from a transient person who came to their house, which was then turned into a hospital; the children and neighbors were inoculated and recovered. The Captain and his wife were interred in the same grave at Niantic."

He joined the church in Lyme in April, 1732, and his wife in June, 1735. He was admitted freeman 24 April, 1733; chosen tything-man 1734 and '35; surveyor of highways 1736, '38 and '46; lister 1741, '42; fence-viewer 1748-50; selectman 1739, '40, and '55 to '59 inclusive; grand-juryman 1751; he was confirmed lieutenant of the first company or train-band in October, 1741, and captain, May, 1754; he was representative from Lyme, October, 1757, and March, 1758.*

Children, born in Lyme :

- i. Seth,<sup>s</sup> b. 12 July, 1733, "at break of day" (Lyme rec.); d. 1777 or 1778. He was appointed by special act of the Legislature,* 1 May, 1761, with William Noyes, to administer his father's estate. He enlisted 17 Sept., 1776, in Capt. Durkee's company in Wyoming, Pa.† Dr. T. M. Cooley said "He was probably killed in a skirmish with Indians on the Susquehannah, as he was not heard of after." The Noyes Note-book (contemporary) giving date as above, says: "He was in the Revolutionary service of his country, when he met his last sickness, and out as recruiting officer, but the place is not (as yet here) ascertained." On the Roll of his company in "Connecticut in the Revolution," p. 263, he is entered as "Disarted Aug. 18, 1777," and again, on p. 266, as "Des. 1 April, 1778." These contradictory statements of the Roll are shown to be false by the "Harvey Book," p. 85, which says that

The muster roll [as cited] purports to be "arranged from an original muster roll in the Archives of New Hampshire, [which] does not exist there, nor in the Record and Pension Bureau at Washington, nor in the office of the Adjutant General of Connecticut. It was not made up until some time after the affair; several errors have been found, and several reported as deserters had not deserted, but subsequently returned to duty."

The concurrent testimony of reliable records shows that Seth died in the discharge of his duty.

52. ii. Eunice, b. 2 Dec., 1735.
 iii. Elizabeth, b. —; bap. 6 Nov., 1737; d. 27 Jan'y, 1797; m. 17 Nov., 1763, in Lyme, Rev. Sylvanus, son of Rev. George and Hannah (Lynde) Griswold, b. 3 Feb.,

† The first saw-mill on Mill Creek, upper Susquehannah, was erected in 1773, by "Seth Marvin." In 1777 "Capt. Seth Marvin," of Wyoming, was one of the "subscribers to send a post once a fortnight to Hartford, Ct., for papers, etc." (See Hist. of Wyoming, p. 199.) The New York Military Rolls have a "Seth Marvin, b. 1730 in Lyme; enlisted in Capt. Tuthill's company of Suffolk, N. Y., 23 May, 1759, aged 29; height, 5 feet 10; complexion light, etc." The birth-place, or else the age and date, as given, may be doubted. These Seths have been supposed to be identical with this son of Matthew,<sup>4</sup> who was at Wyoming about that time, but we believe they refer to one of the name in the Matthew<sup>1</sup> line.

27 ELIZABETH,<sup>4</sup> daughter of Dea. She is probably the Elizabeth Marvin who joined the church in Lyme, Oct., 1731. He married (2), 13 Jan'y, 1757, Rebecca Higgins, of Lyme, by whom he had issue. Richard was a justice of the peace; his great-grandson by the second marriage was the late Hon. 29 NEHEMIAH,<sup>4</sup> son of Dea. He was admitted freeman in Lyme, 24 April, 1739; he was elected 13 Dec., 1753, tything-man in Saybrook, Ct., and again in 1757 and '67; 7 Dec., 1756, grand juryman; 9 Dec., 1766, fence-viewer; 23 Dec., 1765, and annually until 26 Dec., 1775, his last appearance on Saybrook recs., "Kee Keeper of y<sup>e</sup> Pound." 23 June, 1755, the record says: "The Mark that Nehemiah Ma vin puts on his Creatures is a hole in the off or Right ear and a half-penny on the upper side of the near Ear." He bought several pieces of land in Saybrook between 1754 and 1776, but the sale of only one is recorded; in May, 1760, he was one of the petitioners for a ferry across the Connecticut. Only two children are recorded at Lyme, and the Saybrook town records, and the Church records of the neighboring towns of Exeter and Haddam, failed to show any further entries.† Beside the first three named below there were certainly other children, one of whom was perhaps William (v), for whom we find no other place.

* This is as furnished us, from a family rec., but no mention of such a child is found at Lyme, and it seems probable that ii and vi are the same, and that the date of birth of the latter is confused with date of death of the former.

† This seems to indicate that he changed his residence about 1776; which may further be inferred from the fact that neither his will nor the settlement of his estate has been found, after a search in the probate records of Saybrook (Deep River) and those of Guilford, Hebron and Colchester. An entry in the latter shows the appointment, in 1785, of Noah Pomeroy as guardian for William, who we believe was son of Nehemiah, and if we are correct in this, it gives the approximate date of his father's death.

FIFTH GENERATION

30 JOHN,<sup>5</sup> son of John<sup>4</sup> and Mehitable (Champion) Marvin, born 30 Jan'y, 1726/7, in Lyme, Ct.; died 24 Dec., 1792, in Surry, N. H.; married 10 Feb., 1746/7, Sarah, daughter of John and Sarah (Grinnell) Brooker, of Saybrook, Ct., born about 1729. He was lister in 1749, and resided in Lyme until 1767, when he removed to Gilsun, N. H., settling near what was later the northwest part of Surry, and 4 July, 1768, was one of the Gilsun petitioners for the formation of the town of Surry. He was chosen, with others, 1 Sept., 1768, "to settle with Samuel Gilbert about the lands he laid out, after the first laying-out;" and a little later was appointed "to ascest the Clerk in Recording." He was moderator of the proprietors in 1768 and 1770; the latter meeting was held in Surry.

‡ This date is from Family rec., but the Diary of Sally Brown, in "Literary Era," Aug., 1901, p. 500, says: "Mrs. Lois Shepard, wife of Dea. Shepard, interred Feb. 7, 1810," which seems to refer to this Lois.

 65. x. Adonijah, b. 16 April, 1769, in Gilsun,* N. H.

By order of the Legislature, in May, 1759, his estate was placed in the hands of his brother John, as administrator, and the proceedings were by their direction returned to the New London Probate Court.†

Children, born in Lyme:

- i. Elizabeth,<sup>6</sup> b. 30 June, 1756; d. in Lyme; m. 18 Aug., 1774, Lee, son of Benjamin and Sarah (Champion) Peck, b. 1 July, 1752, in Lyme; d. there; he was first cousin of her father.

32 ELIZABETH,<sup>5</sup> daughter of John<sup>4</sup> and Mehitable (Champion) Marvin, born 21 Aug., 1734, in Lyme, Ct.; married there 28 Nov., 1749, Jeremiah Minor (Church rec.), born in Lyme; they settled in Wolcott, Ct., about 1756, where he died; he was a school committee man for the East District of Wolcott, in 1771, and was still living there in 1789.§

‡ Called "Champen" in William Peck Gen., p. 19. The dates of birth of chil. from Lyme rec.

§ The History of Wolcott (pp. 521, 2), says "Jedediah [Jeremiah on Church rec. Lyme] Minor was b. in Lyme, m. Elizabeth Marvin of that place and settled in Wolcott about 1756." and that "Joseph was about 12 years old when his father came to Wolcott." The latter statement is evidently an error, as his mother Elizabeth was then but 22, and was m. in Nov., 1749. We have not learned the date of Joseph's birth, but it was probably about 1752, perhaps later; his first child d. an infant 3 May, 1783; we judge he m. about 1782, when he would have been 38 if we accept the History cited. Neither Family nor Lyme recs. show any other Elizabeth who could have m. "Jedediah" Minor. See the History, loc. cit., for further notes on the Minors.

Enoch, son of Judge Richard and Elizabeth (Lynde) Lord, born 15 Dec., 1725, in Lyme; died there 16 Feb., 1814. She inherited a very large estate from her father, including a number of slaves (for slavery in Connecticut had not then been abolished), and much of her ancestral land remains in the blood, though no longer in the name, at the present time. Her christening-blanket, of a rich yellow satin brocade, which was brought from London, is still preserved by a great-grand-daughter. Reinold graduated at Yale in 1748, where he was a classmate of Bishop Seabury and President Daggett. In company with Capt. Elisha Sheldon, of Lyme, who had married Elizabeth<sup>5</sup> Ely, a great-grand-daughter of Lieut. Reinold,<sup>2</sup> he settled in Litchfield, and was the first to practice law in that town. He was King's Counselor or prosecuting officer for that part of the State, resigning the office at the beginning of the Revolution. He was long a leader among the eminent lawyers who gave brilliancy to the Litchfield bar, and was a professor in the famous Litchfield Law School, founded in 1784 by Judge Tapping Reeve.

He had a large landed property in Litchfield, and a fine library for the time; but by consenting to serve as surety on bonds, and other misfortunes, as the Colonial Records state, he became involved: yet such was the respect in which he was held that special Acts protecting his property from creditors who were attempting to deprive him of it, were passed in his favor,* and through all his reverses he retained the esteem of all.

Several references to purchases of land by him from 1764 onward, in Berkshire co., Mass., appear on the Land Records in Pittsfield, Mass. The "History of Litchfield" has a eulogistic notice of his wife:

She is worthy of honorable mention among those who have done most to reflect honor upon Litchfield. She possessed a rare combination of talents and accomplishments, blended with Christian virtues. Born to the prospect of a fortune, highly educated and refined, she met the reverses of after-life in a manner that commanded the admiration of all.

The Litchfield records contain the names of several negro servants, whom he owned before the abolition of slavery in Connecticut.†

They had but one child:

He was selectman 1773, '74, and '75. In May, 1778, Ezra Selden, his brother-in-law, was appointed to administer on his estate,|| which was largely of landed property. The inventory, taken in 1777, '87, and '89, amounted to £1663: 16s.: 2d.; the record of its division¶ shows his widow, who had then married her second husband, received her thirds, and the remainder, including the share of the youngest son, James, who died soon after his father, was distributed among the four surviving children.

* The account of Daniel<sup>5</sup> and the names and marriages of his children (except vi), were furnished us some years ago by a grandson of Henry (v); his information as to the latter has lately (1903) been confirmed by another grandson, but we find the Family records are conflicting as to whether Daniel<sup>4</sup> or Daniel<sup>5</sup> died in 1776, and we have been unable to determine certainly which is correct.

† Edmund, son of Edmund Dorr, married Mary, dau. of Matthew Griswold, and settled in Lyme, Ct., about 1721. Hyde Gen. (p. 54) gives the names of seven of his chil., six of whom were b. in Lyme; the eldest, George, b. in Hartford, m. Sarah<sup>4</sup> (20) Marvin, dau. of Capt. Reinold, and a sister of Daniel<sup>4</sup> (15), father of Roswell. It has been suggested that Abigail was a younger sister of George, and b. between Elizabeth (1735) and Deborah (1739); the only ground for this suggestion seems to be that of the four sons of Edward (who, says Walworth in Hyde Gen., p. 53, "is supposed to be the progenitor of all the Dorr's of New England"), Edmund is the only one who settled in Lyme, and those who bear the name in that vicinity are his descendants. He had a bro. Edward, who was three times m., and each wife was an Abigail. Edward, however, was not the father of Roswell's wife. We have been unable to obtain any proof that Edmund had a dau. Abigail; yet if Walworth is correct, she must have been a near relative, and we find no other of the name in that neighborhood to whom we can assign her.

Extensive correspondence with descendants of Roswell has failed to elicit satisfactory information concerning this family, beyond the fact that he was the father of Thomas, and probably had other children. They are said to have lived in Hebron, but we find no mention of his name on the records there.

* As proving that Roswell's father was the Thomas of Goshen, we find its Land rec. (I: 47, 163) show he bought land there 23 Nov., 1739, of Daniel Lord, of Lyme (deed sworn to in Lyme), which he sold to Samuel Talcott, 8 Sept., 1740. He probably went there from Lyme (not Litchfield) and was among those who left about 1740-1. See note, p. 70.

Moses appears on the list of freemen in Lyme, Sept., 1777; he and his wife joined the church there in 1781; its records also show that a "Mrs. Moses Marvin" joined the same church in March, 1794; it is possible, therefore, that Zylpha died, and Moses married a second wife, but we have found no such record. The family are said by one informant to have removed to Genesee Co., N. Y., about 1802; no record of the death of Moses or his wife has been found in Lyme.

Elisha lived in that part of Lyme called "Joshuatown," from a famous Mohegan chief, a son of Uncas, whose "seat," a cleft in Mohegan Rock on the bank of the Connecticut river, is still pointed out. He was confirmed as ensign in the 12th company, 3d reg't, in May, 1776;* his name is on the list of freemen in 1777; in Dec., 1782, and again in 1783, he was elected one of the selectmen. Like his ancestors, he was a deacon, having been chosen in the Lyme church (North Society), Reinold<sup>s</sup> Marvin's widow), born 1757, in North Lyme (Hamburg); died there 28 Sept., 1803; married (3), Mrs. Prudence Lewis, whom we take to be the "Mrs. Prudence Marvin" who married, as his second wife, James Ely, of Lyme, and called in Ely Ancestry, Mrs. Prudence Marvin Hewitt. He was a captain in the militia, like his father, whose autograph we are now able to give.

43 ENOCH,<sup>5</sup> son of Capt. Elisha<sup>4</sup> and Catharine (Mather) Marvin, born 4 May, 1747, in Lyme, Ct.; died 24 Dec., 1841, in or near Warrenton, Warren co., Mo.; married about 1769, Ruth, daughter of Wells and Elizabeth (Williams) Ely, of Lyme, born 1750; died in the summer of 1826, aet. 76.* She was one of the original members of the Baptist Church in Pittsfield, Mass., founded 27 Oct., 1800; they settled there soon after his marriage, probably on the estate which his father later bequeathed to him; 13 June, 1770, he bought land there of Aaron Baker, and in the deed is called of Lyme. The Pittsfield tax list of 16 Nov., 1772, shows that he was then residing there, and his family consisted of "four persons."† During the Revolution he served 13–21 Sept., 1776, in Capt. William Francis's company, which was "ordered by the General" to Williamstown, Mass., and 17 Oct., to 16 Nov., 1776, he served in the same command at Ticonderoga. He was a sergeant in Lieut. James Hubbard's company, Lieut.-Col. Rossiter's reg't, 18–27 July, 1777 (Mass. rec.‡); he served again at Stillwater, N. Y., under Capt. Francis, 30 Sept., to 6 Oct., 1777. In 1781 (deed recorded 29 June), his father Elisha conveyed to him 140 acres in Pittsfield, and 10 Feb., 1785, he sold to Henry Van Schaack, of Richmond, Mass., for £600, land which had recently been given to him by his father. (See Pittsfield Land rec., XVII: 14, 597.) About 1803, he settled in Otsego or Chenango co., N. Y., and is believed to be the "lieutenant Enoch Marvin," 1804, captain 1806, in the 11th N. Y. militia, Col. Henry commanding; about 1817 he settled in Warren co., Mo. One informant says his youngest son went to Missouri in 1817, and that Enoch followed him soon after. He inherited the humorous eccentricity of his grandfather, but was greatly respected by all who knew him; he was "tall of stature, and large in frame, and even when aged had a remarkable presence."

Children, the eldest, and probably a second, born in Lyme, the others in Pittsfield; order uncertain:

- i. Elizabeth,<sup>6</sup> b. abt. 1771; m. Benjamin, prob. son of Nathaniel Davis,<sup>6</sup> of Pittsfield, b. 1770; she was admitted to the First Church in Pittsfield, 2 March, 1794, having been transferred under her maiden name from the church in Lyme; she was dismissed from the Pittsfield church when the family removed to the West. Children (Davis): 1. Henry<sup>7</sup>; 2. Myra; 3. Elizabeth.

  5. Enoch Marvin, b. —.

- v. Sarah, b. 1785; living Dec., 1817; m. as his second wife, in Chenango co., N. Y., Benjamin Davis, who had m. her sister Elizabeth. Children (Davis):
  1. Zalmon Raleigh,<sup>7</sup> b. —; d. abt. 1854; he was twice m. and had several chil.
  2. Andrew, b. —; twice m. and had two daus.
  3. Therese, b. —; d. —; m. Orus Brown. Children (Brown): i. Alvin<sup>8</sup>; ii. Andrew, who settled in Oregon.
  4. Jane, b. —; m. Alexander Skinner; res. in or near Van Buren, Ark., where they d., leaving issue.

<sup>6</sup> This assignment of Benjamin to Nathaniel Davis seems justified by the fact that Nathaniel served in the Revolutionary army with Enoch, whose youngest son, Wells Ely,<sup>7</sup> named one of his sons Nathaniel Davis, as will be seen below.

5. Amanda, b. —; d. y.

44 GEN. ELIHU,<sup>5</sup> son of Capt. Elisha<sup>4</sup> and Catharine (Mather) Marvin, born Dec., 1752, in Lyme, Ct.; died 13 Sept., 1798, in Norwich, Ct.; married 25 Dec., 1780, in Norwich, Elizabeth,<sup>6</sup> daughter of Theophilus<sup>5</sup> Jr., and Penelope (Jarvis) Rogers, born 24 Aug., 1757, in Norwich; died there 30 Dec., 1808; interred at Chelsea Landing (Norwich). He graduated at Yale 1773, where he was a classmate, and as his letters  show, an intimate friend of Capt.

Nathan Hale. He studied medicine with Dr. Rogers<sup>5</sup>, a descendant of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin of Norwalk.* He was commissioned lieutenant and adjutant of Col. Durkee's reg't, 4th Ct. Line, 1 Jan'y, 1777, and promoted to be brigade major of Varnum's brigade in the winter of 1777-8; † letters still preserved describe his privations in the memorable winter at Valley Forge; he was in the battle of Germantown and other engagements, and gained the reputation of a brave, energetic and skillful officer. On one occasion, being suddenly called into action, he thrust his orderly-book into his bosom, and on his return to quarters found a bullet lodged in the book. His medical knowledge was utilized while in the service, for "Maj. Marvin" was ordered to "repair to the Yellow Springs, and the hospitals near Camp, and superintend the sick there."* A contemporary wrote:— "Conceiving himself superseded or neglected, he resigned, and with honor untarnished returned to Norwich and resumed the practice of his profession." In March, 1779, on the New London alarm, he acted as volunteer aide to Gen. Wadsworth, for which service the Legislature voted him £69: 8s.† When peace was established he took a prominent part in reorganizing the State militia, was chosen captain of the company in Chelsea Landing (Norwich), was successively elected major and colonel, and in 1793 was appointed brigadier general, which position he held until his death. "Attractive in person and engaging in manner, he was universally beloved and respected, and his memory was cherished long after he had passed away." In July, 1782, he was one of the "signers" against the illicit trade carried on by the Royalists. When the yellow fever spread to the North in 1798, he went to New York to study the disease, and gave much attention to the methods employed by the best skill of the time. Soon after his return to Norwich the fever appeared there; he was devoted in his attentions to those attacked by the disease, but soon fell a victim himself,‡ and as the late Dr. Woodward, Pres. of the Connecticut Medical Soc'y, who remembered his services, said: "He offered his own life in the devoted endeavor to ward off the blow of the destroyer from others."

The death of Gen. Marvin—for he was better known by his military than his professional title—produced a profound impression upon the community. The Norwich Courier of the 20th Sept. following said:— Died, last Friday morning, in the 45th year of his age, of the fever, Gen. Elihu Marvin, whose enlightened understanding, whose philanthropic heart, whose pure principles, whose regular deportment and domestic virtues distinguished his character. While society regrets his loss as a citizen, all his acquaintances lament a friend. Though misfortune had shaded his life, it had not stained his integrity. He had improved by its painful instruc-

47 ELIHU,<sup>5</sup> son of Dea. Zechariah<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (Lord) Marvin, born 13 Feb., 1732/3, in Lyme, Ct.; died 13 Aug., 1812, in Hebron, Ct.; his will dated 18 May, 1812, was proved 27 Sept., 1812 (Prob. rec., Andover, Ct.); married (1), 16 Nov., 1762,* Anna Beach, of Hebron, born about 1738; died 26 Sept., 1778, aet. 40, in Hebron; married (2), 1 July, 1779, Azubah Case, of Gilead, Ct.,† born 8 June, 1756; died 23 April, 1780, s. p.; married (3), 13 June, 1782, Mary Chapman, born about 1750; died 25 March, 1788, aet. 38, in Hebron; married (4), 12 Nov., 1789, Mrs. Eunice (Dimmick) Gurley (widow of Israel, by whom she had issue), of Coventry, Ct., born about 1753; she survived him and died 12 April, 1835, aet. 82. Her will dated 18 Sept., 1834, was proved 2 May, 1835 (Prob. rec., Andover, Ct.). After his marriage he resided a few years in Lyme; 20 Sept., 1768, then "of Lyme," he purchased land in Hebron, of John Beach; he was a teacher in Hebron for a time, and then a farmer, residing with his father-in-law, Dea. Beach; 18 March, 1771, then "of Hebron," he bought more land there; various purchases from Azariah Beach, 1776, John Beach, 1779, Benajah Jones, 1787, Samuel Wisley, 1791, and from his son, Elihu,<sup>6</sup> Jr., in 1796, are recorded in Hebron.‡ He was known as "Squire Elihu," having been a justice of the peace 1787 to 1803, and in that capacity he performed the marriage service for his daughters Anna, Abigail, and Elizabeth. He was a deacon in the Hebron church in 1793. He is perhaps the Elihu Marvin appointed by the Legislature a surveyor of land for Hartford co., in 1776.§

* The Lyme rec. give this date as 7 Nov., 1764, as we read them; the Church rec. says "Mrs. Anna Marvin joined in June, 1763."

† This marriage is recorded both in Hebron and Gilead, a parish in that town; as no other Marvin entries are found in Gilead, that was no doubt her residence.

48 ENS. ZECHARIAH,<sup>5</sup> son of Dea. Zechariah<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (Lord) Marvin, born 11 Aug., 1735, in Lyme, Ct.; married there (1), 23 July, 1761, Anna, daughter of John and Eunice (Lee) Lee, born 1 Aug., 1739; died 1 March, 1777; she joined the church in Lyme, Dec., 1765; married (2), 15 April, 1779, in Lyme, Hannah, daughter of John and Hannah (Lee) Lay, born 18 Feb., 1740. Zechariah and Hannah were living 21 March, 1795, when they joined in a deed† of the "estate of their honored grandfather Stephen Lee, late of New London;" the dates of their deaths have not been found. He was confirmed in March, 1760, as ensign of the 10th company (Capt. Zebulon Butler's), of the 4th Ct. reg't, Col. Eleazer Fitch.‡ His name appears on the list of Lyme freemen, Sept., 1777. His first wife's father, John Lee, was King's Attorney for New London co., and represented Lyme many years in the Legislature.

* The dates of marriage of Elihu, and other dates and names are from Hebron rec., II: 67; and from Andover Prob. rec.

† New London Land Rec., XXIX: 39. This deed furnishes the authority for our assignment of Hannah, the second wife of Ens. Zechariah, to John and Hannah (Lee) Lay, instead of, as in Fam. Hist. and Gen., to John and Mary (Lewis) Lay. As Ens. Zechariah was clearly not a descendant of Col. Stephen Lee, the relationship mentioned in the deed must be that of his wife Hannah; the only one of the name we find, who meets the conditions as Stephen's grand-daughter and wife of Zechariah, is the one given in the text; neither Hyde (p. 182), nor the Lay Pedigree in Fam. Hist. and Gen., mention this marriage.

* In the deed cited in the note on the preceding family, "Sarah Marvin and Thomas Marvin her husband" also join with Zechariah and Hannah in referring to Col. Stephen Lee as "their honored grandfather." If the date of Thomas's second marriage is correctly given, the "Sarah" who was then his wife must have joined, because of her rights in dower, for Stephen Lee's granddaughter Sarah, who married Thomas, died a few years before. Thomas may have signed as relinquishing his rights "by the courtesy" to his first wife's interest in the property, or as representing that of her children in their great-grandfather's estate.

He calls himself of Granby, Ct., in his will, dated 27 April, 1809, proved 11 Feb., 1812, and recorded in Northampton, Mass.  attempt to fasten the "marine turtle" or torpedo, invented by David Bushnell, to the British ship Eagle, in New York harbor—the first use of a torpedo in marine warfare; later he essayed to blow up a British frigate. These attempts though unsuccessful, greatly alarmed the enemy. See Appleton's Cyclopaedia, III: 662.

69 RUTH,<sup>6</sup> daughter of Reinold<sup>5</sup> and Ruth (Welch) Marvin, born 20 Dec., 1763,* in Litchfield, Ct.; died there 17 Oct., 1817; married 17 March, 1784, Ephraim, son of Abraham and Eunice (Starkweather) Kirby, of Litchfield, born 23 Feb., 1757, in "Judea Society," Woodbury, Ct.; died 20 Oct., 1804, in Fort Stoddard, Ala.

When the statue of gilded lead erected on Bowling Green, New York, in honor of George III, was overthrown and broken up, in 1775, portions were conveyed to Litchfield, and cast into bullets, which were used by the Revolutionary soldiers, who thus "fired insulted Majesty at his troops." A record in the family papers of Hon. Oliver Wolcott, of Connecticut, shows that Mrs. Reinold Marvin made 6,058 cartridges; her daughter Ruth (Mrs. Kirby) 11,592, and members of the Wolcott family upward of 20,000 more.

Ephraim was a student at Yale when the Lexington Alarm reached New Haven; he marched to Boston, and took part in the battle of Bunker Hill and in many other engagements, serving with distinction through the war, and returning at its close with thirteen honorable scars; he received seven sabre wounds in one of the battles in New Jersey. He was two years in the first troop of Col. Sheldon's Light Dragoons and was an ensign in a Rhode Island regiment in 1782; in the battle of Germantown he was on the staff of Gen. Sterling. When the Order of the Cincinnati was founded, of which he was an original member, he held the rank of lieutenant. In 1787 Yale conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts. He was often a member of the Legislature from 1791 to Oct., 1802; in 1800 he was lieutenant-colonel of the 17th Ct. reg't. * A "Thomas Marble" is given in the rolls of the town of Hebron as serving as sergeant in the Revolution at the time of the Lexington Alarm; he was a corporal in the 10th company of Col. Hinman's reg't, in the siege of Boston, 12 May.—19 Dec., 1775; in Capt. Judd's company, 3d Ct. Line, 21 April, 1777-25 April, 1781, serving at Peekskill, N. Y., etc., and in Capt. Lemuel Clift's company, Col. Durkee's reg't, 1st Ct. Line, Jan'y, 1781, and onward. A letter from one claiming descent from this soldier, says his name was Marvin, and that it is incorrectly printed in the Ct. War record. We have been unable to verify this statement; one correspondent writes that Thomas was 71 when he died (in 1835); if this be true, he could not have been the Revolutionary soldier.

Y., having married as her second husband, 19 Oct., 1814, Baize Baker, born 24 April, 1768, in East Haddam, Ct.; died 27 Feb., 1855; he was an early settler in West Bloomfield, and by him she had issue, one of whom was named for her first husband.* We are informed that he removed to Laurens, Otsego co., N. Y., in 1805 or earlier, and a few years later to Covington, (then in) Genesee co., N. Y.; was a deacon in the "Christian" Church, and died there. By the Lyme church record his widow seems to have gone back to Lyme, joined the church there June, 1813, and her youngest child, Ruth, was baptized there 1 Aug., 1813. She perhaps married her second husband there (as East Haddam then adjoined Lyme), and then returned to Western New York, where several of her family also settled.

He was a clergyman of the "Christian" Church, and had charges in Canada, in New York, and in Lewisburg and Plymouth, Pa.; in 1842 he was the agent of the "Christian General Book Association," and in charge of the Palladium, the organ of that body.

* James is said by Hyde Gen. to have died in Lyme, which also says his children were born there, but does not mention Ezra and Seth. Judge William Marvin, the town clerk of Lyme, writes: "I have made a careful examination of the death records, and find no entry regarding James Marvin. I also made a thorough search of the Land records from the time James would have been old enough to hold and convey land, to the date of his death, and find no clue there to his residence. . . . Had he lived here all his life he would probably have taken part in some real estate transfer, as did almost every one of any importance in those days. The absence of any record tends to show that he was living elsewhere at the time of his death. The date on which that is said to have occurred was certainly not obtained from our town records."

in Lyme, Mary Sears, daughter of Peter and Parnal (Corah) Pearson, born 22 June, 1804, in Lyme; died 3 Jan'y, 1888, in Bethany. Probably he is the William who joined the Lyme church, June, 1817. A funeral sermon preached in the Bethany Presbyterian Church, which was published, says:

He was ordained deacon at Mount Morris, N. Y.; connected afterward with several churches, he worthily filled the office of ruling elder in each, serving ten years in the Bethany Church. During a period of twenty-five or thirty years he labored earnestly in the missionary work of the Presbyterian Board of Publication, and in that of the American Bible and Tract Societies. Marvin was educated in Colchester Academy, Ct., and studied Dudley Marvin his profession in Canandaigua, whither he removed in 1807, and was admitted to the bar in 1811.

Dudley Marvin had not long been admitted to the bar, when he had no superior and few if any equals as an advocate in the western counties. One of the judges before whom he argued said: "I frequently listened with admiration to his exceedingly able and eloquent summings up, in jury trials." [Turner's History of Phelps and Gorham Purchase, 182.]

During the War of 1812 he was in active service as a lieutenant in the 11th reg't, Ontario co.; he was quartermaster 1818, adjutant 1819, major 1820 and colonel of the same regiment in 1821; later he was brigadier and major-general, and is still remembered by his military title. In 1822 he was elected to Congress as a Whig, and was twice re-elected from Ontario co. After his term expired he spent some time in Maryland and Virginia. In 1836 he removed to New York city, where he practiced, but in 1843 settled in Ripley, where he passed the remainder of his life; in 1846 he was again elected to Congress from that district.

While serving his first term he became a warm personal friend of Henry Clay, then Speaker of the House, and the intimacy continued through life. In a speech on the Mexican war, in Congress, in 1847, discussing the President's message, his remarks on the question of slavery in the territories were almost prophetic in their character.

He took an active part in the temperance movement, and in the Presbyterian Church in Ripley. He was a gentleman of fine personal presence, erect and tall, and of great popularity.

farmer; in 1842 or '43 he settled in Erie, engaged in business, and resided there until his death. The Erie Gazette of Sept. 1, 1878, said:—

He was a gentleman of rare foresight as a business man, managing with success his large property, which he dispensed with lavish hand and great-hearted liberality. Religious, educational and benevolent societies were the objects of his large benefactions, the munificence of which was only equalled by the unostentatious manner in which they were made. . . . Unassuming yet dignified in manner, and possessed of a rare conversational talent, he was a most interesting and remarkable gentleman.

At the age of fifteen he was apprenticed to Russell Hubbard, of Norwich, a printer, and on coming of age was associated with him as editor and publisher of the Norwich Courier. He then went to Erie, Pa., as a surveyor, and was also a short time in the U. S. service as purser's clerk; in 1823 he came to Boston, established what is now the oldest printing office in that city, and printed the Boston Telegraph: a few years later he founded the firm of Perkins & Marvin in connection with his printing office, and published "Webster's Speeches," the "Church Psalmody" (the first hymnal to displace the old "Watts and Select"), some of Hawthorne's early works, and other noted books. At the time of his death he was probably the oldest master-printer in the country. He

For a sketch of his life, see American Quarterly Register, XV: 28, et seq. A more extended notice of Theophilus R. Marvin is given in *Fam. was for forty years on the Boston School Committee, six years in the City Council, a representative in the State Legislature, a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1853, and a trustee of various benevolent societies. In 1859 Williams conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts. The Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Brookline, in a memorial tribute to members of the Harvard Church, said :

There was a grand robustness in Mr. Marvin's character. He was a massive old Puritan, a man of a type fast passing away ; the friend of Webster, and Everett, and Lyman Beecher ; a man held in high esteem in the city ; several times asked to allow himself to be mentioned for high office, but always declining ; not very fond of conspicuity, but full of love and good works. In the olden days his home was noted for its hospitality. All philanthropic societies had the best help he could give them. And everything, I have been told (and I can well believe it from what I knew of him), was done royally and generously . . . .

He was much interested in the family history, and about 1845 published a small genealogy of the family, one of the first of the kind issued in the United States.

105 MEHITABLE,<sup>6</sup> daughter of Capt. Matthew<sup>s</sup> and Elizabeth (Deming) Marvin, born 26 Oct., 1773, in Lyme, Ct.; died there 16 Aug., 1857; married about 1792, her cousin, Lynde<sup>6</sup> Lord, son of Capt. Enoch and Hepzibah<sup>s</sup> (Marvin 33) Lord, born 17 July, 1767, in Lyme; died there 19 May, 1756. He graduated at Yale in 1783.

"Hitty" Marvin is the heroine of a romantic story, which her husband used to relate to his nephews and nieces, according to which, when a child of six or seven years old, she concealed her "cousin," Gov. Matthew Griswold, when pursued by Tories during the Revolution,—hiding him under a pile of linen which she was bleaching at the time, and while replying truthfully to their questions, was enabled through their misconstruction of her answers, to send them away without discovering the man they sought. This tale, which is given more fully in Fam. Hist. and Gen. (III: 173-4), with some comments, is believed by relatives to have had a foundation, though the exact incident has been forgotten. But Gov. Griswold was not her cousin, and as her husband was famous for telling "good stories," the tradition must be regarded as rather mythical. In the Stone Genealogy (40), the story is attributed to "Hitty's" mother, who was married when it was said to have occurred!

She joined the church in Lyme, September, 1803. Noah studied his profession in New Haven, Ct., and settled in Oxford in 1810, where he continued practice until his death.

He was town clerk and justice of the peace there for a quarter of a century, and served several terms as a judge of probate. He was a man of remarkable ability in various directions, especially in mathematics, and in his youthful days became quite proficient in astrology; the Stone Genealogy, 160 et seq., in a "Chapter of Modern Astrology," describes some predictions that he made, the accuracy of which proved so startling that young Stone himself was amazed, and became convinced that some evil agency had influenced him; he therefore renounced the study, burned his books on the science, and never more engaged in such questionable experiments.*

I have been in the harness since 1849, and have given forty-four years of my life to the service without a single vacation. . . . I did not go to the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, and I shall not go to the Fair at Chicago. Curiosity is not my vice. I have not even read "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

<sup>6</sup> Berkshire rec., LXIII: 309. Otis adjoins Sandisfield on the north, and Colebrook on the south. This sale most probably was made by the father, as Sylvanus, Jr., was not then of age. Accounts of this family, received from different sources, are conflicting. The rec. of Geneseo, N. Y., in 1796, contain a description of the "earmark" of the cattle of "Sylvester Marvin." (See Turner, Hist. of the Phelps and Gorham Purchase, 345-6.) We find no Sylvester, and as the father and brothers of Sylvanus were largely interested in the Purchase, and some of them settled there, the entry may refer to this son, and indicate that he also went there; but we have been unable to confirm this, and it is to be noted that a dau. of Sylvanus, b. that year, m. and lived in Colebrook. For much information concerning the chil. of this family we are indebted to Mrs. Nellie A. (Stillman) Deane, of Pasadena, Cal., whose gr.-mother, Mary E. (216), settled in Andover abt. 1820.

Y.; married 31 Jan'y, 1793, Comfort, daughter of Jesse and Miriam (Raleigh) Munson, of Granville, Mass., born about 1773; died in West Bloomfield, having survived her husband and married (2), — Landon. Jasper was one of the early owners of the Phelps and Gorham tract in Western New York, and settled there with his brother Matthew and perhaps Sylvanus, when a young man. In 1798, he "carried the mail from Canandaigua to Niagara Falls and sometimes dispensed with mail-bags, its contents being contained in a pocket-book."† He was adjutant of the Ontario co. reg't in 1795; a new regiment was formed out of that in 1796, in which he was appointed to the same office. He was chosen one of the town officers at the first meeting for the "District of Geneseo," held at Canawagus, 9 April, 1791; he was living there in 1796, and Turner says he died there, though one informant says he died

This remark applies to all of Ruth's chil. We are also under special obligations to Mrs. Mary I. (Jerome) Eaton, whose first husband was Col. Y.; died 11 Jan'y, 1892, in Jamestown, Chautauqua co., N. Y.; married 8 Sept., 1834, Isabella, daughter of David and Jane (McHarg) Newland, of Albany, born there 3 Aug., 1811; died 12 Feb., 1872, in Jamestown.

He passed his boyhood on his father's farm in Dryden, N. Y., making the most of his opportunities for study; becoming a teacher, he devoted his leisure to reading English classics and history, and acquired a knowledge of Latin, the only study in which he had instruction. In 1826 he began the study of law in the office of Hon. Mark H. Sibley, of Canandaigua, N. Y., where he had the counsel of Gen. Dudley Marvin, then a member of Congress. In 1829 he was admitted to practice and established himself in Jamestown, where he resided until his death. In 1835 he was elected to the State Assembly, and in 1836 and 1838 to Congress. In 1846 he was one of the Convention to amend the State Constitution; he was elected one of the Justices of the Supreme Court and entered on his duties 1 July, 1847; he occupied a seat on the Bench for more than twenty-four years, serving two years as one of the Justices of the Court of Appeals. He was counsel in several important cases in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of New York, and the U. S. Supreme Court: retaining his health and mental vigor to the very close of his life, he was frequently appointed by the Court to take references in actions, trying them and making a decision of all the issues, until he declined to accept further labor in this direction. In 1874 he delivered a Historical Address at a reunion of the old settlers of Chautauqua county, portions of which are printed in the County History.*

155 HON. WILLIAM,<sup>7</sup> son of Selden<sup>6</sup> and Charlotte (Pratt) Marvin, born 14 April, 1808, in Fairfield, Herkimer co., N. Y.; died 9 July, 1902, in Skaneateles, Onondaga co., N. Y.; married (1), 15 Oct., 1846, Harriet Newell, daughter of Hon. Elisha and Mary (Squier) Foote, of Cooperstown, Otsego co., N. Y., died 31 March, 1848, in Key West, Fla.; married (2), 11 July, 1866, Mrs. Elizabeth, widow of William H. Jewett, and daughter of John and Margaret (Kirkbride) Riddle, born January, 1824, in Newcastle; Del.; died 9 Oct., 1901.

Judge Marvin was admitted to the New York bar in 1833; appointed U. S. District Attorney for the Southern District of Florida by Pres. Jackson, in 1835, and made his home in Key West; he was appointed U. S. District Judge by Pres. Van Buren, and in 1847 Judge of the U. S. District and Circuit Court, established (chiefly for Admiralty cases) under special act of Congress, and his "Law of Wreck and Salvage," and his rulings and decisions have long been recognized as of the highest authority. Many of these will be found in "Federal cases." During the Civil war he was a consistent supporter of the Union, openly opposing secession, and his Court was almost indispensable to the nation as a Prize court. In July, 1865, Pres. Johnson appointed him Provisional Governor of Florida; while holding this office he was elected to the U. S. Senate by the State Legislature, but in spite of his loyalty acknowledged by Sumner in a speech in the Senate, he was excluded as not having been chosen at an election at which negroes voted; he then returned to New York, and in 1867 settled in Skaneateles. For many years he was Senior Warden of St. James's Church in that town.* In 1852 he received the honorary degree of A. M. from Hamilton. He published "The Authority of the Four Gospels," and a "Treatise on the Law of Average."

A photograph taken on his ninetieth birthday, shows him "as alert and active-looking as many men a score of years younger. When his father went to Andover, the trip west was made with an ox team; a cow was brought from New England, as it was thought it would be impossible to get one in the Western wilderness. When they passed through Buffalo the Indians had just burned that town, and the place was in ruins. At the age of 86, he learned to ride a bicycle, and now makes long runs into the country; he thinks nothing of a three or four mile tramp for exercise, and rarely lets a day pass without taking a long walk."

THE MATTHEW MARVIN LINE

FIRST GENERATION

MATTHEW, youngest son of Edward and Margaret Marvin, was baptized in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, Essex, England, 26 March, 1600; Rev. Robert Dernel was then its rector. His father's will gave him the "mentchon house called Edons alles (alias) Dreybrockes,* and ij Croftes of land called Hartles and Brocken Heddes," on the condition that he paid his mother yearly during her life "the fulle sume of Sexe Poundes," in default of which it was to pass to his brother Reinold with a like condition. He was then about fifteen years old. He probably resided there with his mother until her death in May, 1633.

He married (1), about 1622, Elizabeth —, born about 1604, judging from her age as given when she went to America; she died in Hartford, probably about 1640; and from the ages of his younger children, certainly not later than 1647. Rebecca is thought to have been Elizabeth's youngest child, as she is named in her father's will, but not in that of his second wife, who mentions her own children then living. He married (2), about 1647, Alice, widow of John Bouton, born about 1610; in her will, 1 Dec., 1680, she calls herself "aged about seventy;" she made oath to the inventory of her husband's estate 17 Dec., 1680, and died soon after; the inventory of her own estate is dated "the last of January, 1680/1."

* This house, in which Edward died, is still standing. See p. 22, supra.

Matthew sailed from London in the "Increase," Robert Lea, master,* having proved, 15 April, 1635, that his party had "taken the oathes of Allegiance and Supremacie: As also being conformable to the Government and discipline of the Church of England, whereof they brought testimony. ¶ Cert. from y<sup>e</sup> Justices and ministers† wher there abodes have latlie been."

He had been a "sydeman" at St. Mary's in 1621; "overseer" in 1627, and senior warden‡ in 1628. He is last mentioned there 22 Aug., 1633, when "William Littleburye, the servant of Matthew Meruin, was buried."§

The record of his departure calls him "husbandman, aet. 35," and names his wife and children "Elizabeth Marvynn, wxor, 31; Elizabeth Marvinn 31 [a clerical error for 13]; Matthew Marvynn, 8; Marie Marvynn, 6; Sara Marvynn, 3; Hanna Marvynn, ½." Some of his fellow-passengers appear as his fellow townsmen in Hartford, Farmington and Norwalk. The "Increase" sailed about the middle of April, and reached New England about the first of June.|| Where he spent the first few months after his arrival, is not known. His name is on the monument in honor of the first settlers of Hartford, the first of whom arrived there about November, 1635, and Matthew was one of "the twelve very earliest emigrants whose names are * See Drake's "Early Founders of New England," Hotten, etc.

† The Rev. William Simpson was no doubt the "minister" who certified that Matthew was "conformable." He had been appointed to St. Mary's by Archbishop Laud, 5 May, 1631.

‡ By the statute of 27 Henry VIII, cap. 25 (1536) Church wardens of parishes are put "co-equally with Mayors, Governors, and head officers of every city, borough and town corporate." See "The Parish, its Obligations, etc.," by Toulmin Smith. Note, p. 56. "The duty of Sidesmen was formerly the making of presentments . . . Their office was to give information in the synods or General Visitations, upon oath, concerning the manners of the people [and the parson]—testes synodales—evidently the original of the office of sidesmen or assistants, sometimes called Questmen." Ibid., p. 58.

§ St. Mary's Register has the following: "Memorandum yt nine shilling- six-pence ob: [oblation?] was gathered on Easter day for y<sup>e</sup> Plantation in Virginia. Item for y<sup>e</sup> same plantation January y<sup>e</sup> 22th 1619, 5s .. 6d."

|| Winthrop's Journal says one vessel arrived 4 June, 1635, after a voyage of five and a-half weeks; "three days after there came in seven other ships, and one to Salem, and four more to the mouth of the Bay." He does not give their names. Probably the "Increase" was one. Some have said she landed at Salem, for which we find no authority.

known,"* and who formed the company known as Adventurers, to whom belonged "Venturers' Field." He resided on the corner of Village (now Pleasant) and Front streets, the lot fronting east.

In 1640 he lived in the north-east part of the village [of Hartford]. His lot was bounded north on the road from Centinel Hill to North Meadow road; west, on Wm. Kelsey's lot; south, on Stephen Hart's; east, by road from Windsor to Wethersfield, by North Meadow.†

In an allotment to the proprietors of undivided lands in Hartford in which Matthew had rights, he received at one time 30 acres, and at another 28; the division was made according to the "proportions payed for the purchass of sayd lands."

He was 'Suruayer' (surveyor) of Highways 1639 and 1647. 9 Nov., 1640, Matthew and another were fined five shillings, "for puting ouer of their hoges ouer the great riuier" [the Connecticut]. March, 1641, in an agreement about fencing land to the corner of John Clark's lot, in the "Souldiers Field,"‡ (which he signs "Mathew Maruen,") he is to maintain a "Common gate" to the North Meadow; and "if any children shal be taken swinging by the said mathew meruill, he shall complayn to their parents or masters & if they doe not restraine them the second time it shall be lawful for him to [illegible] them, & if they brake the gate ther parents or masters shall make it good," etc.§

In 1648-9 he was voted ten shillings "for killing a wolfe." At a "Particular Court, 24 April, 1649, he was the plaintiff in a case against Matthew Beckwith for defamation of character, and recovered damages to the amount of £50. This was remitted by the Court on Beckwith's making a public retraction of the slander.

He apparently contemplated settling in Farmington, Ct., whither Reinold had gone, for both owned lands and dwelling houses there. Before 1653 (date of entry), Matthew sold to Nathaniel Kellogg his dwelling house and land there.¶ In 1650, he went to Norwalk, Ct., where he was one of the original settlers. In the Agreement of the Norwalk Planters with Roger Ludlow, 19 June, 1650, and in the deed from Runckinheage and ‡ John Clark was, we believe, the father of the husband of Matthew's daughter, Rebecca. "Souldiers Field" was "west of North Meadow creek, its eastern side nearly coinciding with the line of the railroad. It extended to the Meadow hill . . . on the west, and to Village street on the south, and embraced an arca of of from 60 to 80 acres." See Hartford in the Olden Time, 116.

other Indians, of 15 Feb., 1651, Matthew's name is third; in the confirmatory Patent of the General Court of 8 July, 1686 (after his death), "Mr. Matthew Marvin" is sixth.

His home-lot in Norwalk, of four acres, was "bounded east by Town's Highway, west by Daniel Kellogg's home-lot, north by Thomas Fitch's home-lot, south by Meeting-house yard and Matthew Marvin, Jr.'s home-lot."

Selleck says "this house-lot marked the 'Hollow' in which the new settlers passed their first days and nights." The "Meeting-house yard and Ancient Parade" (now or recently owned by H. M. Prowitt), forms the corner of East Avenue* and the "ancient county road from Stamford to Fairfield."

Hannah (Marvin) Seymour lived opposite, and a little to the south; Matthew, Jr.'s lot of three acres, two roods, was between that of Kellogg on the west and the "Meeting-house greene" on the east, running back to his father's estate, and fronting south on the road to Stamford.†

John Bouton, Matthew's step-son, and later his son-in-law, lived on the south side of the road after it turned westward, and his house was opposite his sister Bridget's, who lived next west of Matthew, Jr. Thus, like the patriarchs of old, clustered about his home were those of his sons and daughters.

The late Rev. Dr. Bouton, of Concord, N. H., a descendant of Matthew Marvin and of his son-in-law John Bouton, Jr., in an "Historical Sermon on the two hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the town," said "Respect was paid to age, character, rank and property, in assigning the Norwalk home-lots, and that of Matthew was evidently one of the most desirable. . . . His name is inscribed on almost every page of Norwalk's early history. . . . Devout, discreet, calm, sound in judgment, he gained and held the confidence of his fellow-citizens, and discharged for them many offices of civil life." The frequent use of the title "Mr.," as applied to him on the records, and the value of his estate, confirm this estimate of the man. The wealthiest proprietor was Thomas Fitch, whose estate of "lands and accommodations" was £314. That of Matthew was £279, and his son's estate was exactly half his father's, £139: 10, in 1652.

Toward the close of his life he made provision for his daughters, all of whom had married; some had already been remembered; to the others he made liberal gifts. Grants on the records, and the List of 9 Feb., 1671/2, in which his estate is reckoned at £169, show that he had given most of it to his children.*

He was sent as a Deputy in 1654, and was among the first to represent the town; † 19 May of that year he was "freed from Watching and training." The old records of the Church are irretrievably lost, and what position he held therein is unknown.

When the meeting-house was enlarged in 1664 to nearly double its original size, the town "appoynted Thomas Fitch sen. and Matthew Marvin sen., to call out as many many men as they think fitt. . . . To fell and cutt the timber and allso to summon each to draw the saied timber." When the enlargement was completed, Matthew and his associates were instructed "to provide a luncheon and a barrel of good beans for the help."

In 1678 began a quarrel about moving the location of the meeting-house; in 1680 a new and larger structure was erected on the opposite side of the street, some distance northward, but Matthew did not live to see it occupied.

The ancient Norwalk records have many references to his name, as one of the leaders in the foundation of the town; that it is still honored by its citizens was pleasantly shown in June, 1902, when the School Committee of the East Norwalk district, by a unanimous vote, decided to call the new school in that part of the town the "Marvin School."

The time of his death has not been found; his will is dated 20 Dec., 1678, and the inventory 12 July, 1680.

I: 29), show that 11 July, 1672, he sold to Peter Clayton or Clapton (also spelled Clapham), of Fairfield, a farm at 'Saukatuck,' of about forty acres, with buildings, etc. The deed was signed with his mark, due to his advanced age.

† Col. Rec. Ct., I: 256. Selleck says he served again in 1659 as an "Assistant," in the higher branch, but we do not find his name as such in the printed record. He also says that he was a wheelwright.

§ This Richard Bushnell was the son of his daughter Mary; Francis, mentioned in the next clause, had recently married his granddaughter, Hannah Seymour.

Dea. John Platt, one of the executors, was a brother-in-law of Lieut. Reinold<sup>s</sup> Marvin, having married Hannah Clarke, sister of the latter's wife, and daughter of George Clarke, of Milford; the families were closely connected by other marriages. John Bouton, the other, was Matthew's son-in-law. Of the Overseers, the Rev. Mr. Handford was the Norwalk minister, and Lieut. Olmstead commanded the train-band.

When the will was offered for probate, Matthew, Jr., objected to some of its provisions, but these objections were withdrawn in consequence of an agreement recorded 6 Nov., 1680:*

"We John Bowton [and Thomas Semer] in our owne and in our wives rights: and in the right of our brother and sister Clarke, doe Covenant and engage unto our sd brother Matthew Marvin . . . that [he] shall have the eighth part of the said effects." Signed Thomas Semer, John Bowton. The eight parts were doubtless those of the eight living children of Matthew. It was also agreed that Matthew<sup>r</sup> had disposed of certain lots to his son, Matthew, Jr. Matthew then withdrew his objections and "desires the Will to be probated." The widow made oath to the inventory 17 Dec., 1680, and the will was finally presented and approved 25 Jan'y, 1680/1.

† Until quite recently Alice was believed to have been the widow of — Kellogg, and following Judd and others who supposed her to be the mother (not the mother-in-law) of Daniel Kellogg, husband of Bridget, she was so called by the compiler of the Marvin Monograph in Fam. Hist. and Gens. Various documents have since been found showing she was the widow of a John Bouton (previously unknown to genealogists) by whom she had issue, three of them, John, Bridget and Richard, living when she married Matthew. The twenty pounds, called in Matthew's will "her true and proper estate," and the other personal property which she bequeaths, came from her first husband. Of those she names, "grandchild Sarah Brinsmead" was a married daughter of Bridget (Bouton) Kellogg; Ruth Bouton, was the posthumous child of Richard and Ruth (Turney) Bouton; Rachel Bouton, the daughter of John and Abigail (Marvin) Bouton, and Rachel Smith her own daughter by Matthew. For further information concerning these children see the note following Matthew Marvin's inventory above, from Fairfield Prob. rec., III: 59; see also p. 60 of that volume, and for various agreements proving the relationship given, see Fairfield Land Rec., 414; Fairfield Prob. rec., II: 1, 16 et seq., and N. ## SECOND GENERATION

2 ELIZABETH,<sup>2</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, baptized in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, England, 15 Sept., 1622; died in 1708;† s. p.; married‡ before 1650, Dr. John Olmstead (father's name unknown), probably a nephew of James, who came from London in the "Lion," in 1632, and in his will, mentions John as "kinsman." He died 2 Aug., 1686. In his will, probated 22 Sept., 1686, he calls himself "aged 60," which, says Savage, "was no doubt by several years too small a reckoning." He left a good estate; to the slaves he possessed he gave their freedom on the death of his wife.

He was a proprietor of Hartford "by courtesie of . . . town," in 1639;§ his home-lot was on the west side "of the road from George Steel's to the Great Swamp;" he removed to Saybrook, where he was a "leather sealer" in 1656; he was at Mohegan (afterwards Norwich) in 1659, with a home-lot near that of Adgate, his brother-in-law; in 1661 he is called a shoemaker there. Miss Caulkins says:¶ "He was undoubtedly the first physician of the settlement [Norwich], though the articles enumerated in his inventory would imply that he still continued his practice with the last and lap-stone. For several years he was on the Grand Jury of the county." He was a freeman of Norwich in 1662, and surgeon of part of the forces in King Philip's war.

Elizabeth's will was made 15 Oct., 1689. Among her bequests were £50 to the poor of Norwich; £10 to Mr. Fitch, minister of the church at Norwich; legacies to Serg't Richard<sup>3</sup> Bushnell, her nephew, and to "Bro. Adgate's four children," and a large tract of land in Windham to her hus-

* The only knowledge we have of this child is the mention of her name in Porter's Historical Notices of Connecticut, and in Hinman. We have been unable to find any other reference to her, or the source of their knowledge. She probably d. y. Bridget (Bouton) Kellogg also had a dau. Lydia.

† This date is given by Savage in Errata to p. 312 of III, printed in IV: 623.

‡ In Fam. Hist. and Gens. (following Memorial History of Hartford, I: 251), she is erroneously said to have m. (1), Thomas Gregory, of Norwalk, Ct.

band's two nephews of Norwalk; most of her real estate she gave to her "friend and kinsman, Samuel Lothrop," who was appointed executor.* The will was contested by her husband's relatives, but the Court sustained it. She is not mentioned in her father's will, though living at the time of his death.

3 MATTHEW,<sup>2</sup> son of Matthew<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, baptized 8 Nov., 1626, in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, England; died in 1712, in Norwalk, Ct. He came with his father in the "Increase." He married, probably about 1650, Mary —; she was living 28 March, 1707, at which time he made deeds of gift of all his estate to his sons Samuel and John, providing for her support; she probably died about 1709. He left no will, and the deeds mention only his daughter Hannah and a child of Elizabeth: they cover several pages in Norwalk Land Rec. (IV: 155 et seq.) He was in Norwalk certainly as early as 1651-2, and perhaps was one of the "thirty approved families" mentioned in the Agreement, 19 June, 1650, with Roger Ludlow, then of Fairfield, Ct., though not named in that document.

In the Deed made with Runckinheage and other "Norwake" Indians, 15 Feb., 1651/2, his name is the eleventh.† The consideration was "thirty fathom of Wampum," and various other articles, including kettles, coats, pipes, needles, etc.

His home-lot fronted on the road to Stamford, having the meeting-house lot on the east, his father's lot as its rear northern boundary, and Daniel Kellogg's lot on the west. His estate of "lands and accommodations," in 1665, was £135 .. 10. He is frequently called "Mr." on the Town Records, and was often intrusted with important matters of public business, in church and civil affairs. He was town clerk in 1660, '61 and '62; townsman or selectman in 1660 and 1679, and perhaps in other years; some of the records are missing, but apparently, by his signature as witness to a deed, on 15 April, 1694,‡ he served in that year also. He was "accepted to be made free" 13 Oct., 1664; the freeman's oath was ordered to be taken in the following May.

2 June, 1666, "Thomas Seymour, Matthew Marvin, Jr., Daniel Kellogg and John Bouton were granted all that creek lying between Thos. Seymour's barn and barren marsh, for which said persons were to procure a highway to Bouton's Island."

At the town meeting 22 Jan'y, 1669/70, "Mr. Thomas Fitch and Matthew Marvin junior, are desired and appointed, and it is left to their discretion, to treat with the Indians touching the lands between the West branch of Norwalk river and Saketuk river." He was again appointed on a similar committee, in June, 1670.

9 March, 1685, "Mathew Marven is freed from trayning not from watching and warding," at a Court held in Fairfield. (Fairfield rec., I: 194.)

4 December, 1688, the town voted that "a fence shall be made and sett up for ye taking in of a winter wheat field . . . the first lott should begin att ye gate; which first lott was drawn by Matthew Marvin Senr.* There were thirty-one lots, and "Matthew, Jr.," drew No. 23.

20 Feb., 1694/5, he was the chairman of a committee with full powers to repair the old bridge across the Norwalk river, or to build a new one as they might deem expedient.

At the town meeting 21 Feb., 1670/1, "Matt'iu Junior, was chosen to swepe the meating-house, and to have 20s. for his pains." From duties connected with the church assigned to him at a later period, it is thought that he was one of the deacons, but the church records have been destroyed. 16 Jan'y, 1694/5, he was on a "Towne committee," of which his brothers-in-law, Sergt. John Bouton and Samuel Smith, were also members, "to Exercise their best prudence to look out for, and to endeavor what in them lyeth, in the use of all lawful meanes, for to obtaine a faithfull Minister and Dispenser of the word of the Gospell to us in this place." They obtained the Rev. Stephen Buckingham, and 8 Oct., 1697, Matthew was appointed, with James Olmstead, "for to signifie unto the Reverend Elders at ye time of ordination, ye desire and good agreem<sup>t</sup> of ye towne with ye Church in ye ordayning" of that clergyman. The same month he was chairman of the committee of five "who are by ye Towne desired to take care for ye providing of a comfortable entertaynement for ye Reverend Elders and Messengers when heare at ye time of ordination; ye charge of their entertaynement to be payd by ye inhabitants of ye towne." 14 Jan'y, 1702/3, the "towne did by vote grant and allow unto Matthew Marvin, liberty to sitt in ye Deacon's seat before ye Pulpitt, for ye benefitt of his hearing ye word preached." He was then about 75 years old.

He owned large parcels of land in various parts of the town, described in the deeds of gift, and there are frequent references on the records to transfers in which he was one of the parties. His estate is given on the List of Commonage, 3 Jan'y, 1687, as £264 .. 05. On this List, which contains seventy-eight names, there are but five who are rated above him — among them, Mark St. John, whose daughter Rhoda married Matthew's son.

In the drawing of lots in 1709, in East Saugatuck, "Matthew Jr. and senr." received 418.10 acres of commonage, and 8 acres, 1 rood, 19 rods, — one acre to each £50 of commonage.*

Children, born in Norwalk, but not recorded there, and order uncertain :

10. i. Matthew,<sup>3</sup> b. abt. 1656.
- ii. Mary, b. abt. 1658; m. Daniel, son of Dea. Thomas and Mary (Bridgman) Benedict, of Southold, L. I.

He was living in 1723, as a deed (Norwalk Rec., V: 267) dated 15 Feb., 1722/3,† speaks of "Lieut. Daniel Benedict of Danbury, on y<sup>e</sup> accompaniment of his brother Matthew Marlin deceased." He was a soldier in King Philip's war, and took part in the "Direful Swamp-fight," 19 Dec., 1675, for which he was granted 16 Feb., 1677, by vote of the town, three parcels of land. He sold his Norwalk lands 25 March, 1690, and removed to Danbury, where he resided until his death. Matthew<sup>2</sup> bought his house and home-lot, about five acres, and gave it to his son Samuel.<sup>3</sup>

Children (Benedict), order uncertain :

1. Mary,<sup>4</sup> b. —.
  2. Daniel, b. —; m. Rebecca, dau. of Thomas and Rebecca (Ketchum) Taylor, of Danbury (Selleck, 378). His will, made 26 March, 1762, was proved 5 Aug., 1776. Rebecca was aged 98 when she d. (Selleck, 229).
  3. Mercy, b. —.
  4. Hannah, b. —; prob. m. Nathan Taylor, bro. of Rebecca above, who by Selleck is said to have been 100 when he d.
- iii Mercy [Marcy], b. abt. 1660; d. 22 July, 1711, "aet. 51" (gravestone); m. abt. 1698, as his second wife, "Mr." William Haynes, ‡ born in England, 1648; said to have sailed from London 8 Jan'y, 1685, in the "Betty;" d. 2 (12 ?) April, 1712, in Norwalk; will dated 1 April, 1712.

* The first and third of the name were then dead, and the second was upwards of 80; this drawing probably refers to some of the undivided lands in that part of the town in which the first Matthew had an interest.

† See Benedicts in America, 365.

‡ An engraving of his gravestone is given in Reports of Fairfield Historical Society (see p. xv, No. 96), on which his name is spelled Hanes, and on his wife's gravestone (No. 91) her name is given as Mary, by the same authority, which is an error either of the stone-cutter or the copyist. Various deeds show Mary m. Daniel Benedict. By his first wife he had two daus.

He was selectman in 1698. 15 May, 1705, the town awarded him 93 acres on "Haynes Ridge;" he also owned land in the lower part of the town, which he bequeathed to his daughter Mary, if she should live to be 18; at the death of her father she chose her uncle, Samuel Marvin, as her guardian, who qualified 4 June, 1712, giving a bond of £500; he had been made executor by the will of William, who calls him his "brother."

Child (Haynes), b. in Norwalk:

Mary,<sup>a</sup> b. 1699; d. 13 May, 1789; m. (1), 1718-9. Rev. Jedediah, son of Thomas and Margaret (Griswold) Buckingham, b. 2 Oct., 1696, in Saybrook, Ct.; d. 28 March, 1720, in Norwalk, while on a visit;<sup>o</sup> he grad. at Yale, 1714, and was the minister of the First Church in West Newark, now Orange, N. J.; they had one son; she m. (2), James, son of Thomas and Sarah Fitch, of Norwalk, and youngest brother of Gov. Thomas Fitch; d. 2 Feb., 1790. They had five chil., of whom James<sup>a</sup> m. Esther<sup>a</sup> Marvin (see 17, i).

11. iv. Sarah, b. abt. 1662, or earlier.
12. v. Samuel, b. abt. 1664.
13. vi. Elizabeth, b. 2 Dec., 1671.
14. vii. Hannah, b. abt. 1675.
15. viii. John, b. 2 Sept., 1678.†

4 MARIE,<sup>a</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>a</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, baptized 16 Dec., 1628, in St. Mary's Church, Great Bentley, England; died 29 March, 1713, in Norwich, Ct.; married (1), in Hartford, Ct., 11 Oct., 1648, Richard Bushnell, of Saybrook, Ct.,‡ born about 1620, in England; died in 1658, in Saybrook.§

† The dates of birth, with two exceptions, are conjectural; those of Mary and Sarah are inferred from the dates of birth of their eldest children. Possibly there were others whose names have not been found, some of whom died young, for it appears from the "List of the Children in Town," taken about 1672, that Matthew then had six children living. "Thomas Marvin," named by Selleck, is shown by various records in Norwalk and Fairfield to have been a Thomas Merwin. Samuel is said by Selleck, in his "Centenary of St. Paul's Church" (1886, p. 40, note), to have been the youngest son, but this we have no doubt is an error.

‡ Steiner, N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., LIII: 209, says he was the son of Francis and Rebecca Bushnell, of Guilford, Ct.; Chesebrough, Address at the 250th Anniversary of the First Church in Saybrook, 74 and 75, that he was the son of John. The accounts of this family are conflicting; see the Register, LIII: 212-214.

§ The movement to Norwich (where he is said to have lived near the close of his life) led by the minister of Saybrook, with many of the people of that town, occurred after his death.

A "200 pound lot" in Norwalk was granted Bushnell, but the date is not given by Hall, who says that "Robert Stewart, 22 Jan'y, 1674, bought it;" it was a short distance east of the estate of Matthew<sup>2</sup> Marvin, and fronted on the road to Fairfield.

Miss Caulkins<sup>o</sup> says that Richard's name appears among the owners of house-lots in Norwalk in 1656, but does not give the date of the grant. If Richard ever lived there, it was for a short period only.

Marie married (2), in 1659, as his second wife, Dea. Thomas Adgate, of Saybrook, born in England about 1620; died 21 July, 1707; his will, in which he spells his name Adgit, and says he was then in his eighty-fourth year, is dated 22 May, 1704; he was ordained, says Chesebrough, to his office in the First Church, Saybrook, in 1646, and resigned in 1660, when he removed to Norwich. Rev. Mr. Northup, of Norwich, says "the Adgates, father and son, served as deacons for eighty-nine years."

He was one of the earliest proprietors of Saybrook and Lyme; the Saybrook records mention him as present at a town meeting 7 Jan'y, 1665/6, with Reinold Marvin, William Waller, and William Bushnell; he was a freeman in Norwich in 1669; Miss Caulkins describes his home-lot. He was a townsman there in 1674, '76, '79, '80, '82, '84 and '86. By his first marriage Adgate had two daughters, Elizabeth and Hannah, the younger of whom married her step-brother, Richard Bushnell, Jr.

Children (Bushnell): †

- i. Joseph,<sup>2</sup> b. May, 1651, in Saybrook; d. 23 Dec., 1748, in Norwich; m. 28 Nov., 1673, Mary, dau. of Lieut. Thomas and Mary (? White) Leffingwell, of Norwich, b. 10 Dec., 1654; d. 31 March, 1745, in Norwich; they had eleven chil.
- ii. Richard, b. 10 Sept., 1652, at Saybrook; d. 27 Feb., ‡ 1727, in Norwich; m. 7 Dec., 1672 (? 1674), his step-sister Elizabeth Adgate, b. 10 Oct., 1651, in Saybrook, by whom he had four chil.§

<sup>o</sup> History of Norwich, 213. As Richard, Jr., was b. in Saybrook in 1652, it must have been his father to whom the grant was made; and since the latter d. in 1658, the sale to Stewart was perhaps in settlement of his estate.

† The arrangement and most of the dates, concerning several of which authorities differ, follow Steiner; see N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., as cited. For further particulars see Hyde Gen., Leffingwell Rec., and History of Norwich, as cited.

He was a prominent citizen of Norwich, a deacon in the church, captain of the train-band, and filled many other public offices, serving thirty-seven terms in the Legislature. 2 June, 1699, he received 100 acres of land in Lebanon, Ct., on the hill above Edward Culver's house, "because he had been at considerable charge with the proprietors in settling up the place."

- iii. Francis, ? b. Jan'y, 1653/4;* d. 1697, in Danbury, Ct., whither he moved from Norwalk, abt. 1680; m. Hannah, dau. of Thomas and Hannah (Marvin) Seymour. (See 13.) Francis and Hannah had four daus.
- iv. Mary, b. Jan'y, 1654, in Saybrook (and thus by Steiner, a twin sister of Francis); d. 2 Sept., 1745; m. Sept., 1674, Ens. Thomas, son of Lieut. Thomas and Mary Leffingwell, b. in Saybrook (probably on the "east side," Lyme), 27 Aug., 1649; d. 5 (25) March, 1723/4; they had eleven chil. (Caulkins, 214: Leffingwell rec., 31, has but nine.)

He left a very large estate, much of which had been given to his father by the Mohegan chief Uncas, for some friendly service rendered in one of his wars. Her epitaph reads:—
 "In memory of an aged nursing Mother of Gods New English Israel, viz: Mrs. Mary Leffingwell, wife to Ensign Thomas Leffingwell, Gent. who died Sept: ye 2nd, A.D. 1745. Aged 91 years."

- v. Mercie,† b. March, 1657; she is said by one authority to have d. unm., March, 1748, but we believe this may be an error, and that the following entry on Preston, Ct. rec., I: 11, refers to this Mercie: "The marriage of Jonathan Rudd and Marcy Bushnell. * This assignment of Steiner is not mentioned by Savage, Hyde, Miss Caulkins or Hinman. The latter makes the Francis who m. Hannah Seymour son of Lieut. William, while Steiner says that that Francis d. y. The frequent use of the same Christian names in the Bushnell family makes it difficult, and in some cases impossible, to identify different individuals, or to reconcile conflicting statements.

† Savage, Hinman and Hyde call her Mary; Miss Caulkins and Steiner, Mercy or Marcy. Steiner does not give this m. in his notes on the family; our attribution is perhaps justified by the fact that the western part of Preston is opposite Norwich (on the other side of the Thames), where Mercie's mother was then living, and by the ages of the parties; but we have found nothing which proves or disproves this assignment. The numbers, added for convenience, do not appear on the record.

Their grandson Samuel<sup>4</sup> was one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, Governor and Chief Justice of Connecticut, and their gr.-grandson Samuel<sup>6</sup> was Governor and Chief Justice of Ohio.* He settled in Windham in 1687, and built on land still owned by his descendants, who occupy a house in which was used some of the material of the original structure.

He was admitted a freeman of Connecticut, 15 May, 1656, and was one of the Grand Jury; he was confirmed 11 May, 1663, as ensign of the Wethersfield train-band,† and was a Deputy to the General Court from Wethersfield in 1660, '62, '65 and '66.

Sarah married (2), about 1680, Capt. William, son of John‡ and Elizabeth (Hutchins) Curtis (name variously spelled on the records as Curtis, Curtiss, Corteis, etc.), baptized 21 June, 1618; died 21 Dec., 1702; s. p. by this marriage.

He was one of the grantees of Woodbury, Ct., in 1672, but did not remove from Stratford; he was captain of the train-band and intrusted with important military duties. He was sixteen times elected Deputy to the General Court. His will, dated 15 Dec., 1702, exhibited 31 Dec., 1702, makes no mention of his wife. Her will, dated 21 Oct., 1697, and later changed orally, is recorded at Fairfield; it bears the written approval of Capt. Curtis, and his "desire that it may have probate."§

Children (Goodrich), all but the first two (and probably those also) born in Wethersfield:

- i. William,<sup>3</sup> b. 8 Aug., 1649; d. inf.
- ii. Sarah, twin to William; d. abt. 1700; m. 20 Nov., 1667, John, son of Lieut. John and Jemima [Joann?] (Treat) Hollister, of Wethersfield; d. 24 Nov., 1711; they res.

* See Goodrich Fam., 34; this name is spelled Goodredg on the Wethersfield, Ct., rec.

† Col. Rec. Ct., II: 17.

‡ We follow the Ruggles Gen., by Henry S. Ruggles, of Boston, which differs from the History of Stratford, in which he is erroneously called the son of William (who was his uncle) and Elizabeth; William's wife was not Elizabeth but Sarah Eliot. Savage points out some of the errors in various accounts of the family, but was unable to correct them. For further information concerning Capt. William, see Trumbull, History of Connecticut, I, passim, and History of Stratford, 126, 127, etc.

§ The date of 16 Jan'y, 1701/2, which appears on the copy of her will, stating his desire, in our opinion belongs to this part of the record, as it was presented 7 Jan'y, 1701/2, and Goodwin errs in taking this to be 1702/3. If we are correct in this, the inference above, that Sarah d. "near the close of 1701," seems justified.

Prudence, dau. of Benjamin and Mary Churchill, b. 2 July, 1678; d. 9 May, 1752; they had twelve chil.; res., Wethersfield.

He was a lieutenant colonel in the French war. Among his descendants were Lieu.-Gov. Chauncey Goodrich, of Ct., Samuel G. Goodrich ("Peter Parley"), Prof. Chauncey A. Goodrich, of Yale, and others of distinction. For further particulars see Goodrich Family, and works there cited.

6 HANNAH,<sup>2</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, born in England about October, 1634, according to the record of her age when she sailed with her father in the "Increase;" her birth was not found on St. Mary's Parish Register. The date of her death is unknown, but she was living in November, 1680, when the agreement withdrawing exceptions to her father's will was signed; she probably died not long afterward. She married 5 Jan'y, 1653/4, in Norwalk, as his first wife, Thomas, eldest son of Richard and Mercy Seymour (on the old records spelled Semer and Seamer). Thomas is believed to have been born about 1632, in or near Bury Pomeroy, Heytor Hundred, Devon, England, where his father resided. He married (2), Elizabeth ——. His will was made 22 Sept., 1712, and probated 7 November, following.

The Memorial History of Hartford, Ct. (I: 258), has an account of the Seymours. Richard was of Hartford, 1639; of Farmington, Ct., in 1652, and in Norwalk in 1655, where he had a home-lot near the elder Matthew Marvin's, and directly opposite the "Parade." This lot came into the possession of Thomas shortly after his marriage. His name does not appear in the earliest Norwalk deeds, but he had an estate there in 1655, and is mentioned with several of the first settlers in the confirmatory patent issued by the General Court 8 July, 1686. In 1673 his "estate of lands and accommodations" was £100; in 1687 his "estate of Comonage" was £184.. 15. Thomas was made freeman in 1668; chosen selectman 1689 and '92, and a deputy to the General Court in 1690. On 22 Dec., 1709, he drew two acres of land and 100 acres of commonage in the Saugatuck territory. (Norwalk rec., IV: 158.)

Children (Seymour), born in Norwalk:

- i. Hannah,<sup>3</sup> b. 12 Dec., 1654; m. 12 Oct., 1675, Francis,<sup>3</sup> son of Richard and Mary<sup>2</sup> (Marvin) Bushnell,* b. Jan'y, 1653/4; d. 1697, in Danbury, Ct.; his will is recorded in Fairfield, Ct., and names seven daus., Hannah,<sup>4</sup>

* See 4, iii, p. 304, and note.

Mary, Abigail, Lydia, Marcie, Rebecca and Judith, several of whom lived to a great age; the inventory is dated Oct., 1697, and his estate, after debts were paid, was valued at £223 .. 16.

In 1681 "the towne by vote ordereth to purchas of Francis Bushnell a drum for the Towne's use; and also the Traine band to haue the use of the same at convenient time, untill the said companie shall procuer one; and provided the sayd drum can be procured upon Reasonable Termes." Matthew Marvin bequeathed him four acres of land and £10 commonage. His house in Norwalk was on the Fairfield Path, at the foot of Strawberry Hill. He removed to Danbury, Ct., as a deed on Norwalk Land rec. (1: 109) calls him "formerly of Norwalk, now of Danbury."

- ii. Abigail, b. Jan'y, 1655/6; m. 16 Nov., 1676, Thomas, son of John and Margaret Picket, bap. Nov., 1648, in Salem, Mass.; res., Stratford, Ct.; Savage names three of their chil.
- iii. Mary, b. Sept., 1658; m. May, 1682, Dea. Joshua, son of Lieut. William and Rebecca (Chapman) Bushnell, b. 6 May, 1644, in Saybrook, Ct.; d. March, 1710; they had three chil.
- iv. Sarah, twin to Mary.
- v. Thomas, b. Sept., 1660; d. y.
- vi. Elizabeth, b. Dec., 1663; prob. d. y.*
- vii. Mercie, b. Nov., 1666 ("One thowsand sixe hundr'd sixtie sixe," Norwalk rec.).
- viii. Matthew, b. May, 1669; m. Sarah, dau. of Samuel and Ruth (More) Hayes, b. 19 Sept., 1673; they had eleven chil. Ruth was a dau. of Isaac More, a fellow passenger with Matthew in the "Increase."
He is styled lieutenant in 1718; he was selectman 1704, '10, '12, '16, '19, '23 and '26. (For further particulars see Trumbull, Hall, and History of Ridgefield.)
- ix. John, b. 1672; m. Sarah, believed to be dau. of John Gregory, † b. Dec., 1667; he was selectman 1718; they had six chil.

* Bouton (260) of course erroneously, says she m. Eleazer Bouton, b. 1695! and assigns her twelve children, of whom the first was b. Nov., 1723, when she was about 60, and the twelfth when she was 87! comment is needless; we have found no other mention of her marriage.

† See Hall, 186; the accounts received are conflicting. One informant makes Sarah dau. of Jachin Gregory, and "Jachin" is not an uncommon Bouton name in later generations.

- x. Elizabeth, b. Dec., 1673. ("Desember 1000 sixe hundrede seaventie three." Norwalk rec.)
 xi. Rebecca, b. Jan'y, 1675/6.

7 ABIGAIL,<sup>2</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, born in Hartford, Ct., about 1637-8; she was living in December, 1680, when her step-mother died, but probably died soon after; married as his first wife, "January ith, 1656/7" (Norwalk rec.), John, son of John and Alice Bouton;<sup>6</sup> died 1706-7; his will is dated 25 Dec., 1706,† and was approved 27 January following. He married (2), Mary —,‡ by whom he had issue.

His will§ has his autograph "John Buton," the last three letters of the name written on the line below the rest. A wax seal is attached, but the device has disappeared; in it he styles himself "of Norwalk" (not of Danbury, as stated in the Bouton volume, which confuses three of the name). He mentions wife Mary; sons Matthew, Joseph, Thomas and Richard; daughters Rachel Sension, Abigail Smith, Hannah Betts, Elizabeth Warrin and Mary Bouton; grandchild John Bouton, of Danbury (who was son of John,<sup>2</sup> dec'd); it was witnessed by William Haines and John Gregory. Joseph his son, and Mary his widow, approved it when presented, but "Matthew Sension, Edman Warrin and James Betts, sons-in-law to the deceased John Bouton, agrieved, appealed." Joseph approved the inventory 18 Feb., 1706/7. The will as allowed was recorded 7 Feb., 1708/9.

John Bouton, Jr., was in Norwalk, 1655, and was one of the earliest proprietors, though his name does not appear in the Ludlow agreement. His lot of four acres was opposite Matthew Marvin, Jr.'s, a little further west,

* The accounts of John Bouton in the Bouton-Boughton Family, in Hall's Norwalk, 182, by Mr. S. W. Benedict, in the History of Fairfield County, and in the Whitney Family, substantially agree, but we have shown them to be erroneous by the documents cited from Fairfield Prob. rec., discovered since these books were printed. (See note, 296 supra.)

† The year is spelled out in full, on the original document, which the writer examined in Fairfield.

‡ The Bouton-Boughton Family gives the date of this m. as 1673, and says she was "Mrs. Mary, widow of Jonathan Stevenson, who was killed in the Swamp-fight with the Indians near Norwalk." That his second wife was Mary, appears from his will; whether she was the widow of Stevenson we know not, but as Abigail was living when her mother-in-law made her will (Dec. 1, 1680), as the Swamp-fight was in Rhode Island (nowhere near Norwalk) in Dec., 1675, and as Norwalk granted Stevenson land 20 Feb., 1677/8, for his services in that fight, we are incredulous; we have not ascertained how long Jonathan survived after the recognition of his valor.

on the corner of the Stamford road, with the minister's and John Ruscoe's on the east. Thomas Lupton was on the south, who sold to Platt in 1665, and in 1674 Bouton purchased of Platt.

In 1675 his estate of "commonage" was £100, and in 1787, £184..15. He was chosen "survaio<sup>r</sup>" in 1670; was selectman in 1671, '74, '79, '83, '84, '85 and '89, and represented Norwalk in the General Court in 1671, '73, '74, '75, and again some years later, until 1685. In 1678 he was on a "comite chosen to oversee the work about the meting-house," and one of those to entertain the gentlemen called to settle the differences about moving that building. In 1686 he was on the committees to seat the new meeting-house, and to "settle the differences about the head-lynes," and 16 Jan'y, 1694/5, to obtain a minister. He was one of the executors of the will of Matthew,<sup>1</sup> and was "serjeant" of the Norwalk train-band.

Children (Bouton), born in Norwalk :*

- i. John,<sup>2</sup> b. 30 Sept., 1659; d. 3 Jan'y, 1704/5, in Danbury, as appears by the inventory of his estate recorded on Fairfield Prob. rec.; m. ? Mary Hayes,† and had issue.
- ii. Matthew, b. 24 Dec., 1661; removed to Danbury, m. and had issue; he is called lieutenant on Norwalk rec.
- iii. Rachel, b. 15 Dec., 1667; "married Matthias St. John [abt. 1690], settled in Ridgefield, Ct., and had issue;" her husband b. abt. 1660; d. 1740. (Hall, 186, 304.)
- iv. Abigail, b. 1 April, 1670; m. Oct., 1691, Ebenezer, son of Kiliab and Hannah (Hitchcock) Smith, b. 11 July, 1668, in Hadley, Mass., and had issue. (Selleck, 431.)
- v. Mary, b. 26 May, 1671; prob. d. y.
- vi. Hannah, b. 1673?; m. James Betts.
- vii. Elizabeth, b. abt. 1677?; m. 6 Oct., 1698, Edmund "Waring" (Warren), b. 1673; d. 5 Aug., 1749, act. 76; he was of Oyster Bay, L. I., when m., and eleven of their twelve chil. were b. there; their youngest child was b. in Norwalk, where the births of all are recorded.‡

---

* The dates of only five are given on the Norwalk rec., cited by Hall; that assigned to Hannah (called "daughter" in her father's will, but not named in Bouton), and those of the younger children there given, which we omit as not of Marvin blood, are conjectural. There were probably other children who d. y.

† Selleck, 349, says she was a dau. of Nathaniel Hayes, and that while his will makes no reference to a Bouton dau., there is on the Norwalk Land rec., in 1699, a distinct mention of such a dau.

‡ See Hall, 194. For "Waring," see Hist. of Stamford. The dau. "Mary," called by her maiden name in the will, was prob. by second wife; she m. 1706, David Waterbury, perhaps son of John and Mary, of Stamford, when she would have been 35, if the dau. of Abigail. "Sension" is often used for St. John on the records.

8 REBECCA,<sup>2</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth Marvin, born about 1639, in Hartford, Ct.; died before her husband, but no record of her death or marriage has been found. In Matthew's will (Dec., 1678) "Rebecca Clarke of Farmington" is named as his daughter; she is believed to have married John Clark, (Jr. ?), of Farmington; Rev. Samuel Hooker enrolled 1 March, 1680, "John Clark and his wife" as members of the First Church in that town,* and the names of eight out of twelve of that John Clark's children, as given by Gay (whom we follow), are identical with the names of eight of Matthew's children; it would seem that this was more than a mere coincidence.

The identity of the father of this John is unknown; it has been claimed that he was John of Hartford, who was a contemporary there with Matthew. Gay says: "The descendants of John Clark of Farmington believe that he was identical with John of Cambridge, Mass., and with John of Hartford, and this is set down as an ascertained fact† by Rev. Wm. S. Porter, a genealogist of great industry and local research. The Clarks of Saybrook, Ct., claim that John of Cambridge, of Hartford, and of Saybrook, were identical, and quote the authority of Hinman. No contemporaneous record has been found to confirm or subvert either theory." John was made a freeman of Farmington in May, 1664,‡ and was in office there in 1691. The record has: "John Clark of Farmington y<sup>e</sup> aged Departed his Natural Life twenty-second of Novemb<sup>r</sup> In y<sup>e</sup> year of o<sup>r</sup> Lord 1712." His will is dated 8 Feb., 1709/10, and has a codicil of the day before he died.

* "Record of the Descendants of John Clark of Farmington," by Julius Gay, 15. No Christian name of the wife is mentioned, but we are informed that the Church rec. contain no others of the name at that time members, who meet the conditions.

† Instead of being an "ascertained fact," it is a disputed question whether the "John Clark of Farmington [whose descendants are traced by Gay], was identical with John of Cambridge and John of Hartford." That John brought a wife and four chil. from England in 1632, of whom the youngest was more than eight years older than Rebecca; he was a freeman of Cambridge before 1636, when he went to Hartford with Hooker. John of Saybrook d. in 1672, and his widow went to Farmington, and d. there 22 Jan'y, 1678 (Gay, 10, 11); this John had a son John, whose wife was Rebecca, but it is evident from various authorities that she was not Rebecca Marvin. The agreement printed on 294, supra, shows that Rebecca and her husband were living 6 Nov., 1680, and Gay gives the date of baptism of their youngest child as ten years later. Clearly, therefore, Matthew's dau. m. neither John of Saybrook nor John of Hartford and Cambridge; her husband may have been a son of the latter, but certainly was not the son of the former. There were many John Clarks in New England who were contemporaries at this period, and the identification of the father of Rebecca's husband does not seem possible with our present knowledge.

‡ Col. Rec. Ct., I: 412, 427.

The house of Sergt. John<sup>s</sup> Clark, built before 1702, was on the east side and near the corner of High street and the Hartford road; it stood until 1880, and is shown in the frontispiece of the Clark Genealogy (by Gay); it is described in "Early Connecticut Houses," 18-20; here his younger brother Matthew<sup>s</sup> died.

9 RACHEL,<sup>e</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>e</sup> and Alice Marvin, baptized 30 Dec., 1649, in Hartford, Ct.; died about 1687; married probably about 1670-1, "Mr. Samuel Smith" of Norwalk; Selleck says he was the son of Samuel and Elizabeth Smith; he was living in 1722-3.

In 1672 he owned "a parcel of land in Indian Field," not far from the Norwalk-Westport boundary. In 1673 his estate of lands, etc., was £70. He was propounded for a freeman in Norwalk in 1674; 20 August of that year Matthew<sup>e</sup> gave<sup>e</sup> "to my sonne Samuel Smith of Norwalk, £50 worth of my comonage, half my homelot, and half my orchard, as it lyeth, with free egress and regress, . . . on condition that he pay £20 to Ruth Bowton my grandchild when she shall attain to the age of eighteen years." This grant was confirmed by Matthew's will.

20 Feb., 1680/1, he had a grant of a home-lot of four acres adjacent to Strawberry Hill. In 1687 his estate of lands and commonage was £204 .. 15. He was often intrusted with public duties. In 1679 he was town treasurer, and at a meeting 4 Oct., of that year, it was "Voted and agreed that the Towne would stand by" him, "in case of need, to straine any that either neglect or refuse to pay." He was on the committee, with Matthew<sup>3</sup> Marvin and John Bouton, to obtain a minister. In 1690 he represented Norwalk in the Legislature; in 1698, 1702, '06 (in which year he is called "Sr."), and '12, he was "townsman," and in 1705 and '06 he was on the committee to seat the meeting-house "according to y<sup>e</sup> order of y<sup>e</sup> Towne, . . . to order and determine that matter to their best discretion, they to have respect to age, quality, and the estates of persons in y<sup>e</sup> publique list, and y<sup>e</sup> Towne to abide their determination." In 1699 he was paid 2s. 6d., for "Towne barra," and 10s. for killing "one Wolfe." Thomas Fitch, King's Commissioner, made him one of the overseers of his will.

Children (Smith), born in Norwalk, order uncertain; there were probably others:

- i. Rachel,<sup>3</sup> b. 1672 or 1673?; d. 1 Dec., 1737, "the pious and virtuous consort;" m. 13 May, 1697, Ens. Thomas, son of Thomas and Mary (Messenger) Benedict, b. 5 Dec., 1670, in Norwalk, and a nephew of Lieut. Daniel, who m. Mary<sup>3</sup> Marvin; d. 10 May, 1743; they had seven chil.; he m. (2), Hannah Knapp, who survived him. He was often surveyor, selectman, etc. His will was proved 5 June, 1744, and the inventory (£160) included a negro man named "Winsor."*
- ii. Lydia, b. —; m. 23 Oct., 1707, James, son of Ephraim and Mercie (St. John) Lockwood, b. 21 April, 1683, in Norwalk.

He represented Norwalk thirty years in the Legislature, and was commissioned lieutenant of the second Norwalk train-band 14 Oct., 1731, and later is called colonel. They had seven chil., one of whom, Rev. James,<sup>4</sup> declined the presidency of Princeton, 1758, and of Yale, 1766. From Lydia and James was also descended the distinguished jurist, Chancellor James<sup>6</sup> Kent, a great-grandson. (See Lockwood Gen., and Selleck, 185, 263, 278, 289, 291, for further particulars.)

- iii. Samuel, b. abt. 1684?; d. 25 Jan'y, 1764, in Ridgefield, Ct., of which he was an original proprietor; m. ### THIRD GENERATION

10 MATTHEW,<sup>3</sup> son of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, born about 1656, in Norwalk; died 7 Oct., 1691†; the inventory of his estate, recorded at Fairfield, was sworn to by his widow 3 Nov., 1691; married about 1688, Rhoda, daughter of Mark and Elizabeth (Stanley) St. John, born 12 Aug., 1666; her father's home-lot in Norwalk was on the west side of the Main street, a little south of the "Ancient Parade." She was living in 1702, when she bought a parcel of land of Matthias "Sension;" the date of her death we have not found. Matthew left no will; the inventory, copied from the original in the files of the Fairfield Probate records, follows:

This Agreement is interesting, not only as it enables us to infer the date of death of Matthews and his only child (as noted), but as showing the care with which the fathers of Rhoda and her husband protected the interests of their children, in view of a possible future marriage of the widow.

Child :

i. Mary,<sup>4</sup> b. 1689, in Norwalk (as shown by the foregoing agreement). Nothing further has been found. †

ii SARAH,<sup>3</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, born in Norwalk, Ct., about 1662 or earlier; married 13 Jan'y, 1680, Thomas, son of Thomas and Mary Betts, born 3 June, 1650, † in Guilford, Ct.; died in 1717; (will dated 5 Sept.,

* This is probably the date of death of Matthew,<sup>3</sup> and we infer from the context that the child was then two years old.

† A correspondent thinks she m. John, son of Thomas Taylor, of Danbury, b. 1672-3; d. 1742, aged 70; who is said to have "married — Marvin." We find no authority, but it seems at least equally probable that John may have m. a dau. of Matthew<sup>2</sup> whose name we have not found, and who was probably nearer his age.

‡ Hall, 275, quoting Guilford rec.; but Betts, quoting the same rec., has 1644, and gives 1650 to a younger bro. of Thomas, with which Savage in part agrees. Betts' account seems more probable.

proved 25 Dec.); the inventory, made by his brother-in-law John Marvin, and recorded at Fairfield, appraised his estate at £601.. 15s. . . 5d. His father is said to have come from Buckinghamshire, England, to Guilford; he was later in Milford, Ct., and in Norwalk about 1659.

The lands and accommodations of Thomas, Jr., were valued in 1673 at £10; 3 Jan'y, 1687, his estate of commonage was £99..06s..02d. In 1677 he bought the Fenn estate on the Stamford road, next west of Daniel Kellogg's; this lot had originally been granted to the elder Thomas, but he "resigned it up." He was appointed 24 Feb., 1694/5, with others, to "erect a new bridge or repair the old one" over Norwalk river, and was also on the committee to entertain "the Reverend Elders." He was a townsman 1702, 1706, 1713; on the committee to seat the meeting-house in 1706, and 16 Dec., 1708, to select a burial place on the west side of the river. In 1709, he was one of the four allowed to "Damm up y<sup>e</sup> crick," to erect a grist mill, "To grind all grain into good and sufficient meal for y<sup>e</sup> town, for the toal stated in y<sup>e</sup> law; and not to grind for any strainger coming with his grain to said mill, so long as any of y<sup>e</sup> Inhabitants of this Towne's grain is lying in said mill unground, excepting any of said inhabitants shall allow any strainger their turn." (Norwalk rec.) He represented the town in the Legislature, in May, 1692, Oct., 1694, May and Oct., 1704, Oct., 1705, and May, 1707.

Children (Betts)*:

- i. Thomas,<sup>4</sup> b. 28 Jan'y, 1681/2 (Town rec.); d. 1761; will dated 12 Feb., proved 31 Dec.; m. Deborah —, and had six chil. He was several times selectman, and was called sergeant in 1732.
- ii. John, b. 7 July, 1684; d. 7 June, 1745 (gravestone); m. 15 April, 1708, Hannah, dau. of John and Hannah (Lockwood) Burwell, of Greenwich, Ct., b. 30 March, 1687; d. 17 Nov., 1751; they had ten chil. He was twice chosen selectman.
- iii. Sarah, b. 21 Jan'y, 1686/7; d. — (living in 1729); m. as his second wife, 11 Dec., 1712, her cousin, Capt. Samuel, son of Samuel and Sarah (St. John) Keeler, b. 1682, d. 8 Aug., 1763; he was a nephew of Rhoda, wife of Matthew<sup>3</sup> Marvin. They had six chil., of whom Sarah,<sup>2</sup> b. 1 Jan'y, 1714/5, m. Isaac<sup>4</sup> (20) Marvin as his second wife.

* The accounts in Betts Gen., 34-39, in Hall, 274, and in Selleck, 235 et seq., vary slightly. See also Benedict, Lockwood and Rockwell-Keeler Gens.

iv. Matthew, b. 10 Jan'y, 1691/2; d. abt. 1750, as in October of that year his wife and son were appointed to administer his estate; m. Abigail —, and had five chil.

v. Mary, b. 31 March, 1694; m. as his second wife, abt. 1724, John Bartlett, of Norwalk, b. 5 Oct., 1677; d. 5 Aug., 1761.

He had previously m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Haynes by his first wife (see 10, ii), who d. 26 Feb., 1723/4; he had issue by both marriages. He was selectman 1718, '23, '31, '33, '34, '37, '45 and '47; he was chairman of the committee to sell the old building when the new meeting-house was finished in 1723.

vi. Elizabeth, b. 23 Oct., 1699; m. Thomas Seymour, and had issue.

12 LIEUT. SAMUEL,<sup>3</sup> son of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, was born in Norwalk, Ct., probably about 1664, but we have been unable to find any record of his birth, marriage or death. His will, we have been informed, was dated in 1744, but persistent efforts, continued for several years, have failed to discover it. He was living in Feb., 1744/5, and his son was called "Samuel, Jr." in 1754, but "Samuel" in 1759. He married about 1701-2, Hannah, daughter of Dea. John and Hannah (Clark) Platt, of Norwalk, a niece of Sarah, wife of Lieut. Reynold<sup>2</sup> Marvin, of Lyme, born 15 Dec., 1674.*

Samuel was one of the appraisers of his wife's father's estate. He was often in public office; he was chosen townsman 1702, '07, '10, '12, '14,† '17, '24 and '27; he was "Lyster" 1716 and '23; "Survivor" 1719, '21; representative, 1708 and '18; ensign of the train-band 1712 or earlier, and "established and confirmed Lieutenant of the South Company or train-band of Norwalk" by the Legislature 19 Oct., 1719.‡

* She is identified by her father's will (Fairfield Prob. rec., 1702-24: 72), in which she is called "my daughter Hannah Marvin." The Norwalk rec. has "borne the 15th of Desember, Anno 1674. I say the fifteenth of Desember, Anno 1674." The reason for this somewhat emphatic entry does not appear; no record of her death has been found.

† On the record of the town meeting for 11 Dec., 1717, an amusing feat of the town clerk is shown by a large "Samuel" preceding a brace, which is followed by the names of Comstock, Betts, Kellogg, Marvin and Raymond, — the Christian name of each of the townsmen elected that year being Samuel.

‡ Col. Rec. Ct., VI: 158.

3 June, 1723, he was on the committee to seat the new meeting-house, of which his brother-in-law, Joseph Platt, was chairman; from Feb., 1732, until his death, he lived in Wilton parish. His house in Norwalk, one of the oldest there, was standing in 1902. By a deed, recorded at Norwalk 17 Dec., 1735, Isaac, his "loveing son," was given land called "Wolfpitt Hills,"* Matthew, "a portion," Josiah, "land equal to Matthew's." Samuel also received a gift of land the same day. Josiah was given more land 27 April, 1741, Isaac, 19 Dec., 1744, and Samuel, Jr., 18 Jan'y, 1744/5; two of these three deeds Lieut. Samuel signed with his mark, indicating he was then infirm. A very careful search fails to find a final division of his remaining property.

Children, born in Norwalk (no record found); arrangement based on births of their eldest children; there were probably others who d. y. :

16. i. Matthew,<sup>4</sup> b. Oct., 1703 (1703, by one informant).
17. ii. Samuel, b. abt. 1704 or '05.
18. iii. Abigail, b. abt. 1706?
19. iv. Josiah, b. abt. 1710.
20. v. Isaac, b. 1713.
21. vi. Lewis, b. 1716 (or earlier?).
- vii. Joseph, b. abt. 1718.

13 ELIZABETH,<sup>3</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, born about 1671 in Norwalk, Ct.; died 9 April, 1703; married 6 Nov., 1700, Joseph, son of Dea. John and Hannah (Clark) Platt, of Norwalk, and a brother of the wife of Lieut. Samuel<sup>2</sup> Marvin, born 17† Feb., 1662 (Town rec.), in Norwalk; died 12 June, 1748 (gravestone in the old Norwalk cemetery). He married (2), 26 Jan'y, 1704 (Town rec.), Hannah Hanford, by whom he had issue.

Joseph was sergeant and captain of the train-band; 21 Feb., 1698, "as he was a souldier out in the service against the common enemy the Towne as a gratification for his good service do give and grant unto him ten Acres of land, to take it up a mile from the Town, and wheare it lyes free not yet pitcht upon by any other persons." Another grant of sixteen acres at West Rocks is recorded to him 11 Jan'y, 1699. He served on many important committees: when Wilton was set off in 1725, he was on the * Northwest and half a mile away from the house later occupied by Capt. Ozias (29) Marvin; land on these hills is still in Marvin ownership.

† Hall, 186, gives 17 (as if written out in full on the record), and on 197 has 14; we judge the latter to be an error.

committee to establish the bounds, and is styled "y<sup>e</sup> Worshipfull Joseph Platt, Esq." In 1726, when the town was dissatisfied with the "conversation" of their minister, he was one of those appointed to "manage the whole affair." He represented Norwalk in the Legislature for about half a century. He was selectman 1711, '15, '18, '20, '22, '24, '26 and '28.

Child (Platt):

- i. Elizabeth,<sup>4</sup> b. 2 Dec., 1701, in Norwalk; d. 16 May, 1732, "of an apoplexy;" m. as his third wife, abt. 1723, Rev. Samuel, son of Thomas, Jr., and Sarah (Mason) Cooke, b. 22 Nov., 1687, in Guilford, Ct.; d. 2 Dec., 1747; they had three sons.

He grad. at Yale 1705; was rector of the Hopkins Grammar School 1707-15, deputy in the Legislature and later its clerk, and trustee of Yale 1732-45. (See Dexter's Biog. Sketches of Yale Grads.) 8 Feb., 1721/2, Elizabeth, under her maiden name, acknowledged the receipt of "3*l* in bills credit, in provision of which my grandfather gave me in a deed of gift to my sd uncle" [Samuel Marvin]. (Norwalk rec.) 28 Jan'y, 1722/3, Samuel calls her "my cousin [i. e. niece] Elizabeth Platt, daughter of Joseph." (Ibid.)

14 HANNAH,<sup>3</sup> daughter of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, born about 1675, in Norwalk, Ct.; died about 1703, in Huntington, L. I.; married as his first wife,<sup>6</sup> Epenetus, son of Epenetus and Phebe (Wood) Platt, born 4 April, 1674, in Huntington, whither his father removed from Milford, Ct.; died 1744-5; his will, dated in Huntington, 27 Jan'y, 1741/2, probated 31 Aug., 1745, names wife Elizabeth, and mentions a son Zophar, among others, who was born in 1705, which approximately fixes the date of Hannah's death. He was a major of the train-band, and a member of the Assembly 1723-37.

Children (Platt), probably born in Huntington:

- i. Epenetus,<sup>4</sup> b. abt. 1699, as he receipted 16 March, 1719/20 for his grandfather's legacy (to be paid him when 21); d. 1771-2, leaving a large estate.

His will, dated 23 Nov., 1771, was probated 7 March, 1772; his widow, called his "loveing wife," but not named, was perhaps Sarah Scudder, and m. 31 Oct., 1723; he <sup>6</sup> No record of this m. has been found, but the deed of gift from her father calls Epenetus "my son-in-law." Norwalk Land rec., IV: 155 et seq.

names seven chil.; he was a captain in the militia. His son, Epenetus,<sup>3</sup> Jr., bap. 11 Sept., 1730 (Church rec.); d. 1775, in Huntington; will dated 6 March, 1775, probated 21 May, 1775, names seven chil.; m. 13 Aug., 1758,<sup>o</sup> (Church rec.), in Huntington, Hannah Marvin, who survived him; she has not been certainly identified, but was probably of the Robert Marvin family, as Uriah, half-brother of Epenetus, Jr., made a Robert Marvin one of his ex'ra. (See English Ancestry, 169.)

- ii. Hannah, b. abt. 1702; prob. d. unm., as not mentioned in her father's will; 16 March, 1719/20, she signed a receipt for her grandfather Matthew's legacy "of our uncles Samuel and John Marvin."

No other children of Hannah<sup>3</sup> are named by her father.

15 SERG'T JOHN,<sup>3</sup> son of Matthew<sup>2</sup> and Mary Marvin, born 2 Sept., 1678, in Norwalk, Ct.; died 9 Feb., 1774, in Sharon, Ct.; married (1), 22 March, 1704, Mary, daughter of James Beers, Jr., born in Fairfield, Ct., about 1685;  died in Norwalk, 17 April, 1720, aet. 35; † married (2), 27 April, 1721 (Town rec.), Rachel,<sup>4</sup> daughter of Matthias and Rachel<sup>3</sup> (Bouton) St. John, of Norwalk, died in Sharon, Ct.<sup>o</sup> She was living 5 April, 1754, when she joined her husband in selling land in Norwalk. (See 7, iii.)

26 February, 1701, twenty-eight acres of land were "layd out by the Town's Committe" to John Marvin; this land was on "the Danberry Roads," and eight acres of it was "on his father Marvin's account." 16 December, 1708, he was appointed town collector. When the meeting-house was seated in 1710, John was assigned "y<sup>e</sup> seat before y<sup>e</sup> hinde pillar." 14 December, 1711, he was chosen surveyor of highways, and 18 December, 1712, he was on a committee to obtain a teacher for the school. He was chosen selectman 1706, '13 and '19, in which year he is called "sergeant," and he, or possibly his son John, called "sergeant," in 1738 and '40; he was a constable in 1717; fence viewer, 1721 and '29; "lyster," 1724. In 1734 and '38 he represented Norwalk in the Legislature. In 1718 he with others was chosen to lay before "a wise and judicious committee" the "surcomstances of y<sup>e</sup> town in their present differences respecting the meeting-house." 1734, with Joseph Platt, he was appointed to lay out the land granted by the town "in y<sup>e</sup> plain before Lt. Lee's door," for St. Paul's Church.

18 Nov., 1737, he gave a lot of land eight rods square to the "Presbyterian or Congregational church of Wilton, on which to erect a meeting-house."<sup>o</sup> He confirmed this by deed of 6 May, 1738, in which he said "among the congregation are some of my children," naming John as one. † 21 Jan'y, 1752, he bought for £2400 the farm previously owned by his son John in Sharon, and not long after settled there; he is called of Norwalk 1 Nov., 1754, and of Sharon 17 March, 1756, where he owned several other parcels of land, and soon after his purchase (11 May, 1752) he deeded to his "loveing son Joseph Marvine of Norwalk," a lot, for "love, good-will, and affection." Joseph was appointed administrator of his father's will 7 May, 1774.

FOURTH GENERATION

16 CAPT. MATTHEW,<sup>4</sup> son of Lieut. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Platt) Marvin, born October, 1702 (3?), in Norwalk, Ct.; died 6 December, 1744, in Wilton parish, Norwalk; married about 1730, in Ripton (now Huntington), Ct., Elizabeth, daughter of Ens. George and Deborah (Gold) Clark, of Milford, Ct., born 4 May, 1710, in Ripton; died 29 Aug., 1766, in Norwalk, having married (2), 31 Jan'y, 1745/6, Lieut. Noah, son of Lieut. John and Wait (Clapp) Taylor, born 5 Oct., 1699, in Norwalk; died 15 Feb., 1768, leaving issue.

Matthew was chosen pound-keeper on the east side 2 Dec., 1724; his will, of which his brother Samuel and his "brother-in-law David DeForest" were the executors, was dated 3 Dec., 1744; inventory, £1911 .. 15s. .. 11d., "old Tenner money." He left to his eldest son, Matthew, his "silver-headed sword, over and above what I give to the rest of my sons," which was doubtless that which he used while captain of the Wilton train-band, in which command he had been confirmed by the Legislature, May, 1743.<sup>6</sup> He was interred in the Sharp's Hill burying-ground. After his death his children were, in 1747, made wards of their step-father, but 4 April, 1749, Matthew, then 15, chose his uncle Samuel<sup>4</sup> as his guardian. (Fairfield Prob. rec.)

Children, born in Norwalk (Wilton parish):

- i. Hannah,<sup>5</sup> b. 30 Sept., 1732; d. Dec., 1806; m. 8 Nov., 1750, Nathan Bates, of Middlesex, Ct. (Wilton Ch. rec.) On the Bible record of one of the family she is called Hannah Carter.
28. ii. Matthew, b. 21 Oct., 1734.
29. iii. Ozias, b. 29 Jan'y, 1737.*
30. iv. Barnabas, b. 25 Dec., 1739.
- v. Silas, b. 4 Feb., bap. 15 Feb., 1741/2; d. in Sheffield, Mass.; m., prob. as her second husband, Mrs. Sarah Trowbridge.

His will made 22 June, 1813, petition filed 5 April, and probated 10 May, 1831, mentions wife Sarah, bro. Uriah, and grandchildren of his wife, children of her son, Orson Trowbridge, dec'd, by his wife Lydia, seven in all. (Berkshire Prob. rec.) It is believed that Silas had no chil. of his own. He bought land in Sheffield "on the east side of Pine Island, on the east side of the Housatonac river," 3 Jan'y, 1785. (Pittsfield, Mass., Land rec.) He was a soldier from Sheffield in the Revolution, having gone thither from Norwalk, where he was living in 1765-70, and served in Capt. King's company, Col. Hopkins' Berkshire reg't, 15-31 July, 1776, and in Col. Ashley's reg't in Oct., 1781. (Mass. rec.)
31. vi. Uriah, b. 17 Feb., bap. 20 Feb., 1742/3.
32. vii. Ichabod, b. 15 Dec., 1744 (posthumous); bap. 27 Jan'y, 1744/5.

17 CAPT. SAMUEL,<sup>4</sup> son of Lieut. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Platt) Marvin, born about 1704-5 (?), in Norwalk, Ct.; he was living 10 Dec., 1784; the date of his death we have not learned; married 25 Nov., 1735, Deborah, daughter of Ens. George and Deborah (Gold) Clark, of Milford, Ct., born 22 Aug., 1705; died 11 Sept., 1786.

He was commissioned lieutenant of the first train-band in Norwalk in 1754,† and captain in May, 1759.‡ He was chosen selectman 6 Dec., 1756, and 19 Dec., 1763, and was "Lyster" 1761. He served, Aug., 1757, in the Fort William alarm, in the French war, as 1st lieutenant in Capt. Samuel Hanford's company.*

18 ABIGAIL,<sup>4</sup> daughter of Lieut. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Platt) Marvin,<sup>6</sup> born probably about 1706; married David, son of David and Martha (Blagge) DeForest, of Stratford, Ct., born 24 April, 1702; died 1748.

"The DeForests of Avesnes," 226, says his will is dated 18 April, 1748, and on 215, the inventory of his estate (in which he is spoken of as "lately deceased") is said to bear the same date, but which statement is correct we cannot say. His estate was appraised at £4000, "old currency," and his son Hezekiah<sup>5</sup> was made executor. Some of the family seem to have lived in Danbury, Ct.

Children (DeForest):

i. Hezekiah,<sup>5</sup> b. —; bap. Dec., 1726; m. Rebecca —; in 1749 both belonged to the Cong'l church in Wilton, Ct.

ii. Lemuel, b. —; bap. Aug., 1728; m. 26 Dec., 1751, at Wilton, Phebe, dau. of David and Mary (St. John) Keeler, b. abt. 1732; d. 10 Jan'y, 1790. Children:

1. Abigail,<sup>6</sup> b. 24 April, 1753 (Selleck, 290); d. 8 May, 1786;† m. 9 Nov., 1774, as his second wife, Sergt. James,<sup>7</sup> son of Job and Rachel Lockwood (a gr.-gr.-grandson of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin), b. 25 Oct., 1746, in New Canaan, N. Y.; d. 30 Oct., 1833, and had issue.

2. James, b. —.‡

3. Thaddeus, b. —.‡

iii. Abigail, b. 24 April, 1731.§

---

* She is identified by the fact that David DeForest, who is called his "loving brother" by Matthew<sup>4</sup> (16) and made executor of his will, married (by various authorities), "Abigail —;" as the names of Matthew's two wives are known, it is evident that DeForest must have married Matthew's sister.

† Lockwood Gen. says she d. aet. 36, which would make her b. 1750, a year or more before the date given for her parents' marriage. See note to Abigail iii, below.

‡ Rockwell-Keeler Gen., 15, but not verified.

§ The accounts of "Abigail" given by different writers do not agree. Selleck, 278, makes the Abigail who m. Lockwood the daughter of Lemuel (ii) and Phebe; Lockwood Gen., 247, says James m. Abigail DeForest (not naming her parents), who "d. 8 May, 1786, of pleurisy, aet. 36." Orcutt, History of Stratford, 1191, and The DeForests, 226, following Orcutt, give this Lockwood-DeForest m. to Lemuel's sister Abigail, who was 15 years or more older than James; it seems probable therefore that Selleck and Lockwood Gen. (which we follow) are right in assigning the m. to the daughter of Lemuel, but that Lockwood is wrong either in its date of death or age. The birth of Lemuel's sister Abigail is given by Orcutt as in text; Selleck gives the same month and day, but a different year, to Lemuel's daughter.

- iv. David, b. —; bap. 1 July, 1733; m. before 1755, Sarah Olmstead; the appraisal of his estate, 15 Sept., 1790, names chil. of his son David<sup>3</sup> and four others, presumably his own chil., as his heirs. (DeForest, 227.)
- v. Elihu, b. Nov., 1739; d. 1827; m. 4 May, 1761, Rachel, dau. of David and Laurana (Bill) Lambert, b. 31 Aug., 1744; res., Ridgefield, Ct.; they had six chil. (Selleck, 279, and DeForest, 226.)
- vi. Ephraim, b. 1740(?); d. 1827; m. abt. 1764, Sarah Betts; they had six chil.
- vii. Martha, b. —; bap. 1 June, 1740, in Wilton.

A Samuel DeForest, dec'd, mentioned in Norwalk Land rec., XVIII: 64, under date of 8 April, 1795, and called a "son of David," was probably not of this family.

19 JOSIAH,<sup>4</sup> son of Lieut. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Platt) Marvin, born about 1710, in Norwalk, Ct.; died about 1780; married (1), 20 Feb., 1734/5, Elizabeth, daughter of David and Martha (Blagge) DeForest, born 4 June, 1714, in Stratford, Ct.; died 3 Oct., 1739; her tombstone is standing in the Sharp's Hill burying-ground; married (2), 1740, Sarah Bennett, died about 1741; married (3), Hannah Blagge, born 1716, in Stratford; died 13 Dec., 1745, in Wilton, Ct., aet. 29; married (4), about 1747, Sarah Sturges; she was living 4 March, 1782, when she sold dower rights in land in Norwalk belonging to her husband's estate, to her step-sons William and Jared, of Ballston, N. Y.

Josiah was cornet of a troop of horse attached to the 9th Ct. reg't, in May, 1753, and was promoted to a lieutenancy in May, 1755.* He was in 1754 and for many years after, a vestryman of St. Paul's, Norwalk, in the rebuilding of which, after it was burned by the British, he was active; some of this family were loyalists. He was chosen fence-viewer in 1758. The inventory of his estate, made 12 May, 1780, shows that he owned 110 acres of "Stamford lands," valued at £495; Wampum Hill lands, £132; other lands, £204; many chattels including cattle, etc.; he evidently possessed a large estate. His widow Sarah was named executrix.

I., Phebe Brush (Church rec.), born 1709; died 1747; married (2), Sarah,<sup>5</sup> daughter of Capt. Samuel and Sarah<sup>4</sup> (Betts) Keeler (see 11, iii), born 1 Jan'y, 1714/5; died 20 Aug., 1772; s. p.

Children, born in Norwalk :

 ii. Mary, b. 28 Feb., 1738.

* Because of the destruction of the rec. not only of the "Prime Antient Society" but also of St. Paul's, Norwalk, we have been unable to verify some of the statements as to the older children, furnished us by descendants of Josiah, which have material variations; Selleck, following Talcott, says there were four daus.; we find but three. Selleck, 153, also thinks that the third wife was a widow when she m. Josiah, for which we find no evidence.

† It has been stated that she m. — "Hulsort," and had a son Cornelius, said to have been Collector of the port of New York; we have found no evidence of this save tradition.

21 LEWIS,<sup>4</sup> son of Lieut. Samuel<sup>3</sup> and Hannah (Platt) Marvin, born about 1716 or earlier, in Norwalk, Ct.; died "near the close of the Revolution," or about 1783-4; his will, dated 22 Nov., 1778, was probated 8 Oct., 1784,† in which he calls himself of "Rye, Westchester co., N. Y." He married (1), Martha —, born about 1718; died 5 Feb., 1757 (?); married (2), probably in 1758, Sarah —, who survived him.

A tombstone found in the wall on the west side of Grace, afterwards Christ Church, Rye,‡ has the following:

"Sacred to the Memory of Mrs. Martha Marven, late consort of Mr. Lewis Marven, of Rye, who exchanged this life for a better, Feb'y 5th, 1767, in the 39th year of her age..

*Let us since life can little more supply—
Than just to look about us and to die,
Hope humbly, and with trembling pinions sore, (sic)
Wait the great teacher, death, and God adore."*

He settled in Rye about 1739 or earlier, as he witnessed a deed there in that year, and resided in "Sawpits" (now Port Chester, N. Y.), near Byram river, where lots were laid out in 1741; in 1758 his house was the most noted of the half-dozen between Regent street and Byram bridge, and is shown on Erskine's military map of 1778:§ "It was on Willett street, and standing in 1870, a good specimen of the solid and comfortable dwellings of the better sort of the olden time. The old country road ran along the northern side of the house, where a lane is yet to be seen. It was afterwards kept as a public house by his son Samuel, and early in the nineteenth century passed to one Reuben Coe, whose daughter was living in it in 1870."

16 June, 1770, he sold land in Norwalk. His will mentions wife Sarah; "eldest son Joseph," "youngest son Joseph," "youngest son Samuel," daughter Elizabeth and her husband Samuel Jarvis, and daughter Susannah.

* A "Bushnell Marvin" said to have been of the family, was prob. "Brush."

† Surrogate's Office, New York co., N. Y., XXXVII: 246. Rye was originally in Connecticut, later in New York.

‡ Bolton, History of the P. E. Church in Westchester co., N. Y., 349. There must be an error either in the age as given, or in the year of her death (probably the latter should be 1757), for if the dates are correctly printed, she would have been but twelve when the eldest son of Lewis was b., unless there was a still earlier m., of which no evidence has been found.

§ See Baird's History of Rye, 267-8.

Three of these were doubtless by his first wife; he directs (in 1779) his "youngest son Joseph" to pay all his just debts, and gives him his buildings, lands, etc., in Rye, and his negro boy "Hary," which seems to imply that the younger Joseph was then of age; among other legacies he orders his "negro man Moses, which Run away to New York," to be sold, and gives "to my youngest daughter Susannah my negro wench, when her mother Discontinues my widow;" "eldest son Joseph" to have "£100 continental money, which is now by me, in full Bar of his . . . claiming anything" more of his father's estate; we believe there can be no doubt that the "youngest son Joseph," and "youngest daughter Susannah," unmarried in 1779, were by the second marriage.

Children, all born in Rye, by first wife :

i. Joseph,<sup>3</sup> b. abt. 1740?

John, or his father, was a deacon in the Sharon church. He held the office of "Lyster" in Norwalk, and was commissioned lieutenant of the first train-band there in May, 1745;* 28 April, 1748, John and Abigail "of Norwalk" sell land; soon afterward he removed to Sharon, Ct., where 19 May, 1748, he bought land of Dan'l Reed, of Norwalk; and 22 Aug., 1748, bought for £1100, of Elihu Ketcham, the "Bates place," about a mile east of the meeting-house, where he lived until 1753, when (21 Jan'y, 1752/3) he sold a large part of his estate to his father; in 1770 he removed to Brookhaven; in April, 1774, he is called "of Blew-point," and in December following, of "Winthrop's Patten, South Haven." He was one of the owners of the iron works at the mouth of Mudge pond in Sharon. He was a representative in 1756 and 1758.

 A "Rebekkah," b. —, who m. 25 July, 1793, Nathaniel Hatch
 (her parents' names not given on Sharon rec.), may belong to this family, but as Ebenezer and Silence had other sons beside Hezekiah recorded there, this is uncertain.

One of the younger daus. m. — Strong, and had a son
 Hon. Moses<sup>6</sup> Strong, of Rutland, Vt., whose dau. Betsey Marvin<sup>7</sup> Strong m. Rodney C.<sup>8</sup> Royce, a gr.-grandson of Ebenezer (ix) above; she was living in 1829, then upwards of 80, in Fairhaven, Vt., as we were informed by Mrs. Julia C. Smalley, of St. Albans, but to which dau. this m. should be assigned we have not learned.

<sup>6</sup> We have found nothing to confirm this, and it is equally probable she was a grand-dau. of Esther or Lydia, if indeed she was of this family.

† The date of bap., from Church rec., furnished us by H. E. Chichester, Town Clerk of Wilton, is prob. a year too early.

‡ Talcott and Maj. Thomas Marvin call him "Capt.," and assign this m. to Susannah the dau. of Thomas<sup>4</sup> (25) Marvin of the Reinold line, as already mentioned; they add that he removed to Duanesburgh, N. Y., and had a large family; we are unable to accept the former or to verify the latter statement.

23 NATHAN,<sup>4</sup> son of Sergt. John<sup>3</sup> and Mary (Beers) Marvin, born 4 March, 1707, in Norwalk, Ct.; married about 1728, Hannah, daughter of Sergt. Daniel and Deborah (Taylor) Betts, born in Norwalk.

On 26 Jan'y, 1741/2, Nathan and Hannah sold land in Norwalk; 22 Aug., 1748, his father gave him land there; 26 Sept., 1652, he joined with Benjamin Betts in selling a part of his home-lot; 8 Jan'y, 1755, he sold more land in Norwalk, and not far from that date he seems to have gone to Sharon, Ct.; no record of his death is found in Sharon and there is some reason to believe that he removed to New York.

He was a lieutenant in the 7th company, 17th reg't, King's district, N. Y., Col. Wm. B. Whiting, commanding, and later a captain. (Albany co. Mil. rec.) Both he and Zillah are called "of Amenia, N. Y.," on Sharon rec. of their m.

24 SETH,* son of Sergt. John<sup>2</sup> and Mary (Beers) Marvin, born 13 July, 1709, in Norwalk, Ct.; died probably September, 1784; his son Seth, then of Brookhaven, L. I., was appointed administrator 6 Oct., 1784; married Phebe, daughter of Lieut. William and Mehitable (Ruscoe) Lees, of Norwalk.

Seth and Phebe sold land in Norwalk to David Marvin, of Goshen, Orange co., N. Y., 28 April, 1752. He bought a portion of the land owned in Norwalk by his father, on 25 Oct., 1765; then, or soon after, he was living in Long Island, as 26 Nov., 1765, in a sale of Norwalk land he is called "of Brookhaven," whence he was driven during the Revolution, by the British;

* Guild-Gile Gen., 228, gives them, and thinks all were probably by Mary. Herrick Fam., 98 et seq., has both m. and gives nine chil., and other particulars, but does not indicate by which mother. Neither has dates, and Sharon rec. have no chil. of Daniel, but it seems prob. that 1. Phebe, m. Benjamin Black; 2. Nathan, m. Priscilla Herrick; 3. Priscilla, m. Henry Giles, and possibly others, were chil. of Zillah.

he returned to Norwalk, where, with others, he asked to be relieved from taxes, the British having destroyed all his property; he seems to have gone back to Brookhaven after the war.

25 CAPT. DAVID,<sup>4</sup> son of Sergt. John<sup>3</sup> and Mary (Beers) Marvin, born 24 Aug., 1711, in Norwalk, Ct.; probably died in the summer of 1779, in Wilkes Barre, Luzerne co., Pa., during the small-pox epidemic there in 1768-9; married about 1732, Hannah, probably daughter of Ebenezer and Mary (Fitch) Gregory.

3 Nov., 1747, he is called "of Norwalk," in a deed of land sold; though he appears to have gone to New Canaan, Ct., soon after that town was set off from Norwalk and Stamford; in May, 1752, he was of Goshen, Orange co., N. Y.; 4 Nov., 1752, he sold his farm in "Grey Court" to Joseph Drake; he is called "Captain" in 1759; in 1762 he bought land in Wyoming, Luzerne co., Pa., moving thither after 13 July, 1762, and was admitted to the "Susquehanna Company," 9 April, 1763; he left Wyoming before the Indian massacre, but is said to have returned there with Major Durkee in 1779. He was one of the "three able and judicious men" chosen "Directors" from the settlers in Plymouth township, in December, 1774, to represent their interests. The "Harvey Book" says he had six sons and five daughters; we have learned the names of only two daughters; the order of birth is unknown, but the elder children were born in Norwalk.

* Hall, 222, and Talcott, have "Ellen" doubtless an error for Eben, b. 20 March, 1752, and but one Seth. The Bible rec. sent us by Mrs. Jane A. Brown, a dau. of Ebenezer,<sup>6</sup> son of Seth (49), has "Seth, b. 21 Dec., 1749," and "Seth, b. 1 Jan'y, 1751." The latter date agrees with his tombstone in the old Norwalk cemetery, which says he "died July 6, 1836, aged 85 yrs. 6 mos." Rept. Fairfield co. Hist. Soc., xii, No. 42. We find no record of Phebe, whose name was sent by a correspondent; possibly she was the eldest child.

† Selleck's Norwalk, 72, has an account of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin's grandson David escaping from the Indians by an artifice; Matthew<sup>1</sup> had no grandson David, and the story belongs to a grandson of Capt. David<sup>4</sup>; some of his descendants are still living who, in their childhood, heard him relate the incident.

- ii. Samuel, b. —; he is believed to be the Samuel who was in Kingston, Pa., in June, 1769; "settled in Plymouth 1773; built a saw-mill on Whittlesey's Creek in 1795, which produced the lumber for the first frame-houses in that vicinity;" he was on the "List of Taxables" in Plymouth, 1796; by one account he later removed to Ohio.

26 GEN. ELIHU,<sup>4</sup> son of Sergt. John<sup>s</sup> and Mary (Beers) Marvin, born 10 Oct., 1719, in Norwalk, Ct.; died 24 Aug., 1803 (tombstone), in Blooming Grove, Orange co., N. Y.; will dated 11 July, 1803, proved 13 Feb., 1804; married about 1744, Abigail, daughter of John Yelverton, of Chester village, Goshen, Orange co., N. Y., born 1723; died 10 May, 1803, aged 80.

Elihu Marvin

He resided in Oxford village, in the township of Cornwall, Orange co., where he was fence viewer and one of the overseers of the poor in 1765; he signed the "Association Pledge" there, dated 29 April, 1775, opposing arbitrary acts of Great Britain.* In 1775, he was chairman of the Committee of Safety and Observation of Cornwall; in 1777, one of the "Committee men" under whose charge town meetings were held; in 1778, Judge of the Orange county Court of Common Pleas; in 1779, one of the Commissioners who tried and convicted the notorious Claudius B. Smith and others, who had robbed and murdered patriots in Orange co. He was active in the Revolution, serving as lieut.-colonel of Col. Jesse Woodhull's reg't from Orange co. (commissioned 21 Feb., 1778) and in other capacities.† When the people of New York were called on, in May, 1780, to loan money to the State, to aid in putting the army in proper condition to co-operate with the French, who were then about to arrive, Elihu and his son Elihu, Jr., were among the 25 Dec., 1793, Elihu and John Marvin (perhaps sons of Gen. Elihu), both of Oxford, in the "town of New Cornwall, for the advantage and accommodation of the inhabitants of the people of Oxford, and for the purpose of building a school-house" thereon, deed to the free-holders a piece of land. An obituary published soon after his decease said, that "few have been more useful to society than he. . . . He served as judge of the court, was a colonel and general in the militia, and a deacon in the church. His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. Crane from Job xix: 25." His tombstone bears the following lines:

*Once I was young and well my health was found
But now my limbs lie mouldering under ground.
As I am now you likely soon will be
Be wife prepare for death and follow me.
My blest Redeemer lives and with his watchfull eyes
Takes constant care of all my dust, 'till he shall bid it rise*

He removed to Sharon about 1750, and was selectman there in 1764.† He was living there 23 Feb., 1767, when he sold land to his brother Seth. He is called of Litchfield, Ct., in 1775, when he sold land in Sharon as administrator of his father; he owned 108¾ acres of land, and a dwelling-house, barn, grist-mill, etc., in Sharon, when he died, as appears by the Probate rec.; 21 April, 1784, John, Joseph and Betty Marvin, legal heirs and representatives of Joseph, sell land of their father, in Sharon. John, Joseph, David and Betsey Marvin sell their rights in their sister Philomela's land 6 Sept., 1786, and are then called of Cornwall, Ct.; land in Canaan, Ct., in which "Matthias and his late sister Philomela" had an interest, are referred to on the same date; Joseph's estate was finally distributed 6 May, 1784. He was elected a selectman in Dec., 1778, '79 and '82. He was one of the early members of St. John's Lodge, founded 1765, his name being twentieth on the roll. Tradition says Dea. 29 CAPT. OZIAS,<sup>5</sup> son of Capt. Matthew<sup>4</sup> and Elizabeth (Clark) Marvin, born 29 Jan'y, 1737, in Norwalk, Ct.; died there May, 1807;‡ married 26 Nov., 1761, Sarah, daughter of Joseph and Rebecca (Rogers)§ Lockwood, of Norwalk, born 15 Sept., 1745; died November, 1827 or '28. They were interred in the King street cemetery.

He was appointed ensign of the 3d Norwalk company in May, 1767; lieutenant of the "third train-band in the first society of Norwalk," in May, 1769, and captain of the 12th company, 9th Ct. reg't, Dec., 1775.¶ He served during the Revolution as captain of the last named command 12 Aug., to 29 Aug., 1776, and from 24 Oct., '76, to 19 Jan'y, '77; in the Danbury raid, in April, '77; later in service under Gen. Wooster; in Col. Whiting's 4th militia reg't at Peekskill, N. Y., 5 to 31 Oct., '77, and under Col. St. John, in July, '79, at the time of "the New Haven alarm."¶¶ He was captain again in the 9th reg't in 1780.

In April, 1777, the British landed forces at "Compo," and the militia of Norwalk, under Capt. Ozias Marvin, with those of Stamford, marched to repel them; they were obliged to spend the night at Saugatuck, and as the weather was cold and chilly, Capt. Marvin supplied his troops with provisions, among which were 60 pounds of dried beef, 8 pounds of sugar, 45 gallons of rum and 24 case bottles. On the following day the soldiers took part in an attack on the enemy at Ridgefield. Some time afterward, Capt. Marvin, on his petition to the Assembly, was allowed £28 .. 1s. .. 4d., lawful money, in payment for the above supplies.* He was one of the committee appointed to confer with the Continental Congress. He continued to serve in the militia after the war, and is called major on the Town rec. in 1785. He was a selectman every year from 1776 to 1792, excepting 1786 and '87.

From a letter written by one of the family we quote the following:

The house of Capt. Ozias Marvin, which, as he was a carpenter, he built himself in 1761, is still standing two miles east of Norwalk, in Westport (originally a part of Norwalk), at the intersection of "the King's Highway" and the "Connecticut Turnpike," now State street, on the east side of the road; it was used as an inn in the olden time, and is now owned by his grandson, David M. Marvin. It has been moved about fifty feet from its original location, and somewhat altered, but the original timbers and the floor of the room in which Washington slept, 11 Nov., 1789,† are still intact. Traditions of his visit are still preserved by the descendants. The General arrived in a barouche just as one of the sons, the late Joseph L. Marvin, who used to tell the story, was returning from the cider-mill with his ox-cart; hiding behind the team to see the party, Washington observed him and said "How do you do, young man?" Mrs. Marvin had prepared a bountiful supper for the travellers, but the General contented himself with a bowl of milk: the bowl he used is still preserved in Westport. Mr. Selleck (Norwalk, 152) relates that Esther, then a maiden of 19, shrunk from his proffered kiss, to which the General jestingly replied she might live to repent of her shyness.

* This date is given by Hall and the Town rec.; Chapman, III Ct. Marriages, has 12 Jan'y, 1773; the latter agrees with the family rec. as cited by the late D. W. Patterson. Hannah may have been second wife; see Hall, 262.

† This agrees with Whitney Gen., 202, and Rockwell-Keeler, 84, but by the latter on 153 and 293, Nancy is apparently given as having m. into another Ridgefield fam. See Whitney Gen., 558-9, and Selleck, 465, for chil.

37 JOHN,<sup>3</sup> son of Josiah<sup>4</sup> and Sarah (Sturges) Marvin, born 16 May, 1757, in Norwalk, Ct. ; died 23 May, 1830, in Springfield, N. B. ; interred there in Trinity church-yard ; married 9 March, 1787, in Kingston, Kings co., N. B., Grace, daughter of Silas and Sarah (Barlow) Raymond, born 30 March, 1771, in Norwalk ; died 27 Sept., 1847, in Springfield.

John was a loyalist during the Revolution, and joined the refugees who sailed from Norwalk on the ship "Union," for St. John, N. B., after the close of the war. Family tradition relates that his marriage engagement was made on the voyage, and the wedding followed not long after their arrival at their new home. He, with three other young men, made up the party recorded as the first to pitch their tents on the shores of Kingston creek. He was one of the petitioners to Gov. Carleton for a clergyman for the Kingston church, 20 March, 1786, and subscribed in 1789, toward the erection of Trinity Church, Springfield, still standing in excellent preservation ; he was chosen a vestryman in that parish 5 April, 1790, and was one of its wardens from 1800 to 1811. Some of their descendants afterwards returned to the United States. This branch usually spell the name Marven. We are indebted to a grand-daughter of John, the late Mrs. Margaret E. D. Hebard, for valuable aid.

* Dates as "recorded in Judge Sowles's Family Bible, by his own hand."

44 HON. EBENEZER,<sup>3</sup> son of Lieut. John<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (St. John) Marvin, born 17 April,* baptized 11 May, 1741, in Wilton parish, Norwalk, Ct.; died 3 Nov., 1820, in Franklin, Vt.; married 20 Oct., 1763, Sarah Minerva, daughter of James Adams, born 8 Nov., 1744, in Salisbury, Ct.; died December, 1834, in Berkshire, Vt., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minerva Royce.

He went to Sharon, Ct., with his father, and was a farmer there; but his solicitude for his eldest son, who finally died of a disease which baffled physicians, led him to study medicine; he enjoyed a successful practice, and was widely known for his skill in dangerous cases. He removed to Stillwater, N. Y., in 1777, thence to Lansingburgh, N. Y., and in 1781 resided in Tinnmouth, Vt.; in 1794 he was an original proprietor of Franklin, and built the first frame house erected there, recently, and perhaps still standing. October, 1797, he settled in Berkshire.

After his removal to Vermont he gradually relinquished his medical practice and became even more eminent as a lawyer. He was judge of the Rutland County Court in 1783; chief judge of the Chittenden County Court in 1794, and of that of Franklin County in 1796-1803 and 1808-9, serving in the three counties nearly twenty years. "There was a very strong and uniform confidence in his wisdom and probity, and though he had not received a professional education in legal science, he possessed uncommon qualities for the position, with a marked official impartiality." He was one of the Council of Censors in 1785; for twenty years he was a member of the Executive Council of Vermont, and the adoption of the Constitution of that State was largely due to his influence and counsel.

He was a captain in the Revolutionary army, and served with Ethan Allen and Arnold at Ticonderoga and Crown Point, and later was appointed a surgeon, acting in that capacity in the battles at Stillwater. 18 Aug., 1775, the Massachusetts Legislature voted him £4 .. 10, for his services in obtaining the funds for the pay-roll of Capt. Ezra Buell's company (£198 .. 8 .. 6).

"He was a strong Federalist of the Washington school, and in religious preference and profession a Churchman. In person he was august and impressive, fully six feet in stature, of large frame, broad-shouldered, strong and muscular, and retained his vigor to the close of a laborious life." He was a charter member and the first Master of Washington Masonic Lodge, of Burlington, Vt., serving 1795, '96 and '97. "His wife was a true helpmeet, a keen observer, a quick judge of character, and endowed with a pungent wit."†

* Since p. 334 was printed we have been informed that the correct date of Judge Marvin's birth was 17 (not 6) April.

45 MAJ. EPHRAIM,<sup>5</sup> son of Lieut. John<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (St. John) Marvin, born 26 Dec., 1745, in Wilton parish, Norwalk, Ct.; died 27 July, 1793, in Frederickstown, Dutchess co., N. Y.; married 1765, Abigail —, born 1743; died 2 April, 1818; she was appointed to administer her husband's estate.

Ephraim was one of the early members of St. John's Lodge, Norwalk, chartered in 1765. He went to Brookhaven, L. I., and 20 Feb., 1776, was adjutant of Col. Josiah Smith's reg't of Minute-men; he was actively employed and frequent references to his services appear in the MS. minutes of the Brookhaven Committee of Safety, April-June, 1776. It appears in "New York in the Revolution" that he was taken prisoner by the British; in 1779-80 the raids of the British compelled him to return to Norwalk, and in the spring of 1780 he petitioned to be relieved from taxes there, "as he had spent all he had brought over with him;" in this petition his brother Benjamin and many others joined. Seth Marvin accompanied them from Brookhaven. Some time after that, he settled in Frederickstown, where, 2 July, 1785, he mortgaged 350 acres of land. In 1786 he was captain of the 7th company in Col. Field's reg't; he was promoted to be second major 12 March, 1790, holding that position at his death.

He res. in South East, N. Y., and was one of the overseers of the poor there. 9 March, 1795, then of Frederickstown, a Nathaniel W. Marvin, doubtless this one, sold a large parcel of land. He sold land in South East, 20 Feb., 1816, and again 12 May, 1825 (Carmel, N. Y., Land rec., B. 368), in which no wife is mentioned; but 1 April, 1826, Nathaniel and Sally joined in a deed. (Ibid., C: 91.)

100. iv. Abigail, b. abt. 1780-1.

46. JEDEDIAH,<sup>5</sup> son of Lieut. John<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (St. John) Marvin, baptized 27 Nov., 1748, in Wilton parish, Norwalk, Ct.; lived to an advanced age, joining the Shaker Society at Sodus, Wayne co., N. Y., late in life, and died there. The name of his wife has not been found.

He was called "General," and is said to have resided at one time on Long Island, having probably accompanied his father thither; in 1813 a Jedediah Marvin, probably the same, was living in Utica, N. Y. Our knowledge of his family is largely derived from the Cleveland Genealogy, in which the record is somewhat conflicting, as will be seen below. It is believed that he had several children, but after extensive correspondence we have been unable to obtain any further particulars.

In 1765 he bought a farm in Oxford, Mass., of his brother-in-law, Ephraim Bullard, and resided there till 1777; he left Oxford, probably for New Salem, Mass., after February, 1782. He is believed to be the John who was a private in Capt. Davis's company, Col. Freeman's reg't, "on secret service in Rhode Island 37 days in December and January, 1777-8," and who later enlisted in Capt. Morgan's company, serving from 27 Jan'y, to 1 July, 1778, in a "detachment of the militia of Hampden and Worcester counties, to guard the stores and magazines in Brookfield and Springfield, Mass."

Y., who survived him.

He held office in Goshen (Cornwall precinct) between 1765 and 1775, in the latter year as pathmaster, and signed the "Association Pledge" there in 1775. His will names the fifteen children below, but in a different order.† He was an ensign in Capt. Archibald Little's company, Col. Jesse Woodhull's Cornwall reg't; in 1777 he was a lieutenant.

Children, order uncertain, all probably born in Goshen:

- 102. i. Jesse,<sup>6</sup> b. 1759? first named in his father's will.
- ii. Nathan, b. 1763? d. April, 1808; m. Sarah —, who survived him.

His will, dated 8 April, 1808, proved 4 May following (Goshen rec., D: 114), gives his lands and movables to his wife, and to his dau. Sally M—, b. 8 Nov., 1808; d. 31 May, 1829, "aet. 21-6-23."† Samuel C. (son of Stephen, 103) appears to have settled the estate, and cites among the heirs and next of kin of Elijah, Olive Marvin and Hannah Mapes, whom we take to be chil. of Hannah (v).

* The military title of Captain, sometimes given to this David, and the statement that he fell in the battle of Wyoming, seem to rest on a family tradition. The New York Military Rolls show two enlistments (in 1758 and '59) for service in the French and Indian war, of a David Marvin, in Capt. David Marvin's company from Orange co.; it has been supposed that these entries referred to this son of Capt. David<sup>4</sup> (25), but his age, as stated on the record in each case, would make him born in 1739, and married when only 19, if that be correct. If the two are identical there would seem to be an error either in the date of birth furnished us, or in the age, twice given in the records.

which he was one of the first settlers; he was in the battle with the Indians and Tories 3 July, 1778, and after the massacre fled to Orange co., N. Y., with his wife and children; having placed them in safety, he returned a few weeks later and joined Col. Butler's troops. His name appears on the N. Y. Military Rolls, as a soldier in an Orange co. company.

* We have been unable to discover whether this James, or a son of Gen. Elihu (26, viii), of the same name was the James on the List of Taxables in Plymouth.

† This, if correct, and our informant is a grandson who remembers him, would make him the second of the Marvin family who lived to be over 100. It would seem prob. that our informant may have confused two generations; the similarity of names and conflicting accounts have rendered it impossible to identify this Seth with either of those mentioned in the note on p. 74 supra, though there is little doubt that one of them belonged to this family.

54 GEN. SETH,<sup>5</sup> son of Gen. Elihu<sup>4</sup> and Abigail (Yelverton) Marvin, born 15 Feb., 1745/6, in Oxford, Cornwall township, Orange co., N. Y.; died 25 Aug., 1815; his will is dated 3 Jan'y, 1815, and with a codicil, dated 24 Aug., 1815, was proved 9 Sept., 1815;* married Mary [Polly], daughter of Archibald and Sarah Little, of Oxford. .

Archibald was a member of the Provincial Congress from Orange co., in 1775 and '76; he was a captain in the Oxford company of the Cornwall reg't, succeeding Elihu Marvin when the latter was promoted to be lieutenant-colonel. Seth was actively engaged in the Revolution; in 1775 he signed the "Association Pledge" in Orange co.; in 1775-6 he was first lieutenant of the "Cornwall minute-men," of which Thomas Moffatt was captain; later he was captain and lieutenant-colonel; his commission as colonel in the militia is preserved by his grand-daughter, Mrs. Moses Smith, of Chicago, Ill.; he held this office until he was promoted, 29 March, 1806, to be a brigadier-general. He resided in Chester, then a part of Cornwall, holding office there between 1765 and 1775.† He was a school commissioner in 1798 and 1800. With his brother Elihu he was one of the charter members of the Farmers' Hall Academy, in Goshen. He was executor of his brother-in-law's will, dated 14 May, 1780, and was frequently appointed by the Courts to settle estates and make partitions among heirs, 1797-1807. He served as a surveyor under the State Surveyor General. He was a charter member, 1796, and first Senior Warden, of Orange Lodge of Masons, Goshen. He was a member of the New York Assembly from Orange co., for ten terms between 1789 and 1812. Often intrusted with important public duties, he was a commissioner with George Clinton on the boundary line between New York and Pennsylvania. He was interred near the house which he occupied the latter part of his life, and which is still standing on the west road from Chester to Oxford.‡ His gravestone says: "in his time a Christian philanthropist and statesman." In the summer of 1903, Mr. Nathan H.<sup>6</sup> Helme (grandson of Seth,<sup>6</sup> 110) enclosed the burial-place which contains this grave and that of several of the family, with a fine iron fence, and erected a monument to his memory.

Miss Johnson, of Delhi, and a son James B., but we are unable to correct the statement furnished us, if it is erroneous, as we suspect.

children of Widow Martin," which may be a clerical error of name and date for "Almira and Asenath, children of Widow Marvin," as Joseph Marvin was then living; the same rec. also has the m. of Almira Martin and Elijah H. Williams, 27
May, 1829, and of Asenath Martin, of Sharon, and Darius J. Beard, of Salisbury, Ct., 23 March, 1821; we have been unable to obtain evidence which would justify us in changing the rec. furnished us, as given above; the similarity of names is noticeable, but we believe only a coincidence.

90 JOHN CASE,<sup>6</sup> son of John<sup>5</sup> and Mary (Case) Marvin, born 24 March, 1765, in Sharon, Ct.; married Clarissa Case.

He removed to the northern part of New York, west of Lake Champlain; some of the family settled in Vermont, and others in Keeseville, Essex co., N. Y., but of most of them no reliable information has been obtained. He and some of his children lived in Peru, Clinton co., N. Y. The files in the Pension office, Washington, show that a "John C. Marvin [claimed by descendants to be this John] aged about twelve, enlisted in the spring of 1776, at Saybrook, Ct., on the U. S. ship 'Trumbull,' under the command of Capt. Elisha Hinsman. He served twelve months and was wounded through the left leg in the engagement with the British ship 'Pegasus,' and was discharged at New London, Ct." Whether this lad was identical with John Case Marvin, whose father was then living at a considerable distance from Saybrook, may be doubted, though we find no other to whom we can assign this service, and family tradition confirms it.<sup>6</sup>

Children (order uncertain):

- i. William,<sup>7</sup> b. abt. 1793? in Peru; m. (abt. 1826?) Phebe Cornell. He was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was wounded in the battle of Plattsburg. 172. ii. Hiram, b. 10 July, 1795, in Granville, N. Y.
- iii. John, b. —.

<sup>6</sup> The printed Pension Rolls have "John C. Marvin, sailor," in northern N. Y., aged 70 in 1820; the age may be an error, as shown by the Washington files cited. The accounts of this family from different sources do not entirely agree.

Dec., 1838.*

* It seems more probable that she d. abt. 1812, and that Benjamin m. (3) her sister Mehitable, b. 23 March, 1783, and that she was the one who d. in Dec., 1838, but this has not been fully established. The Hoyt Gen. says Mehitable m. after 1811 a — Marvin of Troy.

Benjamin served in the Revolutionary army, and though young, rendered good service and received a pension. He was probably the Benjamin Marvin, a private in Capt. John Spoor's company, in Col. Ashley's Berkshire (Mass.) reg't, serving in Oct., 1780, at the time of the alarm, when Fort George and Fort Ann were taken by the enemy. (Mass. Rec.) * On p. 334 supra, Mrs. Smalley is quoted as saying that a sister of her grandfather, Ebenezer, was the mother of Moses Strong, "whose dau., Betsey Marvin Strong, m. Rodney C. Royce." Her statement that one the sisters married a Mr. Strong may be correct, but we find she was in error in thinking her the mother of Moses, and Betsey's middle name was Matilda, not Marvin. The version above is from the Strong Gen.

† Jonathan Janes went to Vermont from Lebanon, Litchfield co., Ct., not far from the home of Ebenezer. See Loomis Fam., pp. 394, 397. The Plympton Gen. has 1801 for the marriage of Cynthia, and their first child b. 1803. The Loomis Gen. has no dates of either. We follow a family record from Mrs. Julia C. Smalley, except that in her article on Stephen Royce, cited above, she says this Ebenezer was b. 8 Oct., 1778, in Stillwater. See also Vt. Hist. Mag., II: 367.

resented Sheldon in the Legislature, 1808-10; in 1811 he removed to St. Albans, and later settled in Hammond.

Children, the first three born in Sheldon :

 184. ii. George Cook, b. April, 1807.

He was a prominent lawyer, a leader in the Democratic party in Vermont for many years, and held office under the National Government. The Univ. of Vermont conferred upon him the degree of A. M. in 1833. Mrs. Smalley was a lady of remarkable literary ability, thoroughly familiar with the local history of northern Vermont; she was deeply interested in the family genealogy, and rendered much assistance to the compilers. The family resided in St. Albans, Swanton, and for a time in Burlington, Vt.

Children (Smalley) :

98 ELIHU,<sup>6</sup> son of Hon. Ebenezer<sup>5</sup> and Sarah Minerva (Adams) Marvin, born 13 Feb., 1784, in Tinmouth, Vt.; died 1 July, 1829, by an accident, and was interred in Frelighsburg, Canada, with Masonic honors; married 30 July, 1803, Thankful, daughter of Judge Samuel and Abigail (Upham) Barnard, of Richmond, Vt. (a descendant of Joseph Barnard, of Deerfield, Mass., who was killed by Indians, at the "Bars fight," in 1695), born 20 Aug., 1782, in Deerfield; died 6 Nov., 1857, in East Berkshire, Vt.

He practiced law in Franklin, Vt., and was for a time in the U. S. Customs service in Swanton, Vt. He owned a farm on the line between Vermont and Canada, a portion being in each; when he purchased it there was residing there a "squatter" who had no title and paid no rent; foreseeing trouble if this passed unnoticed, Elihu called upon him one day, and it was agreed between them that the intruder should pay one good ear of corn, yearly, for rent, so long as he remained there; at his death his children claimed the farm, but the fact that their father had paid the ear of corn as rent was proved, and they lost their case.

100 ABIGAIL,<sup>6</sup> daughter of Ephraim<sup>5</sup> and Abigail Marvin,* born about 1780-1, in South East, Putnam co., N. Y.; died perhaps about 1811-12; married 17 March, 1799, Jared, son of Capt. Noah and Deborah (Hoyt) Bouton, born 30 Jan'y, 1780, in Salem, Washington co., N. Y.; died February or March (will dated 7 Feb., proved 9 March), 1824; he married (2), Clorinda —, named in his will.

* This assignment of Abigail to Ephraim is believed to be correct, though we have been unable to establish it fully by records. The Bouton-Boughton Fam. does not give her parentage, and differs in several points from information furnished us. It gives the date of Jared's birth as 20 Jan'y, 1780, and that of his oldest son as 29 Feb., 1800,—the latter of course an error, 1800 not being a leap-year. Jared's will is recorded in Carmel, N. Y., Prob. rec., B: 168; the inventory was filed 19 April, 1825. Nathaniel W.<sup>6</sup> (45, ii) Marvin was one of the appraisers; "Odle" and Egbert were executors; it mentions all the children named in the text except iii; it is thought by one informant that all but the first three were by the second wife, and by others that she had six chil. Bouton-Boughton gives all to Abigail. We have found no evidence to sustain either theory. For the descendants of Jared see Bouton-Boughton Fam., pp. 199 et seq.

101 SAMPSON,<sup>6</sup> son of John<sup>5</sup> and Rebecca (Bullard) Marvin, born 16 March, 1756, perhaps in Charlton, Mass., where the birth of his next younger sister is recorded; died 1797-8, in New Salem, Mass.; will dated 13 Nov., 1797, and proved 29 May, 1798;* married 16 March, 1779, Mrs. Ruth Gleason, daughter of Thomas and Susannah (Putnam) Merriam, born 22 Jan'y, 1756, who survived him. He resided in Oxford, Mass., and later in New Salem, in that part afterwards Orange, Mass. He was a corporal in Capt. Jona. Carriel's company, Col. Jos. Whitney's reg't, and served 1 Aug., 1776, to 1 Nov., 1776, and a second term of another month, "in the camp at Hull, near Boston."†

* See Northampton, Mass., Prob. rec., XX: 231.

† The exact dates of birth have not been found, but their ages are given in the settlement of his estate, when Samuel Pearce was appointed guardian of all but Betsey, who is named in her father's will. The name of the sixth child appears to be variously spelled Alcedania, Alsadana, Alsedana or Meediana, but which is the correct version it is impossible to say.

102 JESSE,<sup>6</sup> son of Nathan<sup>5</sup> and Mary<sup>5</sup> (Marvin) Marvin, born about 1759 (?) in Goshen, N. Y.; died Feb., 1818, in Monroe, Orange co., N. Y.; will made 30 Jan'y, approved 20 Feb., 1818 (Goshen Wills, F: 193); married (1), probably about 1780, and certainly before 1789, Hannah, probably a daughter of Colman Curtis;<sup>8</sup> married (2), before 1807, Jane (Brewster?), who survived him.

16 Feb., 1807, Jesse and wife Jane, of Southfield, N. Y., sell land there. (Goshen Land rec., V: 246.) His will names the children below, and as he mentions the first five (of whom the three daughters were married) before his second wife, who receives certain property "in lieu of dower," we assign the "three youngest children" to the second marriage. His name appears in "N. Y. in the Revolution" as entitled to a land bounty, for service in the 1st Orange co. reg't. He signed, 1775, the "Association Pledge" in Goshen.

Children (in order named in the will), by first wife:

- i. Hannah,<sup>7</sup> b. —; m. — Scofield; called "eldest daughter Hannah Scofield" in her father's will.
- ii. Susannah, b. —; m. — Davy.†
- iii. Polly, b. —; m. — Denton.
- iv. Jesse, b. —; m. 16 Aug., 1816, his cousin, Olivia,<sup>7</sup> dau. of John and Hannah (Marvin) Brewster (see 48, v). Child: Frances Almira,<sup>8</sup> bap. 7 Sept., 1817.
192. v. James, b. 20 June, 1791.

<sup>8</sup> 24 Nov., 1789, by Goshen Land rec. (S: 241), "Jesse Marvin and wife Hannah," with David, Amzi, Mary, Benjamin and Anna Curtis, sell "land belonging to the late Colman Curtis;" from their names we infer that these parties were probably children of the latter.

† In the citation, by Samuel C.<sup>7</sup> Marvin, of the heirs of Elijah<sup>6</sup> (48, vii), as recorded, "Susannah Denton" is named, which, if correct, suggests that she may have m. — Denton as her second husband, but nothing further has been found.

Children by second wife :

- vi. Brewster, b. —.
- vii. Daniel, b. —.
- viii. Sylvia, b. —.

103 STEPHEN,<sup>6</sup> son of Nathan<sup>5</sup> and Mary<sup>5</sup> (Marvin) Marvin, born 1 Oct., 1771, in Goshen, Orange co., N. Y. ; died 10 Sept., 1836, in Oxford (Blooming Grove, by his will), Orange co., "aet. 64-11-10;" married 17 April, 1802 (First Pres. Ch., Goshen, rec.),<sup>6</sup> Mercy Duryea, born 12 Feb., 1784, in Craigville, Orange co.; died 20 Aug., 1846, in Oxford, "aet. 62-6-8."

Stephen and his widow were interred in Greycourt cemetery, Blooming Grove, Orange co. His will, dated 23 Sept., 1835, and approved 1 Nov., 1836 (Goshen wills, J: 508), names wife Mercy and the children below, except the youngest, who died young. His father gave him fifteen acres, which he had bought of Elihu and Seth, and his brother Daniel gave him his interest in his brother David's estate; he was exr. of his brother Elijah's will, who left him property.

Children, born in Oxford :

- i. Adeline M.,<sup>7</sup> b. 18 Sept., 1803; d. 26 Nov., 1874, "aet. 71-2-8;" unm.
- ii. Hila Ann, b. 10 Aug., 1806; d. 8 Feb., 1860, "aet. 53-5-29;" unm.
- iii. Samuel Cension,† b. 29 May, 1808 (called "Samuel Assension" in the will of his uncle Daniel); d. in Oxford, 22 May, 1878; m. 18 Dec., 1837, Temperance [Temy] Ann Coleman, b. 2 April, 1813, in Washingtonville (Blooming Grove); d. 27 April, 1883, "aet. 70 y., 25 d." They were interred in Greycourt cemetery. Aug. 6, 1878, his son was appointed adm'r of his estate.

* The above dates are, with few exceptions, from the gravestones in Greycourt cemetery. The family record has the date of Stephen's marriage as 22 Oct., 1801, which may be that when "published," as the Pres. Church record says "Stephen Marvin married Martha Duryea 17 April, 1802." Martha and Marcia (Marcy, or Mercy) were sometimes interchanged, and this is probably a clerical error due to a misunderstanding of her name. If the family record as cited and the church record are both right, there was another Stephen in Oxford of nearly the same age whom we are unable to place. Oxford was in Cornwall township.

† On his gravestone and in the citation of the heirs of Elijah<sup>6</sup> Marvin, the initial of his middle name is C. "Cension," was probably a phonetic spelling of St. John, a name often written on the early Norwalk rec. as "Sension."

(Goshen rec., O: 90.) His uncle Elijah left "the whole of his property" to Samuel C. and his brother Oscar. Child:

107 DAVID,<sup>6</sup> son of Capt. David<sup>5</sup> Marvin, Jr., born 13 April, 1759, in Blooming Grove, N. Y. (U. S. Pension Rec.); died in Norwalk, Ct., at an advanced age; he was living 27

Aug., 1832 (date of application for pension), and is believed to be the "David Martin," as printed in the "Pension Rolls," 1841, who was living in Norwalk, 1 June, 1840, aged 81; married (1), Eunice, daughter of Samuel and Esther Hayden, of Braintree, Mass., later of Norwalk, born 30 May, 1756; died 1799, in Norwalk; married (2), Abigail Fitch; David and Abigail sold land in Norwalk, 21 March, 1801 (Land rec., XIX: 317), and 29 June, 1807 (Ibid., XXI: 158); married (3), Mrs. — Crowley; married (4), Mrs. — Jones.

He went with his father to Wyoming, Luzerne co., Pa., and enlisted there in 1776; he was living in Norwalk in 1778-9, and sold land as of Blooming-Grove in 1812 (Norwalk rec.). He served in Capt. Stephen Hall's company, 15 Feb., 1777 to 19 Dec., 1778, and later was in Capt. Jabez Fitch's "Independent Volunteers" from 1 Sept., 1782, until 20 Nov., 1782 (Ct. in Rev., 224, 584*). He was in the battles of Germantown, Wyoming and Mud Fort, and served again under Capt. Ozias Marvin, at the time of the burning of Norwalk, in 1779. His grandson, Homer Rockwell, of Norwalk, writes: — "My grandfather David told me that he, Capt. Ransom, and another soldier, Franklin by name, finding themselves alone after the battle of Wyoming, started for the fort, pursued by Indians; Capt. Ransom soon fell, and grandfather, looking back, saw him slain. He kept on with his companion, and coming to the brow of a hill, Franklin concealed himself just over the ridge, in a clump of bushes, while he (David) ran down and plunged into a swamp at the foot of the hill, and lying down, covered himself with leaves. When night came on he succeeded in reaching the fort, where he found Franklin had already arrived. I remember the story distinctly, having often heard it from my grandfather's lips."

* The Reports of the Adj't General of Vermont for 1865 and 1866 erroneously say he was "in the hospital wounded, Aug., 1864," and "absent, sick, July, 1865." During his brief service of three months, the regiment took part in many of the severest actions of the war—the battles of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, and others—and in the fifteen days before Cold Harbor it was constantly under fire.

His father was one of the pioneer settlers of northern Vermont, and opportunities for educating his children were meagre, but "his house was a school, and Benjamin told of following a book-peddler a long distance, in his childhood, to obtain a dictionary." He was determined to fit himself for the ministry, and in 1825 was licensed as an itinerant in the Methodist Church, travelling through the mountain towns of Vermont, and later was appointed a presiding elder, having charges in Plattsburgh, N. daughter of Joel and Laura (Clapp) Allen, born 20 Nov., 1818, in South Hero, Vt.; she was a relative of Col. Ethan Allen of Revolutionary fame.

In a sketch of his early life he says: "I began the study of Livingston's Grammar as an experiment, when four and a half years old, having been previously taught at home to read, and having learned the multiplication table; but this precocity was of no lasting benefit." He attended the district school, and early in life was a class-leader in the Methodist Church, and superintendent of a Sunday School, holding other offices in that body, and aiding in the cause of temperance. He taught in the district school, and at the age of twenty-one entered the ministry, joining the Troy Conference. He served on the Essex Circuit, and after his marriage was stationed at Isle La Motte, Alburgh, North Hero, and St. Albans, Vt., and other places in the Conference. He was register of the Probate Court for Grand Isle district, for seven years; three years a representative and two a senator in the Legislature; and was assistant judge in the County Court 1848-9; he was agent of the town in prosecuting and defending suits, and county superintendent of common schools. In 1900 he wrote:—"I have never, directly or indirectly, sought or desired a single vote for any of the above offices. I have solemnized 220 marriages and conducted over 1,000 funerals; altogether I have spent a busy life, to what purpose the future alone will disclose."

His boyhood was spent in New York city, where he was educated in private schools; he engaged in the hat business, and for thirty-eight years was identified with one of the largest manufacturers in New York, retiring about two years before his death, and residing thereafter at his home, in Stamford, Ct. In the winter of 1865-6, he united with the First Methodist Church in Stamford, in which he was deeply interested, and became a class-leader; he was one of its trustees for many years, and until his death. The "Waterside Chapel," now of this church, erected in 1870, and dedicated 30 April, 1894, owed its beginning and success to his personal labor, and he was, from its foundation until his death, superintendent of the Sunday School; after renovation, the building was re-dedicated 8 Dec., 1901, as the "Curtis R. Marvin Memorial Chapel." "He was genial in manner, devout in spirit, and a faithful servant of the Master."

He has been a trustee of the Westport Savings Bank, and a vestryman of Christ Church, Westport. His home, called "The Knoll," on the corner of State street and Sylvan avenue, Westport, has much of historical interest; near it is a large elm tree, planted in 1785, by his grandfather, John Taylor, under the shade of which is a well, famous for its pure water, from which he gave a refreshing draft to Washington and Lafayette, as they passed along the "King's Highway" (now State street), and close at hand is a knoll from which Whitefield preached, and Mrs. Joseph L. Marvin listened to his words about 1798; a few rods north was the school house, and just beyond it the Barnabas Marvin homestead. We are indebted to him for valuable aid.

223 SYLVESTER STEPHEN,<sup>8</sup> son of Aaron S.<sup>7</sup> and Lucy M. (Stevens) Marvin, born 18 Nov., 1841, in Ogden, Monroe co., N. Y.; married (1), 21 Sept., 1870, Matilda, daughter of Thomas Osborne and Matilda (Earle) Rumsey, born 7 Feb., 1847, in East Chester, Westchester co., N. Y.; died 24 Jan'y, 1895; married (2), 27 May, 1897, Edith, daughter of William Henry and Margaret (Rumsey) Bonnett, born 6 Sept., 1866, in New Rochelle, Westchester co., N. Y.

When he was six years old his father settled in Lockport, N. Y., and six years later Sylvester was apprenticed to his father's cousin, Walter K.<sup>7</sup> (144) Marvin, then a dealer in agricultural implements in that city. When the latter went to New York, in 1856, to connect himself with the Marvin Safe Company, Sylvester accompanied him, where he was sent to school and acted as an office boy in his leisure hours, for the new firm. When the panic of 1857 ruined so many business enterprises Walter turned his eyes toward the West, in the hope of retrieving his damaged fortune, and with others laid out a town on the Missouri river, opposite St. Joseph, Mo., and the following year Sylvester was sent there. He collected tolls on a ferry-boat, operated by Mr. Marvin and his associates, which carried thousands of emigrants with their "prairie schooners" across the river, and when the winter ice blocked navigation Sylvester was a clerk in a store. The town proved a failure, and he returned to Lockport, and was a clerk in the store of his uncle, Nathan W. Phelps (see 75, vi), during the winter of 1860-61. The following spring he enlisted in company K, 28th New York Vols. The regiment was engaged in many skirmishes, including the battles of Ball's Bluff and Cedar Mountain, in the latter of which he was wounded. He was in the hospital for several months, and was finally mustered out with the regiment in May, 1863. He then went to Pittsburgh, Pa., to assist his relative in a new venture — the making of aerated bread, with other baked products, out of which grew a large and successful business, which was sold in 1898 to the National Biscuit Company, in which he became a director. The next year he removed to Bryn Mawr, Pa., where he resides at his home "Merimont."

While living in Pittsburgh he was identified with the life of that city in various ways; he was largely instrumental in establishing an annual Exposition of the Pittsburgh industries, and served many years as its president. He was on the State Commission for the relief of the sufferers from the Johnstown flood; a trustee of the West Penn Hospital, the Shady Side Academy, the Pennsylvania College for Women, the Children's Hospital, and the Western Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church; he has also been connected with various financial and business institutions.

APPENDIX

THE corrections and additional information, received too late to be included in the families to which they belong, will be found below. We also add here a few names to which we give their possible references.

Notes of this character might have been greatly extended, but only those are given for which some evidence has been furnished in favor of the conjectural attribution, although not sufficient in our opinion to justify a definite assignment.

Page 35, last line but 3 of text. Hinman (Early Puritans, 669), says that Samuel Collins was at Saybrook 14 Oct., 1664, on which date he gave a mortgage on a horse to his brother Nathaniel.

Page 45. Elizabeth (v), m. John Tinker; he was b. 1686.

Page 51. Mary (ix), is probably the Mary who m. 14 Dec., 1750, Jared Everest, b. 1729; d. in Salisbury, Ct., leaving issue.

Page 59. Marvin Gates [4, son of Lydia (14, iv) Marvin]; see footnote on p. 156, for further particulars.

The statement that Daniel Gates (9) m. Sarah Moore agrees with Gates Gen., 32. The Register (LVII: 366), says a Sarah, dau. of Asa and Sarah (Heywood) Moore, b. 28 Aug., 1748, m. a Daniel Gates, and Gates Gen., 100, has a similar account. This Sarah seems to have been too old to be the wife of our Daniel, and we have been unable to learn whether Gates Gen., 32 (on which our statement is based), is an error, or whether there were two Daniels, each of whom m. a Sarah Moore.

Page 60. Daniel (15) was perhaps the father of "Lydia Marvin of Lyme," who m. 8 Oct., 1759, and probably as his second wife, Simon Tubbs. Children (Tubbs): 1. Lydia, b. 21 Aug., 1760: 2. Betsey, b. 14 Sept., 1765. (Canaan rec., Falls Village.) We cannot place this Lydia, who from her name seems to be the child of one of Capt. Reinold Marvin's sons, but she may have been a dau. of Samuel (23) or of Nehemiah (29). If as one correspondent wrote, Daniel went to Litchfield co., perhaps we should also include among his children the Thomas below (whom we are unable to place).

This Thomas who was in Lebanon, 1755-7, was a private in Lt.-Col. Whitney's Lebanon company, 11 April to 8 Sept., 1755, then made corporal and served to 8 Dec., following; Thomas "Marvel," believed to be the same, from Lebanon, was a corporal in Capt. Porter's company, May, 1756; enlisted again 4 June, 1756, in Capt. Caleb Hyde's company; and once more, then enrolled as Thomas Marvin, in August, 1757, under Capt. Fitch, in the Fort William Henry alarm. (See Ct. Hist. Soc. Col., IX: 25, 161, et cet.) Evidently this was not Thomas (25), who was carrying on the ferry at Simsbury, 1756. [See note to p. 70, below.]

Page 68. From Beckwith Notes 5, we take the following additions to what we have given of the children of Mary Beckwith:

- i. Mary, m. 29 July, 1762, and had four chil.
- ii. Samuel, b. 30 July, 1743; m. (1), 6 Aug., 1767, Rebecca, dau. of Handley Chipman, b. 1750; d. 1778; they had five chil.; m. (2), 26 March, 1782, Sarah, dau. of Caleb Rand, who survived him; they had six chil.
- iii. Elisha, m. Susannah, dau. of Benjamin and Ruth Reynolds; they had twelve chil.
- iv. Martha, m. 6 Sept., 1765; they had seven chil.
- v. Asa, m. 20 Dec., 1744, Mary, dau. of Elkanah and Rebecca Morton; they had nine and perhaps ten chil.
- vi. David, "perhaps d. 15 Nov., 1787;" m. 7 April, 1774, Catharine, dau. of John Newcomb; they had four chil.
- vii. Nehemiah, m. 1790. See Beckwith Notes 5, 18, for an account of the LeBrun.

Page 70. Silas (viii) may have gone to Lewis co., N. Y., as we find a Silas Marvin who was a paymaster in Col. Levi Collins's reg't, in that county, in 1817.

We find some reason to suppose that Thomas (25) may have gone to Windsor, Ct., from Simsbury. Joseph, conjecturally placed as his seventh son, may have been the second, as stated by Barlow (see note p. 72), if the Joseph Marvin who enlisted from Windsor, 24 March, 1759, in the French war (see Stiles's Ancient Windsor, I: 259). and was a sergeant in Gen. Lyman's command, and at Montreal in 1760, was the son of Thomas. There were other Josephs who served in that war; one was in Col. David Wooster's company,* March to May, 1756 (see Ct. Hist. Soc., IX: 110); one in Capt. Noble's company, most of whom were from Litchfield co., in Col. Marsh's reg't in Aug., 1757 [who may possibly be Joseph (27), of the Matthew line] (Ibid., 218), and one in Capt. Pitkin's company, Col. Pitkin's reg't, recruited near Hartford and Farmington (Ibid., 230). Some of these different entries may refer to the same person, but we are unable to identify them.

Page 78. Nehemiah<sup>4</sup> (29), line 3, for 1745/6 read 1744/5. His fourth child is believed to have been Joseph<sup>5</sup> Marvin, b. abt. 1754-5, in Saybrook, Ct.; m. 1780-3, Anna Anderson, of Savannah, Ga. He was a physician.

Esther Marvin, who by East Haddam First Church rec., m. 15 Nov., 1770, Benjamin Emmons, may have been another dau. of Nehemiah. We are unable to verify either of these assignments.

Page 153. Sylvanus (110) was probably the Sylvanus who was second lieutenant of the 12th cav'y, Niagara co., in 1819; he held that office in the 16th cav'y the same year; and was captain in 1822. This may show he was only temporarily in Andover at the date given, if the same man.

Page 156. Nathan (113) was a captain in Lt.-Col. Henry McNeil's 12th cav'y reg't, Genesee co., N. Y., in 1813; major, 1814; colonel, 1817. (Rec. N. Y. Council of Appointments.) Page 262. Caroline E., wife of David R. (285), was dau. of Israel and Polly (Anderson) Cone; she d. 24 or 28 Feb., 1882. The Cone Family in America gives both dates (pp. 178, 210); we do not know which is correct.

Page 263. Harriet Adelaide (ii), m. William Noah Gokey; their first child was Mabel Elizabeth, b. 3 July, 1881; d. y. The Cone Fam. has slightly differing dates in iii and iv; ours are from Mr. Newton R. Marvin, whose third son, Newton R., d. 30 July, 1894, and the fourth, Jewett, d. 21 Aug., 1896.

Page 288, 4th line from bottom of text. As indicating that Matthew was at Newtowne or in that vicinity, before going to Hartford, we note that at a Particular Court held in Watertown, Mass., 6 Feb., 1639, relative to the affairs of "John Oldam," who d. before Sept., 1636, evidence was presented that his estate was indebted to Matthew £1 : 06 : 08. (Manwaring's Hartford Prob. rec., I : 27.)

Page 298. The estate of John Olmsted, husband of Elizabeth (2), was £973 : 05 : 06. Elizabeth's will is printed in Manwaring (Hartford Prob. rec., I : 343).

Page 302. 4 The will of Richard Bushnell, dated at Norwalk, Ct., 1 Dec., 1659, and the inventory, £212 : 08 : 08, taken 17 July, 1660, by Matthew Marvin and others, show that he d. in 1659/60, not in 1658, as hitherto stated by various writers. His widow, Marie, m. 1660, not 1659, Thomas Adgate.

This will further shows that Steiner, cited as our authority with a query (see p. 304, iii supra, where 13 should be 6, i, the footnote on that page, and p. 308) was in error in N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., LIII : 212, in saying that Richard and Marie had a third son Francis, who m. Hannah Seymour, for Richard gives "to my 4 children" one-half of his estate "allowing my 2 sones each of them £5 more than to my 2 daughters." They may have had a son Francis, for which we find no authority save Steiner, but if so, he certainly did not survive his father and marry. Hinman is probably right in making Hannah's husband a son of Lieut. William Bushnell, and Steiner who says William's son Francis d. y., seems to have confused the two. The will, which is witnessed by Alice Marvin, wife of Matthew, shows also that Miss Caulkins (Hist. of Norwich, 213) was right in saying that Richard went to Norwalk. From other sources it seems probable he was there as early as 1656. This will, on Hartford Prob. rec., II : 146-7, is printed by Manwaring in his Abstracts of those rec., I : 102. The latter calls Richard's wife Marcy, and Adgate, William; unquestionably these are errors, but whether of the printer or in the original record we cannot say. Her name was Mary, and his Thomas.

Page 306-7. The inventory of Ens. William Goodrich, husband of Sarah (5) was taken 14 Nov., 1676; the total as given by the appraisers is £915 : 01 : 06, but the amount divided by order of the Court, was £1120, including "£100 already paid to Mrs. Hollister," and exclusive of land assigned to the widow; in the order of distribution 6 Dec., 1676 (as printed by Manwaring), the daus. are said to be m., and Abigail (vii) is called Mrs. Thomas Fitch; evidently the date of her m. (given as 1680, following the Goodrich Gen.) is too late.

Page 314. Samuel Smith, husband of Rachel<sup>3</sup> (9) Marvin, was not the son of Samuel and Elizabeth, but was related to the Long Island Smiths, as we learn from Rev. C. W. Selleck; his father's name has not been found. His will (Fairfield Prob. rec., 1741-8; 291), is dated 8 May, 1730, and was proved 3 Dec., 1745.

His son Nehemiah<sup>3</sup> was made executor; he names daus. Rachel, Lydia, Ruth (the date of Ruth's death in Rockwell-Keeler Gen. is probably an error), Hannah, and dau. Sarah's children. This confirms Selleck's assignment of Hannah and Sarah (for which we have hitherto been unable to find other authority); the latter dau. was probably dead. Samuel received the property at Canoe Hill, near "Smith's Ridge." The will of Nehemiah<sup>4</sup> is dated 26 Jan'y, 1757, and was proved 28 April, following; he names wife Elizabeth, sons Peter,<sup>4</sup> Matthew, Daniel, and Nehemiah "who hath long been gone from me" (probably dead), and daus. Elizabeth, Lydia, Rebecca and Rachel.* Matthew<sup>4</sup> owned the estate which included the "Ancient Parade" and the home-lot of Matthew<sup>1</sup> Marvin; he bequeathed it to his nephew, Matthew<sup>5</sup> Smith, from whom it passed out of the blood, as it had long passed from the name. (See Selleck, 436.)

Page 321. Joseph (vii), son of Lieut. Samuel (12), perhaps had Susanna, who m. Epenetus Platt, b. Feb., 1738, and Thankful, who m. Nehemiah Platt, b. July, 1741; these were sons of Gideon and Mary (Buckingham) Platt, of Norwalk. We have no authority for this assignment, but find no other place for them.

Page 328. By Wilton Church rec. "Rebecca, wife of David De Forest," [presumably David, 18, no other found] joined in 1747; this may indicate his second m.; if so, Abigail (18) d. between 1740 and '46. Her dau. Abigail (iii), was probably the "Abigail (De Forest) wife of Silas Olmstead," who joined in 1754 (ibid.); if so, it confirms footnote p. 328. The same rec. (1761) calls the wife of Elihu (v) "Elizabeth Lambert," which we believe is a clerical error.

Page 333. Cyrus Marsh, husband of Abigail (ii), d. 9 June.

Page 334. Ebenezer (44, ix) was b. 17, not 6, April.

Page 335, line 6. For 1652 read 1752. Nathan (23) had eleven chil.; James (vii, p. 336) should be viii. It is uncertain whether this James, or James (viii) on p. 340 was the ensign.

* The family record of Elizabeth, above, received after a considerable portion of the Index was in type, has been furnished by her grandson from the cemetery records in Sharon. It shows that the assignment of the Elizabeth who m. William Roberts to the family of John (41, Matthew line) — see p. 357 and footnote on p. 72 — was an error, and it is probable that the latter may have been a dau. of Thomas (25, Reinold line), as stated by Col. Thomas Marvin and Talcott; but whether this displaces Rachel (iv) from that family, — see close of note cited above — or whether, as we believe, Thomas had more than the eight chil. named by them, must be left for further investigation: at present we are unable to place Rachel elsewhere. The records furnished us of the family of Thomas, as we have stated, are very conflicting. He cannot be located with certainty after he left Lyme, until he appears in Simsbury, unless he be, as we believe, the Thomas of Goshen, Ct. (see notes, pp. 70, and 89 corrected on p. 577); after 1739 we lose sight of him again until 1755-6; a part of that time, it seems probable, he was living somewhere in Litchfield co., and later perhaps in or near Lebanon, Tolland co., before he settled in Simsbury, but a long and careful search in the Church and other records of various towns in that part of the State, has failed to yield any thing beyond what has already been given. A number of entries of Marvin names have been found, some of which proved to be clerical errors for "Merwins;" others, after much correspondence, we have been unable to place, in spite of all our efforts. It may be well to mention in this connection that Lieut. John (22, Matthew line) had a son Jedediah (46), Nathan (23) a son James, and Joseph (27) a son John who lived in Sharon forty years or more. Two of these at least were m.; all res. in Litchfield co. for longer or shorter periods, and later two of them settled in New York: of these our information is meagre. Others of the name living near the boundary line between Connecticut and New York, proved to be descendants of Robert of Long Island; we found reason to believe however that there are a number of families of the Reinold and Matthew lines in that neighborhood, but from the lack of satisfactory evidence which would enable us to place them, we have thought best to omit the data gathered.

It appears by the U. S. Pension rolls that he volunteered in 1775, and was a corporal in Capt. Griffin's company, 3d N. Y. reg't, Col. Clinton; he enlisted again in the 2d New York Line, Continental army, under the same officers, in Jan'y, 1776, and was a sergeant; he was discharged 15 March, 1777, at Fort Montgomery. He "had a brush now and then with the British whale-boats, while transporting the inhabitants and cattle from the east end of Long Island, but was in no serious engagement." His application for a pension, dated 13 Feb., 1828, was allowed. The record at Washington differs slightly from ours in having the date of his m. 31 Dec., 1788, and that of his d. 7 July, 1836. He mentions his six living children, giving their approximate ages — "Ebenezer, aged 28 or 29" (he was really 33), and so of others; Betsey seems to have then been unm. He was living in Norwalk, and aged 77; these dates were doubtless given from memory and his advanced age accounts for the variations from the actual dates as shown by other records. His widow received a pension after his death.

Page 392. George W., son of Zalmon S. (74, iii, 1), did not marry Harriet E. Riggs; she was the wife of George F. Marvin (see 234, p. 555, where the date of Harriet's birth is correctly given); that assigned to her on p. 392 is that of an older sister. Harriet was of Shelby, when m. (Riggs Gen., p. 72.)

The U. S. Pension rolls show he was a sergeant in the 1st U. S. Rifle reg't, Col. Daniel Appling; he was wounded 11 Sept., 1814, in "the battle at the Block-house near Fort Monroe, Plattsburg, N. Y." For his service and wound he was granted a pension 21 Aug., 1830, then res. in Peru, N. Y.; he d. 18 Aug., 1832.

his m. and that of his father, David (51), as given us, are several years too late. Isaiah was probably b. in Norwalk. It has been difficult to reconcile conflicting accounts of David's family.

Page 448. By Wilton Church rec. Benjamin Hubbell (husband of Alice, iii) has a middle initial, L.; Samuel (vi) Marvin is called Samuel M. Marvin, and the husband of Elizabeth (vii), George K. Gilbert. None of these middle initials were mentioned in the rec. sent us by the late Hon. Charles Marvin.

Page 187. At the last moment we have a letter from a descendant of Daniel (158, Reinold line) saying he was b. 1801 — not "about 1805" and d. 1849, not 1855, as given on p. 187 — and that his wife Cornelia d. in 1888, not in 1887. This Daniel, he says, had "a grandson," "son of Daniel," named Garrit, b. —; m. (1), Elizabeth Kautz, d. 1880; m. (2), —. Children by first wife: 1. William D., b. 7 July, 1877; 2. George W., b. 3 Oct., 1878, in Stroudsburg, Pa. Children by second wife: Three daughters, names not furnished.

The date (23 Aug., 1904) on which this reaches us is too late to allow further inquiries without delaying publication beyond the time promised. The statements given on pp. 187, 188, from a son of Daniel last named, are correct, and Garrit was probably the son of Daniel (158), not his grandson. Daniel (37) probably had three sons; we have the names of only two.

INDEX

The numbers against the names refer to pages. A name has but a single reference to the page on which it appears, though it may be repeated there; care should be taken to look for such repetition.

A star (*) against the page number calls attention to some additional information or correction noted in the Appendix, see pages 574 et seq.

Middle names are indicated by initials only; for example, Mary Amelia and Mary Anna are both indexed under Mary A. When given in full they show the surname, maiden or otherwise, at the time of marriage. When the context or other information shows that this surname is the maiden name, it is parenthesized; otherwise the parentheses are omitted. A surname following one in parentheses indicates a second marriage.

When a surname is given without Christian names, two or more of that name will be found on the page indicated, and this surname does not occur elsewhere. For example, the first name below is Abbot 346; on referring to page 346 the reader will find all of that name mentioned in the volume. A surname followed by a dash shows a wife whose Christian name is unknown. The mode of spelling names, often varying in the same family, carefullly follows that given by correspondents.
