Sheriff Belnap returned from his trip to Topeka, Kansas, yesterday afternoon, where he has been for the purpose of arresting and bringing back William F. White, (alias Gorthwaite) charged with the crime of embezzling money from the Utsh Loan and Trust company. The sheriff was seen by a STANDARD reporter upon his return, and to him he reported having had a very pleasant and successful trip, and had been treated very nicely by everyone. He visited a number of places familiar to the oldest inhabitants of Utah, most prominent among which was the Carthage jail, where Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed.

The sheriff went direct from Ogden to Topeka, Kansas, and got the necessary requisition papers from the governor of that state, and also learned the exact time when White would be released from jail Sunday morning.

Having some time to spare the sheriff visited the old Carthage jail and was interviewed by a representative of the Quincy Daily Journal, and that paper prints a very interesting account of the sheriff, his exploits and the condition of things here in Utah, as given them by the sheriff.

The sheriff had the good fortune, by use of his unexcelled tact, to visit Mr. Thomas E. Sharpe, the jailer at Carthage, at the time Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed. He reports the old gentleman an invalid and his mind somewhat impaired. The old man was disposed to be non-commudicative, "but," said the sheriff, "I believe he would have told me everything connected with the jail, if his wife would have allowed it."

The sheriff visited Carthage jail and examined everything connected with it. He says the old jail is now occupied as a residence by Mr. James M. Browning, an attorney of considerable note. Flowers grow in profusion in and around the old place and the spot place the which marks of the old historic well is planted into rare flowers, which are taken in the house in the winter, and were just been planted outside when the sheriff was there. A great many people came to see the place, says the sheriff, and everyone had a kind of reverence for it, and Mr. Browning makes everyone welcome and charges nothing for peor le coming there and carrying off the flowers. He brought back his man, who was accompanied by his young wife, who had gone to Topeka to meet her husband when he was released from jail, and was in the act of imprinting a loving kiss upon her husband as Sheriff Belnap stepped up and arrested him.
