Education Association Will Honor 8 Veterans Of City School System

The Ogden Education Association will honor eight teachers and an employee of the central office at a reception at Lynn School tonight from 7:30 to 9:30.

Council Denies Request for Beer License

The City Council Thursday night refused a beer license for the Porters and Waiters Club at 127 25th.

The vote against granting the Class D license was made after Mrs. Mary Smith, city recorder, read a letter from Police Chief Golden Jensen.

Chief Jensen said the applicant, Louise Romero, is on welfare and "is not financially able to start a bar."

The chief also said, "Mrs. Romero is merely being used as a front in obtaining this license."

The club has been without a license for several months. Manager is Annabelle Weakley, who was charged this week with a violation of the federal liquor regulations.

Juveniles Smear New Church Roof With Tarred Word

The Rev. C. Sumpter Logan of 955 Fillmore, pastor of the Trinity Presbyterian Church, reported Thursday that juveniles had climbed on the roof of the new church under construction on Polk near 2nd and had smeared tar.

The minister had one complaint: "They spelled out a swear word with the tar and it worries me a little. They spelled it 'dam!'"

He said there has been considerable vandalism at the new church and recommended to parents of small boys in the neighborhood to check into their activities a little closer.

and working associates of those being honored.

Guests of honor are B. Y. Andelin, Zelta Ballinger, Varian Hale, C. J. Hanson, Charles Hocking, Mrs. Verna Larson, Ellen D. McMurdie, Katherine Peterson and Elizabeth Thornley.

Mr. Andelin retired from Ogden High School last summer after 35 years as an educator. Currently he is teaching art at Weber College and assisting part time in the college's drama department.

His teaching career began at Richfield. He moved to Ogden in 1926 where he taught at Washington Junior High School for 13 years.

Miss Ballinger, dean of girls at Ogden High School retires at the end of this term after many years of service in city schools. She once taught English and French at Lewis Junior High and Ogden High School.

Mr. Hale, driving teacher at Ogden High, is retiring with 35 years of educational service. He started his career in Ogden at Weber High in 1926, leaving for Ogden High in 1928 where he taught automotive subjects for 13 years, driving instruction for another 20.

A Ben Lomond High School chemistry teacher, C. J. Hanson, has been with the school since it opened. He started his career in Plain City and has been a teacher almost 26 years.

In Ogden he first taught science at Washington Junior High, leaving there to go to Ben Lomond when it opened.

At the end of this term Ogden's truant officer, Charles Hocking, ends 26 years of service as attendance officer.

Tools Stolen From Shed in North Ogden

A quantity of tools were reported stolen from a shed in North Ogden.

Harold Ward, 104 E. 2550 N., said socket wrenches, hammers, screwdrivers and numerous other tools were taken from a machine shed on his property.

CHARLES HOCKING
Truant Officer

Mr. Hocking began work in 1935. Before this he was an automobile mechanic until an injury forced him to abandon such work.

Mrs. Verna Larson retired as third grade teacher at Pingree Public School last year after 23 years as a teacher in Ogden.

She also taught for a time at Mound Fort and Hopkins schools.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thornley retired in May of last year after 40 years as an educator at city and county schools. She taught fourth and fifth grades at Hopkins, Washington, Lorin Farr and Mound Fort schools.

completes 39 years as of this month, most of which was in Ogden schools, some earlier service being in Box Elder and Weber counties.

At her retirement she was teaching at Gramercy Elementary School.

Also retiring from Gramercy is Mrs. Katherine W. Peterson with 25 years service, nine of them at Gramercy. She also spent nine years at the Grant School. She was educated in Ogden schools, graduated from Weber Academy and received her bachelor's degree from the University of Utah.

New Stage Takes Shape For Pageant

Igor Gorin, nationally famous baritone, who will sing the lead role of Brigham Young in "All Faces West" here in July, is looking forward to his 10th successive appearance in the famed pageant.

Gordon Belnap, new chairman of the annual Pioneer Days event, said today he talked with Mr. Gorin in New York City recently and outlined to the singer the changes planned this year.

Mr. Gorin was enthusiastic in his response to what we are planning," the chairman said.

The baritone has been appearing in concerts along the East Coast this past winter, Mr. Belnap said.

TRIBUTE PAID

Mr. Belnap paid a tribute to Junius Tribe, who resigned the position of chairman of the committee this year.

"Mr. Tribe has built up a most magnificent production in the last 10 years. It is now nationally famous and adds to the cultural prestige of Ogden City. We are most indebted to him and his staff."

"All Faces West" received a lot of free publicity in Miami recently, the chairman said. "The Miami News published a half million brochures on one of Mr. Gorin's concerts and it told of his leading role in the famous Mormon pageant given in Ogden each year."

Mr. Belnap said director T. Leonard Rowley has designed an entirely new permanent stage that will be available for public events at the Fourth Street Park.

85-FOOT STAGE

Base of the stage will be 85 feet wide, 25 feet deep. After a three-foot rise the second stage will be 65 feet wide, 17 feet deep. Another rise leads to the next stage, 15 feet in diameter.

Above that will be the horizon with a road down which covered wagons and horsemen will move in a realistic manner.

The stage levels will be black-topped and work is to start on this project within the next week, the chairman said.

"The committee wants to complete this as a community project that can always be used for any city endeavor. Also any profit realized from 'All Faces West' will be turned over to the city parks department.

Six thousand folding chairs will be placed in the park for the spectators, he said. "We expect a very large crowd the last night of the pageant, July 23, which is a Sunday."

CLOTHING AND UPHOLSTERING

Looking for Tip on Homemaking? Veteran Agent Ready to Help Out

By Merle Shupe

For a walking encyclopedia on the art of home improvements and 4-H Clubs, Maud Martin, Weber County Extension Service agent, would win hands down.

This very modest woman who calls nearly everyone in Weber County her friend, has been at her job since 1940, 17 of those years at her present location.

Last year alone she assisted about 5,332 families with home improvement projects. This was done through 277 home calls, 347 office calls on various subjects related to home improvements, bulletins and meetings.

She was assisted by 24 unpaid volunteer leaders in the towns and communities. During 1960 Miss Martin also held 143 meetings, 30 of them for leader training.

In addition she organized and supervised 104 girls' 4-H clubs with a total membership of 698. She was assisted by 140 local women leaders and 31 junior leaders.

Under her leadership the clubs completed 1,074 projects in clothing, foods and home furnishings.

To say Miss Martin is devoted to her work is putting it mildly. She thinks nothing of beginning her day at 8 a.m. and continuing until 10 and 11 p.m.

To give you another idea of her busy year's work she spent 45 days teaching about the home and surroundings, equipment and furnishings. Ten days were spent on "home night" plans, another 12 days were devoted to family economics.

Clothing instruction took up 48 days, 57 days were spent on foods and nutrition, five days on health and safety, 32 days on family life and another 13 on community and public affairs.

In her spare time Miss Martin distributed 2,917 bulletins and wrote 42 news articles for publication. All information going out from her office was on the subjects she teaches.

Miss Martin is quick to give credit where credit is due, and she has a word of praise for each of her volunteer workers in both home demonstration and 4-H club work.

She also is high in her praise for the Weber County commissioners, Weber County Farm Bureau officers and local chairmen, other members of the Extension Service staff, local churches and various clubs which have helped her with 4-H and other projects.

Being a busy person she has found time to attend school four different times during her 21 years of service. One full year was spent at Corvallis, Ore., a four-month course was taken at Columbia University and a summer course at Fort Collins, Colo.

A gal with the "know how" and "show how," Miss Martin is a favorite visitor to rural homes in the area, where she helps to make the homemaker's tasks lighter and brighter.

Which makes her a deserving person to salute during National Home Demonstration Week this week.

AMERICAN MASTERPIECE

It must be authentic to be labeled Antique

This miniature cannon was made for General Winfield Scott from 121 ounces of silver captured during the Mexican War. The Antique Bourbon, it is a superb example in its field.

The authentic, Kentucky greatness of Antique Bourbon is a supremely satisfying experience. Patient aging is part of it, plus a satin smoothness and a nobility of character created by art, time and care. Only this kind of bourbon merits the Antique label. Authentic—in its golden glow, its delicate bouquet, its superb flavor—Antique is the acknowledged masterpiece of Kentucky bourbon.
