County Commission Tables Library Request to Use Fund for Supplies

A request by the Weber County Library Board for County Commission to appropriate funds for equipment, materials and supplies from bond money has been tabled. Commissioners tabled the request to give Commissioner Boyd K. Storey an opportunity to confer with the library board regarding how much of the bond money remains—if any—and whether it can be used for this purpose. The library board asked for $10,550, of which $6,550 would be for books and $1,000 for equipment. MONEY LIMITED Commissioners said that supplies may not be purchased with money from the $1.5 million bond issue, which was approved by voters to acquire, improve and equip a public library. Commission Chairman Albert L. Bott recommended that Commissioner Storey, who is a member of the library board, inquire further. County Attorney D. Jay Wilson suggested that Commissioner Storey find out if all the bond

Security Agent Sees Armed Man

Fred Oates of 1333 32nd, a Burns security agent, told police that while on route patrol this morning he saw a man carrying a sidearm and rifle prowling near a store in the 1100 block of Patterson. He said he drove around the block and saw the man jump a fence at the rear of the Mount Ogden Medical Center. Mr. Oates said he fired a warning shot into the air, but the man kept going and disappeared. Police searched the area for over 30 minutes but found nobody wearing or carrying a firearm.

money has been used and if not, if the funds remaining can be used for the purposes requested. Commissioner Storey agreed that the suggestion had merit and stated he would acquire a statement showing how the bond money was spent, how much of it is remaining and how the remainder may be expended.

TWO APPOINTMENTS

In other business, the commission approved the appointment of C. DeMont Judd, Jr., and Gordon L. Belnap to the county welfare board for full six-year terms. Chairman Bott pointed out that both men had finished out unexpired terms and that they had done "an outstanding job." Both men will serve until March, 1975.

EASE PRICE PRESSURE?

Area Could Yield More Timber

Some 80 million additional board-feet of timber could be sold out of Intermountain Region forests to help ease the pressure of rising lumber prices. Although this is only a small amount of the total, it will contribute to the over-all needs of this area, according to David Fordyce, chief of sales administration and valuation for the Intermountain Region of the U.S. Forest Service.

EXPANDING CUTS
His statement was made in reference to President Richard Nixon's announced plans of expanding cuts in national forests by 910 million board-feet over the next 15 months.

President Nixon also announced plans to increase cutting on other federal timberlands by about 200 million board-feet. He said this timber will probably be cut from forests in Southern Idaho and Northeastern Utah and will mostly be lodgepole pine.

"We will accomplish two ends this way," he said. "First, we'll dispose of a lot of wood infested with bark beetles and contribute to the increased cut at the same time." The 80 million board-feet will be above the planned cut for the Intermountain Region of about 660 million board-feet. INCREASE IN CUT

Mr. Fordyce emphasized that the total figure, both locally and nationally, does not represent an increase in the annual allowable cut, the amount which can be harvested from national forests on a continuing annual basis. Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin has said that most of the total increase will come from Western national forests and the bulk of the timber will be from thinning and salvaging lumber. He said thinning of trees will allow other trees in a tract to grow better because of less competition, and the salvage of timber will be that which has been damaged by insects, disease, fire or other disasters.

Appeal Made to Keep Trash Out of Streets

"The Ogden City Police Department intends to keep Ogden City clean, not just of crime, but of trash and debris as well," according to Chief of Police LeRoy A. Jacobsen. The chief pointed out that on March 21 Rulon Sorensen, director of public works, requested all citizens to refrain from placing loose debris and trash in the gutters. With the oncoming rainy season, Mr. Sorensen said, such trash will plug storm drains, besides becoming blown and scattered about the streets. "We find that many citizens are not complying with this request at present," Chief Jacobsen said. "In order to keep our city clean, so that we can be proud of it when visitors and vacationers visit, we are once again, appealing to the citizens to give us help," the chief added. "If people see violations being committed in this regard, we are requesting that they call our police department so corrective measures can be taken."

BECOME SCATTERED

"If they do not do this, the wind or youngsters playing may cause it to become scattered over their own yards by morning," the chief cautioned. "All police units in the field have been advised to be on the lookout for violators who place trash in the street. They will issue citations, as necessary, for the purpose of keeping our city clean," the chief concluded.

Pleasant View Seeks Sewer Project Action

PLEASANT VIEW—This Northern Weber County community has petitioned county commissioner for inclusion in the Weber Central Sewer Improvement District. The petition is part of a $750,000 project being proposed to solve serious sewage problems. The sewer district will serve the proposed system with trunk lines and its sewage treatment plant.

They also expect approval of federal loans and grants that will meet the major share of the project cost. If the petition is approved, it will mean a tax boost for residents. The community is plagued by septic tank problems and sewage in open waste ditches in various areas. Officials feel future residential and commercial development depends on improved and adequate sewage handling and treatment.

PUBLIC HEARING

Officials here are planning a public hearing and bond issue to help finance the comprehensive project.
