Censorship, Executive Sessions Opposed as 2-Day Session Ends

BOISE (AP) — Newspaper executives in Idaho, Utah and Spokane, Wash., have expressed strong objection to closed meetings of public boards and commissions and the withholding of information by government agencies.

Members of the Associated Press adopted two resolutions on freedom of information at their annual two-day membership meeting concluded here over the weekend.

NEW CAR TAGS WILL REFLECT WHITE FIGURES

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's automobile license plates next year will be printed with reflectorized numerals, a member of the State Tax Commission announced Saturday.

Arias G. Belnap, tax commissioner in charge of the motor vehicle department, said Utah will join 11 other states and the District of Columbia in issuing the "safety" plates which reflect automobile headlights after dark.

He said about one-half million of the new plates will go on sale the day after next year's. They will have a dark blue background with reflective white figures.

The decision to make the reflective type numerals the standard issue was made after Utah conducted an experimental program with 10,000 such plates issued in 1960.

Milk Sales Dip in U.S., Up in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Sale of milk was up in the Great Basin marketing area during the first four months of 1962 although milk sales nationally took a drop.

John B. Rosebury, federal market administrator, said basin milk sales were up 4.25 per cent from the similar period of 1961. The Great Basin marketing area includes Utah north of Beaver except Cache and Rich counties, plus northwest Nevada and Evanston, Wyo.

Rosebury pegged basin milk sales at 86,997,762 pounds during the first four months of 1962. Nationally there was a drop of 2.5 per cent during the period.

Rosebury said per capita consumption of milk in Utah actually appears to be increasing because gain in milk sales during the past seven months doubled the population increase.

Welby W. Young, Heber, president of the American Dairy Association of Utah, said factors helpful in the increased milk sales included promotion and the high quality of Utah milk. He noted federal surveys repeatedly have given dairy farms in Utah an honor roll rating.

RUN TO ROOMS GIRLS, IF YOU HEAR 2 ALARMS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — No practice drills are planned, but from now on coeds at the University of Louisville should know exactly what to do if the fire alarm sounds two blasts.

Mrs. Doris N. Stokes, dean of women, issued this printed card to all female students:

"Subject: Future pantie raids.

"In case of any future pantie raids, the firm alarm will be sounded twice, and each girl is to:

- "1. Go immediately to her room.
- "2. Turn out her lights.
- "3. Close the blinds.
- "4. Lock the door.
- "5. Absolutely no yelling or talking out the window."

Mrs. Stokes said a raid by some male members last week netted them only one pair of unmentionables, but substantial damage was done to dormitory windows.

Many Mishaps In Clearfield Bring Warning

CLEARFIELD — Police and firemen today issued warnings to children and motorists alike to be careful.

Chief A. G. Padgett and officer Herbert Mottishaw said there have been a number of minor automobile accidents recently.

Chief Padgett said, "School is out now and motorists should realize there will be many children on the streets. Watch for them and also observe stop signs."

The officers also urged children to use caution when riding their bicycles.

"There are still kindergarten classes at all three elementary schools," Chief Padgett said. "The children are going to and from school at 8 and 11 a.m. and at 11:30 and 2:30 p.m."

Fire department officials warned children against playing around irrigation ditches, which are running full.

Deadline Nears On Car Stickers

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Highway Patrol estimated today there are 100,000 motorists in the state without 1962 inspection stickers.

River Trip Gives Clyde Look at Historic Sites

PAGE, Ariz. (AP) — Govs. George D. Clyde of Utah and Paul Fannin of Arizona planned to wind up their float down the Colorado River today. They looked at many spots which will not be visible after the river backs up from Glen Canyon Dam next year.

The governors were with a group of advisers on tourist, recreation and industrial development and left Saturday on the 150-mile trip through the river's colorful sandstone canyons to Page. They started at Hite in Utah and planned to finish today at Kane Creek, just above the Arizona border, today.

NO PASSAGE POSSIBLE
No passage is possible now around the site of the Glen Canyon Dam. Next year the river will start backing up to form Lake Powell which will eventually be 186 miles long and provide a spectacular new recreational area.

But many of the old historic sites will be covered over by the lake, places where miners panned the river for gold and spots where the prehistoric Moki Tribe lived.

Sunday the boating party tied up near Aztec Creek about 40 miles north of the Arizona border. Helicopters planned to fly the group to Rainbow Bridge National Monument for a look-see today, then back to the boats and the finishing float to the Kane Creek landing where a car cavalcade planned to pick them up and take them to Page as guests of the Chamber of Commerce tonight.

But many of the old historic sites will be covered over by the lake, places where miners panned the river for gold and spots where the prehistoric Moki Tribe lived.

He has served on the Student Council, as president of his Seminary class, is a member of the Ski Club and the Swimming Club and has maintained a 3.4 average this year.

Next year the scholarship will be given to a member of the Clearfield High School, as the scholarship has been set up for some deserving student of Clearfield City, said Elmo Hodson, fire chief.
