

T. B. Group Elects Officers; Sets New Drive on Disease

Weber County Tuberculosis association at its semi-annual meeting Monday night elected a new slate of top officers and drew back its fist for a smash at the disease.

F. Ballinger is new president of the organization, which prosecutes a year-around war on tuberculosis with funds derived from the annual sale of Christmas seals. He succeeds Boyd E. Nelson, who was accorded a unanimous vote of thanks by the assembled directors.

Other Officers

First vice president is C. Lyle Palmer with Mrs. William J. Rackham, second vice president, Ruth T. Hilt and Mrs. Lee D. Turner retained their respective positions as secretary and treasurer. The board of directors was retained substantially the same as last year.

To—Contestants in Standard Electric's Old Appliance Roundup

HOLD ON TO YOUR TICKETS

Because of the many hundreds of contestants who entered our Old Appliance Contest it is taking more time than planned for the judges to examine each entry.

But, we are getting around as fast as we can. So . . . hold on to your ticket stubs; they're valuable. You may win a valuable small appliance door prize.

Winners of the new Westinghouse Refrigerator, the new Laundromat or the new Westinghouse Electric Range will be announced as soon as judges have examined every entry . . . and no sooner.

SO PLEASE HOLD ON A LITTLE WHILE LONGER—

Thanks for Your Patience

Graduates Present Emblem to Weber High

Built on the side of the Wasatch mountains, above Seventh street, Ogden, is this huge "W" being presented to Weber high school by the class of 1949. Many gallons of white paint and much energy were expended by boys of the senior class and Boys association in constructing the emblem.

Flames Will Be Seen Wednesday

When flames burst out of the mountainside Wednesday night during the Weber-Ogden high school baseball game, it will be the commemoration ceremony for the class of '49 at the huge Weber "W".

Boys of the senior class and other members of the Boys association of the school have been erecting the large letter, which is of stone, 112 feet high, 140 feet long and 13 feet thick. The letter is just beyond the end of Seventh street.

White paint is being used to make the emblem stand out, and at the lighting ceremony Wednesday night it will be outlined by red fuses.

In the bottom right pillar of the "W," its builders have cemented in a large granite stone with the legend, "Weber Warriors, 1949," and the Weber high school emblem.

Names of the members of the 1949 graduating class will be engraved on a copper sheet and buried in the ground beneath the granite piece. It is the hope of the senior class, which is giving the letter to the school, and the Boys association, which has helped with the work, that repainting of the letter will become an annual ritual.

Senior class officers are Kent Fuller, president; Marilyn Session, vice president, and LaRue Randall, secretary.

Boys association officers are Darwin Gale, president; Don Hales, vice president, and Carlyle Parker, secretary.

Harrisville to Be Site of Reunion

HARRISVILLE — Reunion of members of the Martin Henderson Harris and Louise Sargent families will be held Saturday, May 28, at four p. m. in the L.D.S. Harrisville ward hall.

Election of officers, a genealogical meeting, supper, program, games and dancing are planned. Each family is requested to bring a basket supper.

Kiwanians Hear Negro Officers

SOUTH OGDEN—Sheriff Mac M. Wade introduced two Negro officers to the South Ogden Kiwanis club at the weekly meeting Monday night.

These officers, Marshall (Doc) White, working with Ogden city, and Walter Epps, working with Weber county, discussed the problems of Weber county's 3,200 Negro citizens. Lack of adequate housing, crowded conditions, and a shortage of job opportunities have created a civic problem, they declared, adding that much is being done to alleviate this condition.

The two officers patrol the Negro areas and it was said have earned the respect and confidence of their people, which has resulted in much more efficient law enforcement.

Prior to the war, Ogden had only 30 Negro families, but, due to war conditions, a great influx was experienced, both by war workers and by service men. At present, there are 250 Negro property owners in Ogden. These people are active in several civic clubs, three churches and the Wall avenue Community center, all striving to make Ogden a better place in which to live, it was declared.

Naval Depot Has New Fiscal Head

CLEARFIELD — Lieut. George Edward Minor, native of Kansas City, Mo., reported this week for duty as officer in charge of fiscal department, Clearfield naval supply depot.

He succeeds Lieut. Y. O. Johnson, fiscal officer for the past 40 months, who is scheduled for transfer to Guam for duty with the Island Trading Co. for Micronesia.

Lieut. Minor, until recently, served aboard the U. S. S. Juneau—a light cruiser—as supply officer. He attended the University of Missouri and was commissioned as an ensign in the navy in November 1942.

Lieut. Johnson, veteran of 21 years of naval service, after witnessing the attack at Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, served in south and central Pacific naval areas attached to ship and base activities. He returned to the mainland in 1944.

Recognition Won By Ogden Artist

Farrell R. Collett, head of Weber college art department, who left last September on sabbatical leave to attend the Art Center school in California, is enjoying success in illustrating stories and doing other commercial work. For example, he submitted photographs of his fisherman and skunk drawings to Brown & Bigelow Co. of St. Paul and they asked for other black and white samples. His animal paintings—the mother bear's cubs, the cougars and deer—are being well received. Two of his circus drawings in two colors are featured in a story by Glen Perkins, "Jumbo Junior Learns to Remember," which appears in the August 14 "Little Learner's paper." Advance copies are being sent out by the David C. Cook Christian Weekly for Beginners, of Elgin, Ill.

PEARL: COME HOME

It was all my fault, Pearl. I admit I was surly and grumpy. No wonder that even the kids were scared of me. But everything's better now. I've found out that constipation caused by lack of bulk in my diet can be licked! Believe me, I advise others who suffer the same way to do what I did: just eat a bowlful of KLEGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. They say it's America's most famous laxative cereal—believe me, it sure gets my vote. Or make it up into muffins—they taste grand too . . . Come home, dear, and find a brand new man waiting for you. That's me—your ever-lovin' husband, JOE.

district supervisor of vocational rehabilitation in Ogden.

Among the speakers to lead in discussion of family life matters are Dr. Arlef S. Ballif, of Brigham Young university and Dr. George A. Pierson of the University of Utah. The problem of licensing marriage counselors will be among the subjects discussed.

Psychiatric social workers from the veterans administration, Utah State hospital, Catholic charities and other social service agencies will participate in the mental health sections.

Dr. Seiden D. Bacon of Yale will discuss alcoholism, and Dr. Heber R. Harper, federal security agency regional director, will come from Denver to speak to the general theme of the conference, "Conservation of Human Resources."
