

RUDY VAN KAMPEN
Manager of Show

4-H and FFA Youths Enter Stock Show

Both youthful and adult owners of fat and breeding cattle were represented in new batches of exhibit notices just received for contests of Golden Spike National Livestock Show, Nov. 9 through 19.

Rudy Van Kampen, secretary-manager of the 11-day event, said the exhibit and consignor notices indicate that all divisions of the show—cattle, horses, sheep and hogs—are represented with quality displays.

Among the new entries were six from Weber High School's Future Farmers chapter, of which Rao K. Parker is leader. The chapter exhibitors are Stan Jackson, 1,000-pound Hereford steer; Paul Hodson, 1,050-pound Hereford; Gary Coleman, 1,160-pound steer; Timothy Wayment and Bruce Slater, each with a 1,000-pound steer, and Lencis Brough, with a 1,108-pound entry.

Their animals will be entered in junior department exhibit contests made up of fat stock raised by FFA and 4-H Club members.

ENTRY DEADLINE

Mr. Van Kampen reminded the youthful members that Nov. 1 is the final day for sending an entry notice for the beef carcass contest, a new educational feature restricted to FFA and 4-H Club steers.

The steers in this contest will be judged Nov. 9, and again as carcasses on Nov. 13. The carcass entries will be displayed in portable coolers.

Purpose of the event is to see how well judges pick out the best live steers, a selection that can be judged more accurately after carcasses are examined.

Other junior department entries were from Duane Lloyd, FFA, Vernon, a 1,000-pound steer; Lila Bean and Bruce Bean, 4-H'ers of Burley, Idaho, two steers; Alvin D. Richards, 4-H member, Henefer, two fat lambs; Gale Shellito, FFA member of Rapid City, S.D., two Hereford steers.

ENTER EWE SHOW

Additional exhibits for competition in the American and National Suffolk Ewe sale and show, one of the major events of the stock show, were received from Jack and David Larson, Spanish Fork.

The Suffolk sales national event is expected to attract Suffolk sheep individuals and organizations from coast to coast, Mr. Van Kampen said.

Other top attractions of the show, which run across two Sundays this year, include complete Quarter Horse and Appaloosa Horse show, a three-performance Miniature Rodeo, and seven auctions of regional and national importance.

'Faces West' Shows $1,754 Profit in '61

All Faces West tallied a $1,754 profit over estimated budget costs from its July 21-22-23 shows this year, Gordon Beinap, president of the board of directors said today.

Total receipts totaled $17,754. The estimated budget set early in the year was $16,000.

The profit figure makes this year's performance the most profitable in the show's history. Prior shows operated in the red.

Ticket sales accounted for $17,103.55; concessions, $69.68; program sales, $558.50 and miscellaneous items added another $23.14.

In 1960 the show's budget was $19,000 and wound up its run with a deficit of nearly $5,000.

Members of the board of directors will meet Thursday to hear a full report on this year's show and to discuss the future of the show which has run in Ogden for 11 years.

Forest Service Plans Warehouse

Bids will be opened at the Intermountain Region headquarters here Nov. 6 for the construction of a 30 by 120-foot concrete warehouse on a recently acquired site in Logan, R. E. Crowell, supervisor, Cache National Forest, has announced.

Invitations for bids have been sent contractors and are available together with plans and specifications at the forest supervisor's office in the Logan postoffice.
