

SLATE SET FOR UTAH PRIMARY ELECTION ON SEPTEMBER 9

Below is given a list of each party's choices for the state and national offices at stake in the primary and general election on Nov. 4. Also given are the judicial district and county candidates. In San Juan county only two contests for nomination must be decided at the county primary election — involving Republican and Democratic nominations for two-year County Commissioner.

In the list below only those candidates who have opposition must compete in the primary election Sept. 9. The candidates without opposition automatically become their party's nominee in the Nov. 4 election.
