

(c) crown copyright

Ms. 1385. Naty 11094.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written on aged, slightly stained paper and is mostly illegible due to fading and the quality of the scan. It appears to be a formal communication, possibly a petition or a report, given the use of words like 'vostre' and 'seigneur'.